STRONG EVIDENCE AGAINST KELLY

ACCUSED ALDERMAN FACES SERIOUS ALLEGATIONS.

In Two Cases in Which He Charged for a Large Number of Subpoenas and Oaths the Parties All Swore That No Hearing Whatever Took Place—Ball Piece That Contained Erasures Which the Commission Was Suspicious of—Details of the Evidence.

Another raft of evidence tending strongly to corroborate the charges against Alderman John P. Kelly, of the Eleventh ward, was brought out at the hearing in the impeachment proceedings before Commissioner J. W. Carpenter yesterday.

In the case of Maggie Dimmler against Maggie and William Coburn, the transcript showed costs charged for witnesses in addition to the parties to the case and for the administration of fourteen oaths. Mr. and Mrs. Coburn and the Dimmler woman, who are in the county jail, were brought down and put on the stand and all three testified that there had been no hearing in the case whatever.

Mrs. Coburn further testified that Alderman Kelly offered to settle the case for $42, $22 for his costs and $20 for the prosecutor, Maggie Dimmler. She said she never had any conversation with the alderman regarding settlement and later in her own testimony she stated positively that four of the witnesses in the subpoena named in her name were entirely unknown to her and had never been summoned in question died before the case ever came up.

SIMPSON ON THE STAND.

Warden W. T. Simpson, of the county jail, testified to having received Lou Russell on a commitment imprisoning her for thirty days in default of a fine of $25. Shortly after she was received, he found the fine by check and the Russell woman was released.

Deputy City Treasurer P. J. Ruane was next put on the stand and from him it was learned that neither the fine nor any of the moneys collected for fines by Alderman Kelly had been received by the city treasurer. He admitted on cross examination that no Alderman, excepting Alderman Miller, of the Eleventh ward, was credited with having turned in any fines to the city treasurer. It was possible, he said, that some alderman turned the fines into the mayor and that they were transmitted to the city treasurer in bulk as police fines. He did not know that this was the case, however.

Frank Carucci was called to state whether or not he had become bonded in two cases prosecuted by Pascoal Perretti against Joseph Niebe. He could not recall whether or not he was surety in these cases, but when the ball piece was shown him he identified the same alderman as being his Commissioner Carpenter had identified that there was an evident erasure on the ball piece and that the date was illegible.

THE MILLER CASE.

The transcript in the case of Samuel Miller against Mike Hemott charged costs for a hearing. Hemott swore that he waived a hearing and entered bail for $100. It was corroborated by the squire and the man who went Hemott's bail, George Weiskel.

There was a number of other minor cases in which allegations are made of extortion, fraud and other kinds of ball game and like, and in one case a witness, Frank Jay, testified that he gave the accused alderman's father $5 for going bail for Andrew Ronponchino, who had been committed by Alderman Kelly for some trivial offense.

HOTEL IMPROVEMENT.

Lackawanna Valley House Is to Be Thoroughly Repaired.

Extensive improvements are to be made at the Lackawanna Valley house. The plans include a change in the office location which will be established on the street floor, an elevator, a thorough renovation of the sleeping rooms, new plumbing, etc. There is to be no change in the proprietorship. Martin Flynn will continue to conduct the hotel. The building is owned by L. N. Kramer, of New York city; Joseph Levy, of Rice, Levy & Co., of this city; and Leon Levy, of Wilkes-Barre.

It is proposed to charge the Lackawanna avenue front of the building so that the store entrances will be on a level with the sidewalk. The office is to be moved from the second to the street floor, the main entrance to it moved at the present entrance on Franklin avenue. There will be a commodious lobby in the office. The bar will occupy part of the space now devoted to billiard room purposes. The billiard room is to be made smaller.

The elevator shaft will be where the stairs are now. Heating and sample rooms and parlors will be located on the second floor. It is proposed to refinish and decorate the dining room and all the sleeping rooms and hallways and to put in a new system of plumbing.

It has been incorrectly reported that the structure was to be rebuilt on a style of elegance, although it is true that the interior is to be thoroughly overhauled and renovated. It is estimated that the improvements will cost about $15,000.

SHANTY WAS HIS ABODE.

Associated Charities Comes to the Aid of a Homeless Boy.

Johanne McDonnell, an orphan, 13 years old, was taken into custody Saturday night by the Associated Charities agent. For several months the boy has been sleeping in a shanty on the South Side, and for his bed he had a heap of filthy rags. He was the only child and his parents are dead, his mother passing away about a year ago.

St. Vincent de Paul society clothed the boy in a nice suit for Sunday, and to add to his comfort he was well fed. Yesterday morning he was sent to St. John's Protestant school at Buffalo, where he will remain in two years.

PARENTS WERE EXONERATED.

No Intentional Negligence in the Whimlau Case.

The coroner's jury in the case of the little Whimlau girl, who was burned to death while locked in a room at her home on Larch street, Friday morning, met Monday night and returned a verdict to the effect that death was due to accident.

The parents, it will be remembered, looked their two little children in a room while they went out on a neighboring dump to pick coal. The father, last night, explained to the jury that this was done with a view of keeping them from harm. There was no fire in the room and no matches were kept there. How the child procured the match with which she ignited her clothing is a mystery to the parents.

The jury was satisfied from the story and manner of the father that there was no intentional negligence in the sad case.

ELKS LODGE OF SORROW.

Modjeska May Be Secured to Take Part in It.

The Scranton lodge of Elks has already begun to arrange for its annual lodge of sorrow, a public service in memory of deceased members. Following the custom of past years the service will be in the Lyceum theater.

The first Sunday in the month so fixed by a law of the order, will be the date. On that evening similar services will be held by every Elk lodge in existence.

Madame Modjeska is booked to play in Scranton next week or early in the week of Dec. 5, and if it can be arranged she will be secured to recite or deliver an address at the lodge of sorrow service. This feature is so indefinite, however, that the memorial committee do not announce it with any degree of certainty. The memorial address will be delivered by Alderman W. S. Miller, a leading member and one of the most active members of the lodge. John T. Watkins will have charge of the music, which will be more elaborate than ever before.

Following are the names of the memorial committee: T. J. Jennings, chairman; Joseph Levy, W. J. Weichel, John T. Watkins, Alex. Dunn, Jr., D. J. Reedy, F. C. Hand and W. S. Miller.

A MUCH TRIED CASE.

Came Up for a Hearing in Common Pleas Court Before Judge Edwards Yesterday—Some of the Other Cases.

The complicated and much-tried Bittenbender-Biesecker case came up before Judge Edwards in common pleas court yesterday. It is a suit on a note for $25, given to Catherine Bittenbender, of this city, by Catherine Biesecker and her son, Irwin, of Moscow, and William Koch, who signed it as a surety. The Bieseckers defaulted in payment and now Mrs. Bittenbender is suing Koch to recover.

The local courts opened the judgment as to Koch and the Superior court affirmed this finding. Koch defends on the ground that he received no consideration for signing, and that he was assured by Mrs. Bittenbender before he signed the note that she would not hold him liable. He says that Mrs. Bittenbender agreed to enter the note against the Bieseckers and keep it revived against their real estate. She failed to do this latter and when the judgment was rendered she was "left in the lurch" and Mrs. Bittenbender's claim out in the cold.

Mrs. Bittenbender admits that she agreed to follow the Bieseckers' first, but left it to Koch, at his own suggestion, to look after the revival of the judgment. George D. Taylor represents the plaintiff, and E. C. Newcomb and O'Brien & Kelly the defendant.

A case of trespass under the exemption laws is being tried before Judge Gunster. John Copper is the plaintiff and Drake & Stewart the defendants. Copper rented a store from the defendants and was sold out for $28. He says now that he claimed the benefit of the exemption law, but that they ignored his notice and sold his furniture, valued at $200.

The defense is that no mention was made of the exemption law and further that Copper turned over a large amount of his property to a third party when the seizure was about to be made. This would estop him, it is claimed, from having recourse to the exemption laws. Judge Stanton represents the plaintiff, and ex-Judge Knapp the defendants.

A verdict in favor of the plaintiff, was entered by agreement in the case of James Rooney against Grover & Hornbaker.

A compulsory non-suit was granted by Judge Gunster in the case of John Pressman against Dickson city borough. The suit was for damages to his property caused by an overflow of water which was due, he alleged, to the failure of the borough to supply proper means of carrying off the surface water. The evidence of the plaintiff used showed that the flooding occurred during an unusually heavy storm. George M. Watson attorney for the defense, argued that no negligence on the part of the borough had been shown and asked for a non-suit. Judge Gunster adopted his views and granted the motion. Pressman was offered $400 to settle the case, some time ago, but refused.

In the case of H. A. Depuy against J. D. Compton, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the full amount of his claim. He sued on a $100 judgment note.

The case of H. S. Worden against Mary Connel was given to the jury by Judge Purdy in the afternoon. No verdict had been reached at adjournment.

CITY ENGINEER WILL REFUSE.

To Permit Work on South Side Sewer After Dec. 1.

Following City Engineer Phillips' action on Monday in condemning a large quantity of material which it was proposed to use in the South Side district sewer contract work it was announced yesterday, almost positively, that the contractor would not be permitted to begin work until next spring. A clause in the specifications provides that on or after Dec. 1 the city engi-

ELEVEN FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL WON DEFEATED TEAM FROM SCHOOL OF LACKAWANNA.

About 600 Persons Watched the Contest Which Was Interesting and Spirited—The Score Was 6-0. Minds, of the High School, Made a Brilliant Run of Twenty-Five Yards Around the Lackawanna End—Manner in Which the Players Lined Up for the Fray.

Once more the valiant foot ball eleven of the School of Lackawanna went down before the merciless onslaught of the team from the Scranton High school. Thus with a score of 6-0, the Scranton High school team vanquished the Lackawannans in a hard fought game at Athletic park yesterday afternoon.

About 600 persons witnessed the game, the supporters of the two teams being about evenly divided. Back and forth from the side lines, where the crowd had gathered, uttering ignoring grand stand and bleachers, huzzas, songs and school cries were hurled across the field. The sky was overcast, but the crowd was not deterred. The players did not mind, no more did the spectators, and the game went on.

Throughout the game the ball was seen saved from one side of the center to the other. Fierce rushes for short gains by either side and then when danger was nigh a punt would relieve the strain and change the place of battle. Two twenty-minute halves were played, but "time out" for argument, hurt player, etc., kept the game going from 3:45 to 5:15 o'clock. Two frequently dull play slacks up, and both teams seemed inclined to dilly-dally.

Three teams were bought from Frank L. Cobb for $1,500 and a single horse from the Consumers' Ice company for $175. One of the teams is for Columbia company, one for Chamberlain company and one for J. H. Hook and Ladder company. Extensive changes from the present assignment of fire department horses were ordered in the following letter addressed to Chief Hickey:

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 22, 1898.
Chief of the Fire Department.
Dear Sir: The fire department committee instructs you to make the following changes: Transfer Columbia team to General Philney steamer; transfer steamer team to hose carriage; transfer Hose and Ladder to Noy Aug to drive with "Lady P" until the same can be matched; also sell Cumberland horse to Mr. Hook as per his proposition.
Edward F. Wenzel,
Chairman of Fire Committee.

SEVEN NEW HORSES BOUGHT.

They Are to Be Used in the Scranton Fire Department.

Seven horses for use in the fire department were purchased by the joint fire department committee of councils yesterday afternoon.

The horses were bought from Frank L. Cobb for $1,500 and a single horse from the Consumers' Ice company for $175. One of the teams is for Columbia company, one for Chamberlain company and one for J. H. Hook and Ladder company. Extensive changes from the present assignment of fire department horses were ordered in the following letter addressed to Chief Hickey:

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 22, 1898.
Chief of the Fire Department.
Dear Sir: The fire department committee instructs you to make the following changes: Transfer Columbia team to General Philney steamer; transfer steamer team to hose carriage; transfer Hose and Ladder to Noy Aug to drive with "Lady P" until the same can be matched; also sell Cumberland horse to Mr. Hook as per his proposition.
Edward F. Wenzel,
Chairman of Fire Committee.

The committee authorized certain repairs and improvements to the Hook and Ladder truck and ordered the main entrance widened in order to permit easier exit for the new horses-hitch.

It was decided to attend in a body tonight's opening of the new Chamberlain hose house on West Market street.

No reply was received to the committee's telegram to the Holloway company asking when the new chemical and combination hose and chemical apparatus would be received.

EVANGELISTIC MISSION WORK.

Considered at a Meeting Held in Colonel Boies' Office.

The committee on evangelistic mission work in the valley met in Colonel H. M. Boies' office Monday afternoon and transacted routine business. Among those present were: Colonel Boies, Rev. Dr. Logan, Dr. McLeod, Reves, Von Krug, Gibbons and others. The reports submitted by Dr. Logan were interesting and encouraging. Particularly so was the account of progress in the vicinity of Olyphant, where, since the establishing of missions and the free kindergarten, 130 pupils have been received.

Of these pupils five have already entered the public schools. Eight different languages are spoken, while mothers' meetings and night schools for adults have been a feature. At Peckville Mr. Kokol and his wife have in some respects done some remarkable work. Mr. Kokol speaks eight or more languages. At Lackawanna the mission among the Italians has been attended with phenomenal success.

Among the plans approved by the committee was that of asking for an increased appropriation from synodical sustentation.

MISSION DONATION DAYS.

Worthy Institution That Should Receive Support.

The Florence Mission is doing a noble work in this region and should receive the hearty support of the people charitably inclined, not only from this city, but from the surrounding country. Yesterday was fixed for receiving donations and the privilege of contributing is also continued today. No one should regret to send a gift, even though it must be a small remembrance, to aid in this great charity.

The unfortunate inmates come from both this city and the adjacent towns and villages and much is needed for the winter supply. The store-rooms and cellars at the home on Harrison avenue should be well filled before this evening.

THE SYMPHONY CONCERT.

First of the Season Will Be Given Next Monday.

The large audience that witnessed the last Symphony orchestra concert was delighted both by the selections and the performance. The first Symphony orchestra concert of this season will take place next Monday evening at the Lyceum, and the public is assured that this concert will be fully as popular as the last was. Mr. Evan Williams will be here for the first time in his career, and the host of his admirers promise to give him a rousing reception.

near may order operations abandoned until warm and open weather of next year.

The announcement that a resumption of work will not be permitted is not wholly due to inferior pipe. It appears that the quantity of material on the ground is not sufficient to warrant the beginning of work such a large contract at this time of the year. It would involve too much annoyance to property owners along the sewer route who would have just cause in complaining of excavations, litter and unduly prolonged operations.

It was learned yesterday the condemned pipe was not iron pipe; the material was terra cotta.
