IT WAS A GOOD STORY.

Would Have Been Much Better if It Was Only So.

Ignatz Rosmozvitch, whose arrest for complicity in the killing of Brakeman Richard Howell and the other Duryea outrages, furnished the Tri-bune with one of the most widely coped of its exclusive stories of late furnished another good story yesterday which was quite as good a story as the first in every respect except that it wasn't so.

The story in question told of how Rosmozvitch suspected his celi-mate Anthony Boschinski, of being a stoolpigeon and with a huge knife-described in detail in the afternoon papersmade a murderous assault on the suspeet who was rescued only in" the nick of time" by one of the keepers.

One of the afternoon papers thought there was an ichthyoite redolence about the story and after failing to secure a verification of the tale added at the end of the story: "The story above is given on information received from the county detective.

MEARS & HAGEN, Lackawanna Ave. The authorities at the jail say there is positively not the slighest grain of truth in the story. For fear something of the kind might have happened without their knowledge the" runner' of the corridor in which Rosmozvitch is kept was asked about it. He said there wasn't the slighest disturbance in or about Rosmozvitch's cell any time during the day or in fact at any time since he was brought in. What possibly might have given rise to the story was the removal of Boschinsky from the cell which he occupied in company with Rosmozvitch. The reason of his removal was that he furnished ball and secured his liberty He was arrested on the charge of stealing a coat in Archbaid.

Duty Performed by President Judge

The number of names placed in the wheel was 1,650, the same as this year. This number was just sufficient to supply the juries for 1898. At the last jury drawing the panel was made up principally from the jurymen who had been drawn previously and excused. When it ompleted there were only half a dozen names remaining.

Left on the Doorstep of the Restdence of Julius Boyer, of North Irving Avenue-Child was Well Clothed.

A baby boy about one year old was Irving avenue, near Mulberry street. The infant was neatly and warmly dressed. Nothing about its clothing could be found which would give any due to its paremage.

Mr. Boyer is the window dresser for the Globe Warehouse. Mrs. Boyer had put their three children to bed and State league, and was very successwas seated for a quiet evening's read- ful. ing with her husband when they heard the plaintive cry of a child.

As their youngest child is but eighcen months old, they thought the cry was from one of the trio which the mother had left sleeping upstairs. Mr Boyer went toward the hallway and heard the cry repeated. The cry came rom outside the house. He raised a curtain and saw a wriggling bundle on the door mat.

The bundle was brought inside and was found to contain as lively and sweet a looking specimen of boy babyhood as any parent could ask for. It ceased crying as soon as the wrappings were removed. The baby has bluegray eyes and light-colored hair. Other characteristics indicated it might be of German parentage. Whoever abandoned the babe cerainly was careful in guarding against the cold air. It wore warm white elderdown trimmed coat, hood, veil. of articles quite necessary to a child's case with rounded ends,

Mr. Bover summoned a number of eighbors and it was decided to notify the police and this was done at once. Pobe sheltered for the night. The Associated Charities agent will assume charge of the youngster today. It was decided to place the infant in the care of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Boland, who are neighbors of the Boyers and reside at No. 416, until the authorities ake possession of it. The only evidence bearing upon the hild's abandonment was that offered y Theobold Grambs, who resides at No. 420. He came home soon after clock and saw a man leaving the Boyer's gate. As the child was found about 7.30 o'clock it is not impossible that the man left it on the porch.

As far as the baby's appearance is concerned there was no good reason for deserting it. It is pretty and apparently has been well fed and in the best of health.

The entrance is finished in mahogany and nickel and at night is illumined by scores of incandescent lamps and a profusion of arc lights. The floor space is tiled, and the ceiling is steel bag relief, the colors of both harmonizing with the adjacent wood and metal work. The total window frontige is one hundred and twenty feet.

Every foot of the interior of the store is new excepting the ceiling and that has been repainted. The shelves, ounters, show cases and desks are of polished chestnut and oak. The chandeliers of brass and the davits for the swing shelves of nickel are new and of extremely pretty design. The stair case at the rear connecting the millinery and cloak department with the dressmaking and upholstering departments on the second floor, has been modernized and made one of the most picturesque features of the store. At the rear of the first floor is a gallery for dress fitting. Last evening it was occupied by Bauer's band of twentysix pieces, which discoursed its best music for the entertainment of the thousands who crowded the store and

NEAR AT HAND WINTER SEA SHORE RESORTS.

Direct Lines via Philadelphia and Reading Route.

Some few years ago whenever winter health resorts were mentioned, every one's mind turned at once to places in the southern states, but that idea is now obsolete. Atlantic City, well known as the greatest of summer seashore resorts has for some years been steadily increasing its winter population and now claims to be the ideal all-the-year resort. Its position on the southern Jersey coast, with its magnificent board walk, nearly facing the south, consequently receiving the full benefit of the sun; the balmy, saline air wafted from the Gulf stream, heated by a tropical sun; its fine "open-all the-year-around" hotels, heated throughout with steam and with commedious sun parlors, protected from the outside air, but exposed to the sun Crockery, Glassware, Lamps, Grorays; hot, sea water baths, etc., can not fail to make good its claim. Cape May, one of the oldest, and, befo' the wah" the great fashionable resort, has since the entrance of the opposition road, now a portion of the Philadelphia and Reading route, awakened from its long slumber and is rapidly forging to the front. With the advantage of being further south, upto-date hotels, equipped with all the latest approved appliances of steam and electricity, and additional railroad transportation, it bids fair to ere long rival its sister city as a winter resort. Both above cities are on the Atlantic City railroad, the Southern New Jersey portion of the Phliadelphia and Reading route, and have frequent, trains to and from Chestnut and South street ferries, Philadelphia. "Lakewood in the Pines," the welltarium, is too well known to need description. It is located on the New Jersey Southern branch of the Central R. R., of N. J., which, connecting at Winslow Junction with the Atlantic City railroad, forms a short and quick route to and from Philadelphia and points in interior Pennsylvania. Through Pullman Parlor Cars during Tickets are sold and baggage check
