Florence Taylor. Sunday was a grand day in the Methodist Episcopal church. The meeting at 9 o'clock for Christian workers, vas well attended and a deep spiritual feeling was manifest. At 10.26 Rev. S. C. Simpkins received several in the church on probation, after which Rev. Melville Calender, of Pittsburg, Pa., preached a very impressive and instructive sermon on "A Closer Fellowship with God." The large congregation was delighted and hopes he may come again. In the evening Rev. S. C. Simpkins preached, taking for his text. "Wilt Thou Be Made Whole." The house was filled and scores of people were visibly effected by the pressure brought to bear upon them o turn from their evil ways. Some yielded to the invitation. The work has been thorough and its luftuence is felt all over the community. Rev. W. L. Thorne preached last evening, and men and women were persuaded to begin a new life. The work will continue all this week and the public is cordially invited. John Berry is confined to his Lome by

CARBONDALE.

TAX ON STREET CAR RECEIPTS.

Three and One-half Per Cent. on Gross Receipts Proposed by Ordinance. Both branches of council met last evening. The commoners did nothing but pay some bills and discuss froze fire hydrants, to which attention was called in yesterday's Tribune. selectmen did more. They ordered some bitts paid, concurred in a couple of unimportant resolutions from the lower house, instructed the city clerk to get prices on a bell for the city building's tower and then received a startling ordinance, which was introduced by James Thompson, of the Sixth war. It provides for a tax of three and one half per cent, on the Traction company's gross receipts in the city. There'll be a loud time when this comes up for first reading.

The bell spoken of it to be for fire services, though it is not clear who will ring it or how it is to be made serviceable. The old court house bell, the peculiar tone of which will be called to mind by many, lies in the cellar rusting.

The commoners in discussing the frozen hydrant at Maxwell's pointed out the fact that a resolution was adopted instructing the engineer to notify the water company to change that hydrant, in accordance with an ordinance passed some time ago. The solicitor said it is the mayor's business to look after the enforcement of ordinances and that resolutions such as that are superfluous

ENVELOPES UP AND DOWN.

As the Government Reduces 30 Per Cent. the Trust Adds That Much. It is a remarkable fact which many business men will be interested in knowing, that while the envelope trust -a combination of all the prominent manufacturers-has been putting their prices on their product of nearly 30 per cent, the postal department was educing it more than that amount. After the first of the year, at which time a new government contract will go into effect, 500 stamped envelopes, which now cost $10.90, can be bought at the local post office for $10,60. An ordinary, unstamped envelope, which could have been purchased at any wholesale house a month ago for $1.60 a thousand, now cost $1.89.
