NORTH SCRANTON.

What seems like a miracle occurred at the Marvine shaft Monday, David Thomas and a door boy started down on the carriage and had got below the Diamond vein when the man at the head shoved a car over into the shaft. The car stopped with lightning like rapidity and struck the top of the carriage, smashing the car into splinters and breaking the guards on the carriage. Thomas hearing the hissing of the falling car spread out his arms and tried to protect the boy. By special Providence, it seems, they were not hurt in the least

LAST MOTHERS'S MEETING.

Today public school No. 19's doors will be closed for the remainder of the year 1898. Yesterday afternoon the last of the series of "mother's meetings" which have been held in the different rooms at intervals during this fall session, was conducted in the room in charge of Miss Norma Nichols. Miss Nicholls had issued special invitations and some member of the family of each pupil was present. The afternoon passed rapidly in the enjoyment of a short programme which the children carried out under the direction of their teacher. The exercises were opened with a 'hristmas song by the school, followng which Master John Zimmer delivered an able address of welcome. Recl-tations were given by the Misses Eloise Cole, Gladys Holley, Florence Moran, Elsie Deyoe, Esther Clark, Elizabeth Evans, George Stevens, Elizabeth M. Harris, Cora Summerhill, Sadie Ferber, Gertrude Morgan, Ethel Griffiths, Edith Carr and Rachel Peck, and Master William Murton. The subjects were all appropriate to the approach of the holidays and each pupil acquit-ted herself and himself with credit. Songs by the school in chorus were interspersed throughout the programme

LOWRY-HANNON NUPTIALS.

Miss Grace Lowry, of Taylor, was united in marriage to Patrick J. Han-non, of Bernice, Pa., Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Diebl, of 1004 Hampton street. Rev. James Benninger, pastor of the Hampton Street Methodist church, officiated. Only the immediate relatives and a few out-oftown guests were present at the ceremony. The parlor in which the ceremony was performed was decorated with palms and overgreen. The bride, attired in a becoming gown of nile green serge, with white satin trimmings, was attended by Miss Eva Musselman, of Ransom, Pa., as bridesmaid. The latter wore a handsome gown of dark blue. Both ladies carried roses. Miss Rachel Gangwer, of Taylor, played the wedding march. Edgar Mussleman, of Ransom, Pa., was groomsman. After a reception a sumptuous wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Hannon will enjoy a short wedding tour and upon their return will reside at Ransom, where he is employed as station agent by the Lehigh Valley railroad. Those who attended from out of town were Miss-Ella Lowry, of New York city, and W. and S. L. Stanton, of Edella, Pa.
