THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1898.

Emma Calve, the wonderful prima donna, whose success in "Carmen" will be remembered for a generation to come, in speaking of the Washburn in-struments, says: "I have never, in all my travels, found any-thing that seemed to me as near perfection in the way of a man-dolin as the Washburn." This is high praise indeed, but the Washburn deserves it, as you will asree if you test one of the new lyss Washburn instruments that we have recently received. Director Terppe Have Been Mentioned.

Discussion as to the successor of Fred L. Terppe to fill the vacancy on the poor board, made by his resignation, has been revived greatly the past few days, and a large number of knowing ones give various opinions as to the probable appointee. A man who is on the inside of the situation in a conversation with a Tribune man yesterday, stated he had assurances that the next poor director will be chosen either from the Twelfth or Nineteenth wards. The gentleman is positive that a selection will not be made from either of the other two wards of South Scranton. No good reason is offered why the

was prominently mentioned for the honor, but he said to the reporter that he could not be paid to accept the Ex-School Controller W. G. offic O'Malley and Joseph Hannick, of the Twentleth ward, were, too, mentioned for the post. They also, according to the statement of the gentleman referred to, are not to be considered. The informant of The Tribune man stated that James Manley, ex-select councilman of the Twelfth ward. Philip Robinson, or S. S. Soruks, of the Nineteenth ward, will be chosen for the di-

Magnificent Reception When They Arrived There Tuesday Afternoon.

Charles W. Fetherolf, formerly of The Tribune city staff, returned to Binghamton Tuesday from Honolulu, last, where he went with Company H, of Binghamton. Mr. Fetherolf left the Parlor City with the regiment last April and has been with it ever since. In the Binghamton Herald he thus describes the homeward trip: "Company H, together with companies K, of Poughkeepsie, and M, of Kingston, left Honolulu in the United States troopship Scandia on Dec. 10. The Scandia was purchased from the Hamburg American Steamship company at the beginning of the war. She was converted into a troopship with accommodations for 1,600 officers and

men. "The trip to San Francisco was not marked by any noteworthy incident and life on the big ship was monotonous indeed. The coast off Golden Gat was reached on the night of the 17th. So dense was the fog for miles out from the gate that the Scandia's captain was unable to make the bay Shortly after noon on the following day after backing and turning and going ahead the ship was finally put on the right course. Soon traces of smoke, scarcely perceptible through the fog, told of passing steamboats. Then a full-rigged ship hove in view. Others ly disappeared again. APPROACH OF PILOT BOAT.

"Then a pilot boat, a great figure 11 on its sails bore down upon the Scandia. As the pilot reached the bridge the ship again dashed ahead at her customary speed. Twilight settled on the bay as the Scandia anchored for the night, not far from the Presidio. As darkness succeeded twilight the lights of the western metropolis lent the view an enchanting charm. Like a thousand stars they glittered.

"Next morning a busy scene sented itself. Saucy tugs puffed up aside the Scandia and slick, wellgroomed revenue officers, health officers and harbor officials boarded her A government boat from the Presidie took off Privates Hungerford and Jennison, of Company H. and three others who had been taken down with typhoid fever on the ship when a couple of days out from Honolulu. They were transferred to the Post hospital at the Presidio and will soon be well enough

"The inspection of the customs officers was annoying as all returning travelers can testify. There was, however, a disposition on the part of the officers to treat the soldiers very liber ally. A few pieces of silks and som
