

The Great Calve's Opinion

Emma Calve, the wonderful prima donna, whose success in "Carmen" will be remembered for a generation to come, in speaking of the Washburn instruments, said: "I have never, in all my travels, found anything that seemed to me as near perfection in the way of a mandolin as the Washburn." This is high praise indeed, but the Washburn deserves it, as you will agree if you test one of the new 188 Washburn instruments that we have recently received. We are sole agents for these instruments. Come and examine them.

TWO PLAYERS SIGNED.

Hodson Will Pitch and O'Neil Will Catch for Scranton Next Season—Other Players as Good as Signed.

George S. Hodson, pitcher, and John O'Neil, catcher, two former players on Scranton clubs, have been signed by Manager Swift to play on the team now being organized to represent this city in the Eastern league.

Aside from being a drawing card, it is believed Hodson will prove to be more valuable than the average pitcher of the league. O'Neil has had experience, but has not been thoroughly tried out in fast company. He has given promise, however, of having the bottom requisite for future greatness in his line.

Hodson was one of the winning pitchers for Scranton in the state league in 1897. He was secured from Baltimore by Manager Swift. Previously, he had pitched for Alabama. He signed with Boston for 1897, but was released to Providence and played with that team in 1897 and a part of last year. When the sign was made with Scranton by the eastern league to make a cut in salaries Hodson would not submit to it. He refused to sign with Providence, but accepted an engagement without contract to finish the season with the club which won the New York league pennant.

John O'Neil is a Minnesota boy. He sprung from the "back lot" class of players, for which Uncle Anson was always on the hunt. O'Neil caught Hartford and was signed by Manager Sandy Griffin to play with Scranton for 1897. While giving great promise, it was considered that he was not sufficiently seasoned and was farmed to Portland. He was then loaned to Rochester and finished the 1897 season there, though still under a Scranton contract. At his own request he was released by Griffin at the close of the season and played last year with Cambridge.

Manager Swift said last night that he had all but closed with seven players. As he expressed it: "I have them sure as a manager could have them without their signature." Swift spoke hopefully of his ability to gather together a good lot of men and expressed the opinion that he could begin the season with as good a grasp on the championship as would any of the other clubs. He has made a wide circle of friends among managers and players from coast to coast and will let the secret of a proposed major league be known as they see fit.

As Swift himself is not an expert in management, the cracks can console themselves with the probability that the season will open auspiciously for Scranton.

For obvious reasons Mr. Swift, Harvey Long and City Controller E. I. Robinson, the men most prominently concerned in the early arrangements, refrain from naming the players in sight and say they would rather not discuss the grounds and other things in prospect. The local organization has not been permanently made as yet, but will be consummated in a few days. When that comes about the plan will be more definitely outlined and more interesting facts can be published.

FUNERAL OF JOSEPH H. PRYOR

Remains Taken to Stroudsburg for Interment.

The funeral of the late Joseph H. Pryor, father of Sheriff C. E. Pryor, took place yesterday morning. Short services were held at the residence, 829 Monroe avenue, by Rev. C. M. Giffin, D. D., of the Elm Park church, after which the remains were taken on the 10 o'clock Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train to Stroudsburg for interment.

The pall-bearers were three grandsons of the deceased, George B. Pryor, James Pryor and Edward Pryor, and Captain G. E. Thompson. The funeral was private.

LITTLE POSSIBILITY.

It has also been stated that there is little possibility of artificially making up the price of anthracite to consumers to the high level of former years, in view of the other fuels which have come into prominence. One might take this statement as authoritative, for even within the past week officials of a prominent company have stated that unless there is a big change in the weather, there is very little likelihood of a further advance in prices, as was contemplated after the first of the year.

The bituminous output in the United States is now equal to 115,000,000 net tons a year, and it is perhaps not surprising that this fact is pushing aside anthracite in many places, on that its possibilities for foreign shipment are great. The average price at the mines is put at $1 cents for the year 1897, but this includes many states where a local trade is secured at a price much above one dollar per ton.

COAL TRADE FOR YEAR IS REVIEWED

ANTHRACITE HELD ITS OWN IN POINT OF TONNAGE.

Allotment of the Companies for the Year and the Tonnage That Was Shipped—During the First Six Months of the Year There Was Unanimity Upon the Point of Keeping Production Within the Demand—Bituminous Output of the United States.

The current number of the Coal Trade Journal has the following review of the coal trade for the year 1898: During the past year the anthracite output has held its own in point of tonnage, through the strenuous efforts of certain of the controlling interests, even in disregard of the effect which the tonnage produced may have had upon the price obtained for the commodity. At one time during the year it seemed that there would be a very much less tonnage shipped than was the case in the year preceding. This would have had such an undesirable effect upon the financial value of the properties that a change from a restrictive to an unlimited output policy was adopted.

MONTHLY TONNAGE.

All the producers kept at about their proportionate pace on the matter of tonnage, and this was about as during 1897, when the shipments were as follows:

Companies.	Allotment.	Shipments.
Phil. & Reading	20,500	20,100
Lack. & West.	15,000	15,400
N. J. Central	11,700	11,300
Pennsylvania R. R.	11,400	11,400
Delaware & Hudson	5,000	5,200
Erie	4,000	4,000
Del. Susq. & Schuylkill	1,900	1,900
N. Y. Susq. & West.	1,200	1,300
N. Y. Ont. & West.	1,100	1,100
Total	80,000	79,900

In regard to the monthly tonnage it will be seen from the schedule given that there was in the early months of the year a disposition to hold down, adopting the same policy in this direction which obtained during the year 1897, only to let out in the latter months. Statistics on this subject are as below:

Month.	1897.	1898.
January	2,841,125	2,875,000
February	2,748,774	2,722,000
March	2,546,988	2,599,000
April	2,752,159	2,728,750
May	2,724,225	2,809,000
June	2,929,073	2,923,000
July	3,075,128	3,270,000
August	4,086,774	4,284,000
September	4,072,726	4,269,710
October	5,129,805	4,765,785
November	4,729,389	4,531,317
December	3,722,262	4,090,000
Total	41,667,891	42,254,741

September, in the past year, was the record-making month in the matter of tonnage. In many respects the course of trade was similar to that of 1897—so much so that retailers and consumers felt that they were again deceived into buying, with no protection given to the market by properly holding back the tonnage. It was considered that the market was not sufficiently covered by the trade that there would be a market for 3,000,000 tons of fresh mined coal during 1898; this with the quantity carried over from the preceding year would be sufficient to meet the requirements of the markets and enable the producers to secure a profitable return on their investment.

PRODUCTION KEPT DOWN.

In the first six months there was unanimity upon the important point of keeping the product within the demand, but after that time there was the usual repetition of cutting loose on the tonnage. Having put business in a position where prices are good, it is found that the conservative element in the trade that there would be a market for 3,000,000 tons of fresh mined coal during 1898; this with the quantity carried over from the preceding year would be sufficient to meet the requirements of the markets and enable the producers to secure a profitable return on their investment.

More Unwarranted Expense in Election Contest.

The examiners, stenographers and attorneys in the election contest got together again yesterday to examine a single witness.

The witness was John Barrett, of the Second district of the Seventh ward. He was brought in on an attachment, but, as in nearly every previous instance, he showed evidence of his arrest and extra costs which follow if he is unwarranted, having answered the subpoena on the day directed.

MARRIED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Miss Kate Thornton and William Moran Wedded There.

Miss Kate Thornton, of West Market street, and William Moran, of San Francisco, a former resident of the North End, were married at St. Mary's cathedral at San Francisco, by Rev. Father Hannigan, Wednesday.

Mr. Moran went to California a few years ago, and from there to South Africa. Upon his return to San Francisco he went into business, Mr. and Mrs. Moran will reside in this city.

INDUSTRIAL JOTTINGS.

F. B. Morris, for many years shipping agent for the Lehigh Valley Railroad company at Perth Amboy, died this week at his residence in New York city. He was 82 years old and was well known to railroads all along the Valley road.

The report that E. W. Kellow, of this city, has resigned the position of roadmaster of the Delaware and Hudson railroad is incorrect. Owing to Mr. Kellow's illness he has been given an assistant in the person of M. J. Nugent, of Oneonta.

There is a report that Bamford Brothers, of Wilkes-Barre, and John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, are about to form a combination for the purpose of controlling the markets of raw silk, thrown silk and ribbons. The Bamfords are the largest manufacturers of ribbons in the world, with monster mills at Paterson and Belvidere, in New Jersey; Cheltenham and Wilkes-Barre, in Pennsylvania; and in North Carolina. The Bamfords a few days ago announced that they propose hereafter to deal in silk, raw and thrown, and will have offices in New York city for the purpose.

BACHELORS' BALL OCCURS TONIGHT

MUCH WORK ACCOMPLISHED AT THE LYCEUM YESTERDAY.

Floor Was Erected and Much of the Decorative Work Pushed Forward. Linoleum Has Been Spread Beneath the Crash Dancing Surface—Dancing Will Begin Soon After Nine O'clock—Only the Penn Avenue Entrance Will Be Used on This Occasion.

Tonight will occur the Bachelors' ball. The big annual social event in Scranton—in fact, the most distinctive affair of the kind in this part of the state. All of yesterday the committee was busily occupied in seeing that the details of the arrangements, long ago made, were being carried out and a small army of men were hard at work transforming the interior of the Lyceum theater into a grand ball hall.

Out of a total of sixteen boxes to be used, all but four have been specially constructed. Of these temporary boxes there will be four on each side of the stage and four back of the railing which separates the seats in the orchestra circle from the dancing floor. Of the regular boxes, only the lower two on each side of the house have been reserved. One of these is for the patronesses.

LINOLEUM USED.

As in previous years, entrance to order to make the dancing floor firm and even. Heavy linoleum of double width, the whole weighing 3,000 pounds, has been laid and over this the crash will be stretched. Men were specially employed to strengthen the woodwork which supports the floor above the seats. It is now as solid as hammers and nails can make it. When it is figured that the linoleum was purchased outright and cost in the neighborhood of $1.50 per double yard, the expense incurred may be appreciated.

The decorations by the florist were well under way last night and will be finished early this afternoon. The draperies, bric-a-brac, etc., were not brought into the theater yesterday, but the woodwork necessary to their display and arrangement was put in place or provided, and this part of the decorating will be performed during today.

As in previous years, entrance to the theater will not be possible from the Wyoming avenue side. The entrance will be on Penn avenue. A canopy will be stretched from the street curb to the door. All the coming and going of carriages will be in charge of a competent man already selected. Duplicate checks will be used.

DANCING TO BEGIN EARLY.

Dancing will commence so soon after 9 o'clock as is warranted by the crowd, probably not later than 9:15 o'clock. The string, brass and other arrangements will be much the same as last year. The band and orchestra, which will play the intermission and dance music, respectively, will occupy positions at the extreme ends of the balcony. It has been determined that the music from the upper part of the balcony is heard better by the dancers, though the same comment does not apply to the many spectators who sit in the circle below.

A column light will be placed in the gallery and used to intensify the beauty and color of the scene.

PRIESTS' NEW STATIONS.

Several changes recently made among Catholic Clergy.

A number of changes of station among the Catholic priests of the Scranton diocese have recently been made. Rev. Joseph J. McCabe, who was at Avoca, and Rev. Walter A. Crane, goes to the South Side to take the place made vacant by Rev. J. A. Moffitt's transfer to the new parish at Taylor. Rev. Thomas E. Carmody, who was recently at Minooka, fills the vacancy at Avoca, and Rev. Walter A. Gorman, who was curate at Ashley, succeeded some time ago to Rev. Father Carmody's place at Minooka. Rev. Father Hurst, who was at Lovellton, became curate at Ashley.

Several other changes are in contemplation. Bishop Hobart will soon give up the rectorship of St. Leo's at Ashley and come to Scranton to permanently reside. This will call for the appointment of a new rector there and that will probably cause a change of other transfers. The parish at Jopis is to be given a pastor and someone or two priests will be located in a new parish to be erected in the Twelfth ward portion of the South Side.

The vacancy at Tawania, which will follow Rev. Dr. Kelly's return to the Jesuit order, is not likely to occur for some time yet, as there is considerable parish work now under way which Rev. Dr. Kelly would like to see finished before leaving.

MASKED BURGLARS AGAIN.

Entered the Store of the Enterprise Coal Company.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock Wednesday morning the Anthracite store, owned by the Enterprise Coal company, at Excelsior, Schuylkill county, was broken into by a gang of burglars and robbers of money and goods to the value of nearly $1,000.

An entrance was effected through a window. William Home and Harry Swisher are employed as watchmen, but they were not awakened until their apartments were broken into and five men, who wore black handkerchiefs over their faces as masks, stood over them, threatening their lives at the points of revolvers if they made any noise.

The burglars then bound and gagged the watchmen, after which they proceeded to loot the store. They drilled holes in the safe, blew it open with an explosive and took from it about $300 in cash. They selected a large amount of the most valuable goods of money and goods to the value of nearly $1,000.

The Enterprise Coal company is composed of Scrantonians and ex-Mayor Connel of this city, is general manager. During a severe wind storm a few weeks ago the breaker of the company was blown down.
