

The Great Calve's Opinion

Emm Calve, the wonderful prima donna, whose success in "Carmen" will be remembered for a generation to come, in speaking of the Washburn instruments, says: "I have never in all my travels, found anything that seemed to me to have perfection in the way of a mandolin in the Washburns. This is high praise indeed, but the Washburn deserves it, as you will agree if you test one of the new 188 Washburn instruments that we have recently received. We are sole agents for these instruments. Come and examine. Rough Riders is just out. It's a fine two step.

DOWN BELOW ZERO.
Weather Man Gets in His Fine Work During Yesterday.

The prediction of the government's weather manufacturer was fulfilled. The cold wave appeared on schedule time and was just as severe as Uncle Sam's official prognosticator said it would be.

Scrantonians who shivered and shook under so small a degree of cold as below zero at midnight last night can thank their stars they were not on the Pocono. There the thermometer registered 8 degrees below zero at 1 o'clock this morning and the mercury showed no signs of fatigue. Up in the Waverly region, at the same hour, the weather or king was two degrees stronger and crowded the record down to 20 degrees below the cipher point.

The only redeeming feature of this condition when The Tribune went to press this morning was the entire absence of wind. There was absolutely none of it. In consequence the Scranton Railway company and the steam railroads had prospects of an "open" day. There were oceans of loose snow lying around, but it was destined to lay harmless where it fell.

KELLER RELEASED ON BAIL
Case Presented to Judge Green, of the Supreme Court, by Attorney John F. Scragg, Saturday, at Easton.

Joseph Keller, recently sentenced to five years and six months in the penitentiary for shooting Peter Myers in Dumore on July 1, was yesterday released from jail on $10,000 bail, pending the Supreme court's answer to his request for a new trial. On Dec. 23 a new trial was refused by Judge Edwards, but he granted a writ of error for taking the case to the Supreme court.

Attorney John F. Scragg, leading counsel for Keller, went to Easton on Saturday and presented the records in the case to Justice Green. The latter granted a stay of proceedings. It is stated he was chiefly influenced by the refusal of the lower court to compel the district attorney to call Special Officer Long to the stand. The latter was an eye-witness to the shooting. His testimony would have been favorable to Keller.

Attorney Scragg returned to Scranton late Saturday afternoon. About three hours were consumed in bringing Judge Archbald, Assistant District Attorney Thomas and Clerk of the Courts Danlos together. Little time was then required for the formalities. Schenck, Alfred Harvey, the silk manufacturer; M. T. Keller and Theodore Keller, father of the prisoner, qualified as bondsmen in the sum of $10,000.

Keller was then released from custody by order of the court until the Supreme court meets in February. He will be at liberty until the Supreme court gives a decision adverse to him, and may possibly never be confined again for the killing of Myers.

ISAAC LEVY'S BODY.
Was Not Recovered Up to an Early Hour This Morning.

The search for the body of Isaac Levy, who was supposed to have committed suicide in the river at Wilkes-Barre, was abandoned last evening. The work of the men employed by the relatives of Mr. Levy was so seriously hampered by the cold and the cakes of ice which floated beneath the frozen surface that the search had to be abandoned until warmer weather sets in.

Nothing new had been learned up to 1 o'clock this morning to warrant the belief that the mysterious suicide, was other than Isaac Levy. The description of the man seen to force himself beneath the surface tallies exactly with Isaac Levy, who has been missing since Friday.

An Associated Press dispatch received at The Tribune office early this morning says in corroboration of the foregoing:

Wilkes-Barre, Jan. 1.—Isaac Levy, a prominent citizen of Wilkes-Barre, has been missing from his home since Friday. It is now believed he was the man who lost his life by drowning in the Susquehanna river Friday evening. Divers have been at work trying to recover the body, but the cold weather brought these operations to a close tonight. It is feared the strong current has carried the body down the river and it may not be recovered until a thaw breaks up the ice.

MRS. M. J. MORAN INJURED.
Trolley Car That Let the Track Struck Her.

Mrs. M. J. Moran, of 212 Jackson street, was severely injured Saturday, a Washburn street car striking her. She was on the street in front of her home, getting meats from the family butcher.

Car 367, of the line noted, came along, central city bound, and jumped the track, crashing into the wagon and the woman. Mrs. Moran was thrown to the ground, and when picked up was unconscious. She sustained the fracture of four ribs, and was cut and bruised about her face and body. The wagon was demolished and the horse and driver killed. The cause of the accident is attributed to slippery rails.

MANVILLE BREAKER IDLE.
Closed Down While the Machinery Is Being Changed.

The Manville breaker, which is worked each alternate month by the Delaware and Hudson and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western companies, has again shut down for repairs.

The repairs in this instance will be the removing of the hoisting engines for the chain dunnop from the foot of the plane to the head of the dump. The work is being pushed rapidly and the breaker will resume operations next week. While shut down the substation will be raised so as to enable them to load house cars.

LAST COAL OVER THE GRAVITY.
D. & H. Coal Will Go Over E. & W. V. Road Today.

Saturday was the last day for shipping coal over the Delaware and Hudson's gravity road from Carbondale to Homestead and today the Delaware and Hudson will begin to ship coal over the Erie and Wyoming Valley railroad to Hawley where it will be transferred to the Erie road.

How long this arrangement will last is not known at this time, but must continue until the Delaware and Hudson can get in running on the steam road that is to take the place of the gravity road.

NEW YEAR TOPIC OF REV. DR. GIFFIN
HIS DISCOURSE WAS "IS LIFE WORTH LIVING."

Speaker Believes That Life Truly Is Worth Living—If We Believe in God We Must Believe That the Infinite Must Be Something Other Than the Infinite Can Be If He Has Made a Mistake in Placing Us Here to Work Out Our Destiny.

Rev. Dr. Giffin gave his New Year topic last night "Is Life Worth Living?" speaking from Jonah, 4:8. "It is better for me to die than to live." The sermon was one of beautiful optimism. This was the expression of a man who was out of humor, pouring out his disgust.

The speaker wished no one ever said it except in such a transient state of feeling. To many it is a permanent blunder and a bore from which they want to escape. A philosophy embodying this idea has been established and it is no wonder that suicide is so frequent an occurrence. Standing on the threshold of a new year, drawing forward in memory the pictures of the past, we will try to answer this question. The reply must be in the affirmative at once. If we believe in God we must believe that the infinite must be something other than the infinite can be if he has made a mistake in placing us here to work out our destiny. If God is God, the question is practically answered.

Each of us, however unimportant we may seem, occupies a relation toward a great system from which we may not escape. Somehow for the possession of man on this globe there is a tremendous contest between good and evil. Insignificant as the world may be, the spirits of light and darkness are warring a fearful warfare to control its inhabitants. More than all, if Christ thought it worth while to come to earth to redeem mankind, we should consider our lives worth something.

DEPENDS ON OURSELVES.

Whether life is worth living will depend on what we put in it. A man who is employed in fitting his life with evil habits, unwholesome desires, intemperance and deformities can expect nothing but what that he should be puzzled at the problem.

The moment a man gives himself to the control of right, he has no more to fear. He is free to choose his own life. It is worth while to be good. It is only the man who sits on the ash-heap of his destroyed excellence, who debates the question as to existence.

There are many materialists in the world. The fooler whose ideal of delight is pleasure, drawing his life never thinks of anything except addition; when it comes to subtraction he becomes suspicious about existence. The place hunter Hobson, who has received more business than has come to almost any man, had only one change, that was important in changing the map of the world. If we had to depend on one chance for fame or for enduring place we would have a small hope. The idea of being seen or heard in order to exist in the world is a vain desire should be rooted out of our hearts.

Life is worth living if the heart of a true man is put into it. The epitaph in the old London church-yard should be taught to everyone:

"A I was, so he lay,
As I am, ye shall be.

What I gained that I had,
What I gave that I have.

Thus I count all my cost,
What I had that I lost."

What a man gives of himself is really what he saves. Every life is a romance and some late Shakespeare should be able to gather up and immortalize the annals of the humblest hours.

WHAT GOETHE SAID.

In conclusion, the speaker said impressively that no man should leave the world without leaving an impression to make life so noble that it may have been worth living. Goethe said: "I purpose to live in the hope of being forgotten." Victor Hugo said one day: "Life is conscience." These are true thoughts. Our habit is too frequently that of discounting ourselves, doubting our fellows, suspecting God and then we doubt the worth of life. But the chief reason why life is worth living is because it lasts beyond the grave, through the ages of eternity, and that life before us must be determined by the one spent here.

THE VON STORCH SHUT DOWN
Structure Is to Be Raised and Remodelled.

Some weeks ago the Delaware and Hudson Canal company posted a notice at the Von Storch breaker notifying the men that the breaker would be shut down on the last of December, to enable them to raise and remodel the structure. Some changes necessary for the loading of gondolas and house cars. For the past month lumber has been hauled and there is now over 200,000 feet of lumber on the ground.

The breaker shut down Saturday and a large number of men were put on to store away belts ready for the removal of some of the machinery necessary for the raising of the structure. While this work is being done a large force of men will work on the wash-burn street breaker, which is expected to be ready to operate by the first of April.

Climate of Cape Colony.

From Good Words.

The climate of Cape Colony and indeed of South Africa may be compared to that of the south of Europe and the north of Africa, with snow on the highlands and subtropical belts on the low-lying parts, as in Natal, Zululand and Mashonaland. It may be roughly said that any part of South Africa is better for those suffering from chest complaint than is the climate of our home country, at the most trying time of the year. But those who come to South Africa hoping to escape from this disease should not as general rule, come to the coast. The Cape peninsula is delightful for most people, but it is not by any means best for those who are constitutionally inclined to consumption. They must leave the coast, no matter how many inducements there may be for them to stay, and enter the tableland which faces them at whatever port they may land. At irregular distances from the sea we have probably nowhere more than a hundred miles of low-lying coast land before we ascend, once on the tableland so far as climate goes, it matters not in what direction health-seekers proceed the climate is equally good.

THE TUTOR.

From Life.

A tutor who taught the duke, tried to teach two young daughters to trout. Said the two to the tutor, "Is it harder to trout or to trout two trout to trout?"

MR. DICKSON SPOKE IN FIRST CHURCH
A LARGE CONGREGATION LISTENED TO HIS DISCOURSE.

He Took for His Text the Words, "Son, Be of Good Cheer"—It Is Only Our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, Who in View of All It Involves Can to All His Followers Say, "Be of Good Cheer."—Christ Has Opened a Way for Us to Resist Sin.

A good-sized congregation gathered in the First Presbyterian church last evening and listened to Spencer C. Dickson, son of A. W. Dickson, of this city, who occupied the pulpit. Dr. McLeod, though ill, was present and assisted in the service.

Mr. Dickson delivered an earnest and scholarly address, containing much practical thought. He spoke from Matthew, 19:2: "Son, be of good cheer." Mr. Dickson said, in part:

Such an exhortation as the text before us affords we cannot imagine as having ever been uttered either in Heaven, or on this earth prior to the day of mankind. Where perfect happiness exists as the result of perfect living, such an exhortation would either be unnecessary or thought of. But when sin entered the world it brought with it as its legacy to mankind, trouble and sorrow, and in the service of those evils, men and women have remained ever since. Our whole creation groans and travaileth in pain together until now, and waits for its redemption. And this being so, if the whole creation is to continue to groan and travail our lot, whether followers of Christ or not, is a most unhappy one, since without some assurance of salvation from sin and its effects, we will be without hope both in this world and the next.

AN UNUTTERED CRY.

There is an unuttered cry going up from hearts bowed down by oppression, physical and mental, which has reason for being glad once more because the directors will pay all the loss, then he brings a message which will revive and quicken his friend and give him cause for rejoicing. Now just so, if to men who are downhearted and discouraged because of sins and because of the nature of their struggle against them, we can bring arguments and proofs to show reason why they should be of good cheer, then we will be conferring a lasting favor on mankind.

It has been said that the history of the world clusters around two personalities, Adam and Christ. By the first, sin and all its woes entered the world; but by the second, life and immortality have come to light through the Gospel. In Adam we all die and lose every life, but in Christ all have made alive, and in Christ our every hope revolves for the present world and for the world to come.

As to any great length in presenting our hopes in Christ for the future would take much more time than can now be given. But I wish in closing to hold out to you three grand reasons for good cheer.

WHAT CHRIST HAS DONE.

In the first place, we should be of good cheer because Christ has made it possible for us to resist sin. He has made us sons of God, and as John says, "Whoever is born of God doth not commit sin," that is, the habitual sin is taken from him and he no longer sins from choice.

In the second place, we must be of good cheer because Christ's overcoming of the world has imputed in us a new hope which we call "faith." As John again says, "Whoever is born of God overcometh the world," and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

If we have this faith, nothing can move us or make us afraid. Faith to believe that Christ is our living and risen Savior and that He ever lives to provide for us (He is ever living for us—there are no more sublime or encouraging words than that).

Then third and last, Christ by overcoming the world has made it possible for us to live in the world and to die to death for us. We will not be forgotten in our graves through the countless ages of eternity, but will rise to live and reign with him in mansions prepared for those that love him. Here is the source of our greatest hope and happiness. Here is the goal toward which we are struggling and to which we hope to come. In that goal we will find that our labor has not been in vain in the Lord, but that what we there will only will have all the privation and bitterness, if that be our lot, in this world.

Now, in closing, let me ask a question. If I believe in Jesus Christ, and obedience to Him brings reasons for good cheer concerning the past, the present and the future, is there ground for misgiving in any believer's heart? Shall we not, on the contrary, rejoice in the Lord all our days? Let our faces show the joy which is in our hearts, and allow the peace and joy, which have become part of our very life, to work out before the eyes of the world, the peaceable fruits of righteousness.

HAS OPENED A WAY.

And I would ask those whose hearts are still out of Christ, if I have made it plain that Christ by his divine nature has opened a way by which your sins will be taken from you and promised to receive you as sons and daughters, is there any reason why you should not accept the gracious offer? If you offer your hearts and lives to the Savior he will accept them and give you a new heart and a new life. He will then implant hope in your heart. He may give you as your lot to pass through hard trials and tribulations, but the promise of future victory is also given, since he has endured all and overcome all in his own person once for you.

All this I have tried to make plain, and is there any reason for a refusal to accept such a wonderful offer? Think of it. You are now forgiven, and power abiding in your life giving hope for a victory over sin and death, and finally Heaven to crown it all. No mortal can offer such gifts, but make such promises. It is only our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, who in view of all it involves can to all his followers say: "Be of good cheer."

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN.

Parview lodge, Knights of Pythias, held a regular meeting last evening. The new officers chosen were: President, J. H. Jones; Vice-President, J. H. Jones; Secretary, J. H. Jones; Treasurer, J. H. Jones; Warden, J. H. Jones; Sub-Warden, J. H. Jones; Chaplain, J. H. Jones; Organist, J. H. Jones; Steward, J. H. Jones; and Deacons, J. H. Jones.

UP GOES THE PRICE OF COAL.

The price of all grades of coal will be increased 25 cents a ton today. That is the New Year's greeting of the managers of the coal-carrying railroads to the public.

The miners will fare worse than the consumers, as it is also ordered that work shall be done on only three days in each week, and that the output shall be restricted to smaller proportions than ever before.

The price of hard coal has been advanced in Chicago, Boston and Buffalo, but this is the first advance ordered in this city, or rather at tidewater in New York, as the members of the hard coal combination sell only to dealers, who, in turn, of course, must advance their prices. The new prices for coal will be: Stove, $2.75; nut, $2.50; chestnut, $2.75; egg, $2.50; grate, $2.25; buckwheat, $1.85 to $1.95; and pea $2 to $2.15. These prices are for anthracite coal, free on board, at tidewater here.—Yesterday's New York Press.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza. During the epidemic of influenza a few days ago when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or influenza to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for bad colds and influenza. Every bottle warranted. For sale by all druggists. Matthews Bros., wholesale and retail agents.
