In the Eleventh ward a great surprise was sprung yesterday, when John J. Schneider, of the firm Schneider plumbers, steam-fitters and Bros. hardware merchants, announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for select council to serve the unexpired term of the late Robert Robinson, Behind Mr. Schneider are a goodly number of the representative men of his party. He is looked upon as a strong man who can carry the strongly Democratic Eleventh. Mr. Schneider's standing as a business man, citizen and leader of men makes him a formidable candidate. For the nomination Mr. Schneider will be opposed by Philip Wirth, the present common councilman, whose successor will be chosen next month.

Henry Ziegler, jr., son of the wellknown hardware man, and Charles Rosar, a clerk in the city controller's office, are being boomed for the Democratic nomination. Mr. Ziegler is not a candidate, and Mr. Rosar has not made a statement regarding his being a candidate.

For common council the features have not changed since the recent political story in this column. The leaders of either parties have not up to last night decided on a date for the holding of the caucuses.

The vast concourse present at the obsequies silently attested the esteem entertained for her. At 9.30 o'clock the procession moved to St. Mary's church, where Rev. Peter Christ celebrated a high mass of requiem. He pronounced an eloquent and fitting eulogy, referring to the grand traits of the good life of the departed woman. Kaestner's condition is very critcal and his physician is in almost constant Inc attendance, with a professional nurse at his bedside. Dr. Webb stated to The Tribune man last night that it is probable that the developments of today and perhaps, tomorrow, will have to be awaited before the true condition can be determined. OF INTEREST TO FIREMEN.

I am employed as saleslady in one of the largest department stores. After being on my feet all day I am too tired to walk home, and get very little outdoor exercise. For the past year and a half I was troubled with a bad attack of dyspepsia and constipa-tion, caused, I suppose, by eating cold lunches. My blood was also out of order, for which I had the close atmosphere of the store where I worked to blame; in a word, I was "all run down." I used a number of blood remedies and regulators beside home remedies and prescriptions of our family physician, but none did me much good, and I felt so discouraged that life had little charm for me. About two months ago I was induced by a lady friend, who has a similar position to mine and had much the same trouble, to try RIPANS TABULES. I had but little faith in them at the start, but tried them on the principle of "catching at straws." Their action was so gentle and they did me so much good from the start that I was very much pleased and determined they did me so much good from the start that I was very much pleased and determined to give them a thorough trial. I started taking four Tabules a day—one after each meal and one at bedtime. I kept that up for three weeks and then took smaller doses—taking a half a Tabule after each meal and one upon going to bed. For the past two weeks I have taken three a day—one after dinner and supper and one at bedtime, and cannot remember the time when I felt better than I have during the past month, and I have RIPANS TABULES to thank for it. I can now eat a hearty meal and do not dread the after effects. I have recommended the Tabules to a number of my friends and am yet to hear of their not giving great satisfaction. It does seem that almost every one needs them occasionally. I always carry a carton of them in my pocket, and whenever any of the rls at the store, or in fact any friend, tells me that they feel out of sorts, I produce my RIPANS TABULES, and think I have made a great many friends for them, for once used by a person in need of something of the kind they are sure to be sought after again.

A new style packet containing THE BIFANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for mis at some drug stores - FOR FVE CEPTS. This low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (13 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty eight conists to the firman cartox. PART, No. 16 Sprone Skreet, New York - or a single carton (TEX TABULES) will be sent for five cents. Kirans Tabulas may also be had of grocers, general iterativenew, news agents and at higher shores and brier shops.

From the New York Sun.

Among other measures for attracting foreign visitors to the Paris exhibition of 1900, the French minister of public works is urging the great railroad companies of the country to provide them selves with a larger number of cars of the "corridor" or American style, and thus make traveling to the capital more comfortable. As American travelers abroad know, the cars mostly used on the French as on other European railroads are of the coach pattern, consist ing of several compartments, each holding from six to eight passengers, and each communicating with the others and with those of other cars only by an outside footboard. This arrangement puts a single passenger occupying the same compartment with a robber or an assassin beyond the reach of help. He cannot, as numerous robberies and murders prove, escape while the train is in motion, and the passengers in the adjoining compartments cannot get to him. No provision is made, either, for tollet and refreshment accommodations, except when the train halts and passengers can get out and use those of the stations. The defect has been par-tially remedied by the introduction for first-class passengers of cars resembling ours, and it is for the multiplication of these, for the use of all classes that the French minister is exerting himself.

The French railroad companies object to undertaking the improvement asked of them on the ground of its expense. A Paris newspaper has made inquiry of their officers with the following result: The Eastern Railroad company, which owns the line between Paris and Southern Germany, has already 120 of the required cars, and will have 164 more ready by 1900, but they are for first and second class passengers only. The first-class corridor car weighs nearly 17 tons, costs $6,000 and carries only 24 passengers, while an ordinary car weighs 12% tons, costs only $4,000 and carries 32 passengers. The representative of the Orleans company, which connects Paris with Spain, declared that what was demanded was impossible. The company had only 20 first-class cars with lavatories and communication between the compartments. To add to them would increase the company's debt and impair the value of its property. The Northern company, owning the routes to England, Belgium and Northern Germany, looks on the scheme as ruinous. The corridor cars cost $10,600, weigh over 25 tons and carry 42 passengers, making the transportation per passenger double that of the ordinary cars. The Lyons company, over whos lines passes the travel between France and Italy, is better provided with intercommunicating cars and will have about 600 of them by 1900, which it is supposed will be sufficient.

The Western company, which serves Havre, Cherbourg and Brest, has only 54 of the cars required, and will add to them, possibly, 20 more, but will examine into the subject.

It thus appears that the five principal railroad companies of France will have, for the accommodation of visitors to the Paris Exhibition of 1900, only a few hundred cars of a pattern which offers to any travellers the conveniences which all our American railroad companies provide for all their passengers without exception
