

EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

PAVE IS NEEDED ON WASHBURN STREET.

From the End of the Pave West the Street Is in a Deplorable Condition. Officers Who Are on Duty in This Part of the City—Meeting of the Republican League at the Rooms on South Main Avenue Tomorrow Night—Entertainment Tonight. Personal and Minor News Notes.

A much needed improvement on the West Side is the paving of Washburn street from Summer avenue to the cemetery. The slushy weather of the last couple of days has made it apparent that something in this respect should be done with this much traveled street. A number of the most prominent property holders have been agitating the paving of the thoroughfare and have regarded it as a much needed improvement. This street is in a more deplorable condition during the winter months than any other time of the year on account of the heavy travel.

It would be well for the councilmen of the Fifth ward to bring the matter before the council and have it discussed, as it is very important to the West Side in general.

OBITUARY.

Bernard McDermott, one of the best known residents of West Scranton, died at his home, 1523 Jackson street, Tuesday after a short illness. For a number of years he had been engaged in the hotel business, and prior to that was sexton of the Cathedral cemetery. He was a man who possessed many sterling qualities, and was highly respected and loved by those with whom he came in contact. His rugged honesty was one of his marked characteristics, and no man ever had business dealings with him asked anything more than Mr. McDermott's word. It was as substantial as his hand. Mr. McDermott is survived by a wife, who will take place Saturday morning from his late residence. A requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's church, and interment will be made in the Cathedral cemetery.

MRS. PACE WANTS A DIVORCE.

She Says Her Husband Was Cruel and Unkind.

Mrs. Myron Pace, of 1632 Dickson avenue, began proceedings yesterday to secure a divorce from William Pace, to whom she was married on July 7, 1895. The bill in this case was filed by Attorney Joseph F. Gilroy.

Mrs. Pace alleges that she was compelled to leave her husband owing to cruel and barbarous conduct. His unkind treatment began, Mrs. Pace says, soon after their marriage and became so intolerable in February, 1897, that she had to leave him.

Then he pleaded with her to return, promising to mend his ways and she did return but found little improvement in his conduct or manner, and on Dec. 4, 1898, she was again compelled to leave him. She now desires to have the marriage bond annulled.

GATHERED IN SOUTH SCRANTON

YOUNG MEN ARRESTED CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Death of Adam Fruechtel, an Old and Highly Respected Resident of This Part of the City—Condition of Jacob Kaestner and Dr. Kolb Remains Practically Unchanged. Firemen's Night at the Fair. Week of Prayer at Hickory Street Church.

A few evenings before Christmas, as was noted in The Tribune, John Nealis and James Wade, two well-known young men of the Nineteenth ward, were attacked by six men, on their way home, and beaten very badly. Nealis and Wade could not understand why they were thus used. They did not know of any action or utterances made by them that would cause any one to seek revenge.

Before Alderman Ruddy, Tuesday night, six young men, August Leising, August Sprenger, Mathias Smith, Fred Cottis, George Foster and Charles Craft, were arraigned, charged with the assault. Mr. Wade appeared as the prosecutor. He testified that on the night in question, Mr. Nealis and he were walking homeward, interested in conversation. Nearing Stone avenue, at Beech street, he alleged that the young men above noted approached them, and without any ceremony, beat them unmercifully. Their clothes were torn badly and they felt they should be recompensed for the clothing ruined. Each of the defendants were held in $300 bail for their appearance at court.

DEATH OF ADAM FRUECHTEL. Shortly before noon yesterday the bells in the bell tower of the Hickory Street Presbyterian church rang out in tones announcing that a member of that congregation had passed to the great beyond. It was the passing away, a few hours before, of Adam Fruechtel, of his residence, Willow street, who had been a member of the church since his childhood. He was a man of great worth and character. Undoubtedly there is not another man in South Scranton who was better or more avorably known than Mr. Fruechtel. For over thirty years he had been in the employ of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company. He had held many positions of trust, and by employer and employe he was deeply respected. For several years he had suffered with asthma and that disease, with grip, caused his death yesterday morning.

He was sixty years and six months of age, the major number of his days being spent here. He is survived by his wife and five children, who are: Mrs. Jacob Geller, Miss Margaret Fruechtel, Michael, Adam H. and John Fruechtel, all of this city. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon. Services will be held at the Hickory Street Presbyterian church, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Pleasant avenue cemetery.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

The conditions of Jacob Kaestner and Dr. Kolb last night were unchanged, though they were resting very easily. The physicians of the doctor are quite confident that his complete recovery is certain.

Dr. Webb, who is Mr. Kaestner's physician, has good hopes that his patient will survive. Today his condition will be dressed, the first since the accident. The anxiously awaited developments to demonstrate his internal condition are looked for today.

NUBS OF NEWS.

The prize for the company having the most members present in uniform was won by the William Connelly, who defeated the Century company by three men. The fire fighters were entertained in befitting manner.

The week of prayer services at the Hickory Street Presbyterian church last night were attended by an immense gathering. Rev. Philip Haendiges, of the Adams Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, filled the pulpit.

Max and Frank Schwelbentz, prominent young men of this side, will leave today for Newark, N. J., to reside.
