RECEPTION IN CATHEDRAL.

Holy Name Society. In St. Peter's cathedral last night sixty candidates were received into the Holy Name society. The reception was an inspiration to those who had the privilege of witnessing it. The society has a membership of 300 men, who sang a number of hymns last night in connection with the reception

The singing was led by Rev. J. A. O'Rellly, rector of the cathedral, who is spiritual director of the society. John Colligan played the violin and Aloy-sius Colligan presided at the organ. Father O'Reilly was assisted in recelving the candidates in the society by Rev. J. J. McCabe, of South Scranton; Rev. P. J. Gough and Rev. J. J. B. Feeley, of the cathedral. The sermon was by Rev. D. J. Bustin, of St. Mary's church, Wilkes-Barre. He took for his text the words "Our help is in the name of the Lord."

Father Bustin tried to enforce the esson that we must constantly lean on Christ. Without him we cannot receive a grace or merit eternal life. We are only sojourners here and it is for us to say whether our future abiding place will be heaven or hell. By a man's language it is easy to disern the direction he is travelling in. The speaker then made an appeal for greater reverence for the name of DeOro is looked upon as the only man now playing pool who can make Keogh play his best game. For years he was the undisputed champion, and only lost that title through a serious illness, which compelled him to forfeit the medal, by reason of his being unable to accept any challenges.

In the Syracuse tournament, DeOro lost his game to Clearwater, whom Keogh so easily defeated, and who has stated that he will waste no more money trying to wrest the championship from the Scranton boy. DeOro and Keogh have never met since Keogh developed into championship form, and as each is anxious to find out how he stands as compared to the other, the contest next week will be played as nard as if it was a championship game.

WEEK IN THE COURTS.

Court House Will Be a Busy Place Today, It Is Expected.

If things come off as per schedule, today will be a busy one in the court house. At 2 o'clock p. m. the Superior court will begin its second week's session to deal with cases from Lackawanna, Wayne, Pike and Susquehanna counties, and such cases as were continued from last week.

The John Gibbons habeas corpus case will come up for a hearing, and there will be a discussion, also, as to whether or not the contempt of court case will come up on certiorari for a review. The counsel for Mr. Gibbons contend that inasmuch as the appeal did not develop until within twenty days of the return day for the Scranton session of 1899, the case, under the rules, must go over until the following year. The opposing counsel will contend that the case was specially directed to come up at this term and regularly placed on the trial list for today. It is likely that a large number of opinions will be handed down at the pening of the session.

The second of the three weeks' January term of common pleas court will also begin today. Three court rooms will be in session. Judge Harmon Yerkes, of Bucks county, will assist the local judges in disposing of this week's list. The case of Gunster, assigned against B. H. Throop and others, and the case of Cornelius Smith and others against F. E. Loomis and Joseph Fellows, are among the important cases on the list.

DURYEA PRISONERS WERE DISCHARGED

THE CASE OF "IKE" SEIDMAN, ET. AL., FALLS FLAT.

District Attorney Martin Says the Testimony Would Not Warrant Him in Asking to Have the Ac-Alderman Donahoe Discharges Them-Seidman's New Testimony Again Fails to Come to the Surface-$5,000 Reward Withdrawn.

Upon the district attorney's own moion, John, Thomas and Mary Monaghan, Thomas Clark and David Wil-liams, whom Special Officer "Ike" Seidman charged with the Corcoran murder and robbery, were discharged by 'Squire Donahoe, of Wilkes-Barre, Saturday morning after three hearings had been held to give the accuser opportunity to make out prima facie cases

The two "new important" witnesses Peter Wisnoski and Mike Vanofski, for whom Seidman secured attachments Thursday night were not at hand when the adjourned hearing was resumed Saturday morning, Seidman and Special Officer Curtis swore they made diligent effort to locate them and Seldman further averred that Philip Swartz told him that J. Sommers, another of his alleged witnesses, had been spirited away by a Wilkes-Earre detective.

Mrs. McDonald, of Duryea, the third of the witnesses for whom attachments vere issued was present. Seidman had old District Attorney Martin that Mrs. McDonald would swear that she overheard the conversation between Mrs. Monaghan and her son, John, in which he mother answered the son's request for his breakfast with the remark that spent the night, all of which was intended to show that Monaghan was not home and in bed on the night of the murder as he alleged.

SAID IT WAS A LIE. Mrs. McDonald, however, swore to no such thing. She said that the statement that she had heard any such con-ersation was a lie. John J. Mangan, a Pittston storeeeper, whom Seidman and his confedcrates avowed would tell of admissions made to him by "Di" Williams also proved a disappointment when he was laced on the witness stand,

One week ago Saturday Williams came into his store and while discussing the murder inquired what would labor that those under their charge be done to a man who turned state's evidence against the murderers. The witness informed him that nothing at all would be done to the one who brook. The plaintiff's land on the west could go scot free.

Williams rejoined in a speculative way that the punishment at least vould not be severe. On the following morning Williams happened into the store again and the witness advised about. Because of a "dip" and the him that if he had a confession to make, to make it to some one who run underneath the brook it was figcould protect him. Williams replied with a laugh that he had no confession Jerome R. rict Atto ey Martin then addressed the alderm. saying he was satisfied he could not secure a conviction on the tified in even asking for a bill of indictment for a jury to pass upon.

To hold the prisoners longer, for the purpose of giving the commonwealth or they should be permitted to have the prosecutor opportunity to search right to maintain their pumps and other for testimony in regard to this tragedy, or fixings on the plaintiffs' premises he said, would be unwise and unjust and to enjoy other privileges, the denial and he would therefore ask that the of which would cause them great inorisoners be discharged.

his "less important associates," as Foxy Quiller would say, jumped up excitedly at this juncture and asked to be heard man Donahoe indicated that anything Mr. Martin might say could have no reight in the matter at hand.

"After the district attorney's statenent and request, I would be insane to ed. Then turning to the prisoners he "Boys and girls stand up; you are discharged."

The attorneys for the accused held a onsultation in Attorney John J. Shea's office after the hearing and decided to proceed against the accusers for false apprisonment and libel. ACTION WAS PREMATURE. District Attorney Martin, and about verybody else connected with the prosecution of the case aver that Seidman's action was premature and wholy unwarranted. He worked his way into the case, they say, and then when he got a few scraps of what he thought was evifence, caused the warrants to be sworn out in his own name, hoping to force the district attorney to assist him with whatever evidence he might have and thus, when the Monaghans and their alleged accomplices would be convicted, he would as prosecutor come in for the reward.

It is said they propose to engage a first class detective agency to take the case in hand.

Incidentally it might be noted that Seidman is not a detective and is in no way connected with any detective agency. He is simply a special officer.

It being Sunday there was, of course, no one within to be injured. A stone tie-post which the car struck and snapped in twain, helped retard its progress and prevented, possibly, nore serious damage to the hotel build-

The cause of the accident was a broken brake-rod. It gave way just after the car started to descend the long and steep Drinker street hill. The reversed power failed to check the car, and when it struck the curve at the corners it was going at such a high rate of speed that it jumped the track. After replacing the car it was found possible to take it to the barn under its own power.
