COMMON PLEAS COURT.

Manner in Which Cases Were Disposed of Before the Three Judges-Number of Cases Were Continued.

The second week of common pleas court began yesterday with Judge Edwards presiding in the main court coom, Judge Yerkes, of Bucks county, in No. 2, and Judge Archbald in the arbitration room.

Before Judge Edwards the first case alled was Daniel McTamney against the National Boring and Drilling company. Mr. McTamney claimed $366.10 for wages with interest due him by the defendant company. No appearance was made for the latter and a verdict for the full amount of the claim was directed.

Hunt and Connell sued A. M. Walkup to recover $815.20 for work done on the Federal building in this city. They were sub-contractors under Walkup He did not pay them and they sued to recover. Yesterday he did not appear to contest their claim and a verdict was returned in favor of Hunt and Connell for the full amount,

When court adjourned the suit of Ferdinand Muckley against Mrs. R. Sikofski was on trial before Judge Edwards. Mrs. Sikofski some time ago crected a house in South Scranton and Muckley did the work on it. He alleges there is a balance of $197 with interest due him. The defense is that Muckley's charges for the work he did are excessive.

Before Judge Yerkes in No. 2 the inerpleader of Matilda Frederic against F. M. Cobb was heard. Binding instructions were given by the court to find for the plaintiff.

When the case of D. B. Replogle against M. J. Norton, a feigned issue, was called, it was found that all the parties were not ready to go to trial and the case was continued.

The action of James Rooney against Alexander Turnbull, Jr., and James P. Dickson, executors of the estate of Alexander Turnbull, Sr., went to pieces after it had been on trial a short time before Judge Archbald. Turnbull owed $102 to Rooney on a note and be tried to get the money by attaching the portion of the Turnbull estate due his creditors. It was shown that the defendants share in the estate was paid to him several months before the attachment execution issued and thereupon the case came to an end. There than any two music houses in the was nothing for the plaintiff to recover. The following action was taken in other cases:

> Settled-J. H. McNuity against J. wages: Jacob Kossman against Taylor, wages: Jacob Kossman against Dr. H. B. Ware, appeal.
> Continued—E. J. Smith and others against F. E. Loomis and others, ejectment; Herbort McHall against city of Scranton, trespass; M. E. Worden and auxiliary rooms, the pantry, etc., against E. F. Marsh; James May against Delaware, Luckawanna and Western Railroad company, trespass; Edwin G. Hughes against A. J. Thomas and others, assumpsit; Continental Trust company against W. H. Winton, administrator, sci. fa.; Standard Life Accident Insurance company against R. Hitchcock, assumpsit; Mica Roofing company against Continental Trust company against W. H. Winton, administrator, sci. fa.; Standard Life Accident Insurance company against R. In the appeal of William Gill and others against Jacob Schaefer a nonsuit was taken under the provisions of the act of 1812.

TOOK A WATCH AND CHAIN Louis Einstein, a Newsboy. Arrested for the Offense.

Louis Einstein, a lad of 12 years, whose home is in the central city, was taken from his class at No. 36 school on Franklin avenue yesterday and araigned before Alderman Millar, Edward Softley, of 240 Penn avenue, charged the boy with theft. Softley testified that the boy has for many months delivered the Sunday papers at his residence.

When the papers were received last Sunday the lad was requested to wait and receive payment. While Mr. Softley went to his room Einstein took from a vest a gold watch and chain. The loss being discovered the newsboy was suspected. Detective Moir was notified and arrested the lad. At the hearing the watch and chain were returned and upon payment of costs Einctein was discharged.

DUTY IS TO CERTIFY WHO RE-PUBLICAN NOMINEES ARE.

The Convention Will Not Look Into the Legal Aspect of the Situation, but Will Return as Elected the Men Who Received the Greatest Number of Votes-Some Changes That It Is Proposed to Offer to the New Rules Governing Primaries. A Legal Opinion.

The return judges who served at last Saturday's Republican primaries will meet this afternoon in the rooms of the Central Republican club for the purpose of compiling the returns and deciding who the party nominees are. At 2 o'clock the meeting of the return judges will be called to order by C. E. Chittenden, chairman of the Republican city committee. Following is the order of business provided for this meeting in the Crawford county rules; Roll call, temporary organization, appointment of committees, report of committees, permanent organization, compiling returns.

It is highly probable that effort will made to make some changes in the rules before today's convention ad-As the rules stand now, a candidate has a right fifteen days before election to order as many "officini" ballots as he may see fit to pay for.
