HOSPITAL CORPS
MUST DRILL DAILY
RECENT ORDER WITH REFERENCE TO THE MATTER.

Major Fellows thinks this is the cleanest and most healthful camp in which the Thirtieth has ever been located—Memorial Services Sunday in Honor of the Members of the Thirtieth Who Have Died Since Being Mustered into the Volunteer Service.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Camp MacKenzie, Augusta, Ga., Jan. 25.—In accordance with the requirements of a recently-published order, the members of the hospital corps will have to drill for three-quarters of an hour every morning, and then receive theoretical instructions for the same length of time. The drills and the instructions will be given under the immediate supervision of Lieutenant Merriman, of the medical staff.

This order also requires that the members of the hospital corps have roll call every morning at reveille the same as the several other companies, welcomed as the wearers of the green stripes and chevrons have heretofore had several "winks" more in the morning than any of the other members of the regiment.

Major Fellows was the division officer of the day Saturday, and his report, which was submitted this morning, is highly satisfactory. He stated that, after a careful scrutiny, he found every one of the six regiments in excellent condition as regards the two great essentials of camp life—cleanliness and health. The streets and kitchens were scrupulously clean, the mess halls in good order, and the sanitary precautions most rigidly enforced in and around every hospital. Few patients were to be seen, though the hospitals are so conducted and equipped as to be able to meet any emergency.

Major Fellows thinks that this is undoubtedly the finest, cleanest, and most healthful camp the Thirtieth has ever been in, and this opinion is shared in by every member of the regiment.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Sunday morning unusually interesting services were held in the Young Men's Christian Association tent, Chaplain Stahl conducted memorial services for those members of the Thirtieth who have passed away since the regiment volunteered into the United States service. With this end in view, a special programme was prepared, and notice published to each company. The boys responded well, and at a quarter after ten when the assembly for divine services was soundly begun, the Young Men's Christian Association tent was filled to the door.

The platform on which the reverend speaker was seated, was tastefully decorated in accordance with the spirit of the occasion. In front was suspended a large flag, which was surmounted with crepe which hung in loops, and reminded those present of the friends and comrades whose names are now engraven on the muster roll which neither time, nor accident can destroy. Immediately behind the National colors and the insignia of mourning and death were appropriately placed several fresh Georgia pines whose green tops typified and bespoke the hope of a better life beyond the grave.

The services were begun by the rendition of one of Gounod's master pieces of sacred melody—"There's a Green Hill Far Away"—by the regimental band, Sergeant Miles playing the solo parts.

Captain Stahl then read the names of the departed soldiers, together with a notice of their ages, of the time of their enlistment, place and time of death, and place of burial. The reading of those records was listened to with profound respect and attention.

Following are the names that were read and specially remembered throughout entire services:

- ROLL OF THE DEAD.
Company A—Private Clarence P. Van Buskirk, age 22, died in the Fort Myer hospital, Washington, D. C., August 9th. Private Frederick J. Gay, age 21, year, 6 months, died in St. Joseph's hospital, Lancaster, Pa., September 10th. Private Frank E. Keith, age 25, died in First Division hospital, Camp Meade, Pa., October 22d.
Company B—Private Daniel Tubbs, died in the Medico-Chirurgical hospital, Philadelphia, August 29. Private James J. Dwyer, died at his home in Scranton, October 26th. Corporal Lewis M. Reese, died in St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, Pa., December 23d.
Company C—Private Alvin E. Evans, age 20, died in the First Division hospital, Camp Meade, Pa., September 6th, died in the city hospital, Lancaster, Pa., September 18th. Private Henry W. Roth, age 23, died in the city hospital, Pottsville, Pa., September 25th.
Company D—Private Walter G. Porter, age 19, died in the Fort Myer hospital, Washington, D. C., July 15th. Corporal John Edinger, age 21, died in the city hospital, Lebanon, Pa., October 16th.
Company E—Sergeant Kauley, age 20, died in the First Division hospital, Augusta, Ga., December 9th.
Company F—Private Sylvester Deitrick, age 21, died in the Medico-Chirurgical hospital, Philadelphia, August 30th.
Company G—Private A. W. Stockholm, age 22, died in the Fort Myer hospital, Washington, D. C., August 2d. Sergeant William E. Roche, age 24, died in the city hospital, Lancaster, Pa., September 24th. Musician J. F. Barnes, age 22, died in the city hospital, Harrisburg, Pa., December 4th. Sergeant Lee A. Taylor, age 25, died in the First Division hospital, Augusta, Ga., December 22d.
Company H—Private Charles W. Tolman, age 26 years, 5 months, died in the Fort Myer hospital, Washington, D. C., June 17th.

From the memorial records it will be noticed that no far eighteen members of the regiment have died—3 in A, 2 in B, 3 in C, 2 in D, 1 in E, 1 in F, 4 in G, and 1 in H. Of these, thirteen were privates; two corporals, and three sergeants. The name of any commissioned officer does not appear on the roll. G company's losses are the heaviest, 2 privates and 2 sergeants.

Immediately after the reading of the roll of the names of those of whom it may be said with truth and much consolation that they "died on the field of duty and honor," Captain Stahl offered prayer, and read several appropriate passages from the Scriptures. As the text for his sermon he took the words—"And He Died," Genesis 5:5 and "She hath done what she could," Mark 14:3. He handled his theme in a manner which surpassed any of his former camp efforts, and needed no other inspiration than the memory of those whom his words honored.

The simple, yet impressive services were closed with a rendition by the band, accompanied by the organ, of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," in which the audience joined, standing.

Among those who were present to join in the memorial services were Colonel H. A. Courson and Mrs. Courson, Major Fellows, Major Keller and Dr. Hinckley of the medical staff, Captains Corwin, H. H. Smith, of E. Company, A. and Decker, of F. Company, Adjutant L. T. Mattes, Lieutenant Foote, of D, and Crisman, of G; Sergeant Major William McCulloch, color Sergeant Charles Reed, and First Sergeant William Davis, of B, Thomas Parry, of H, and George Downey, of E. The Rev. Dewey Jones, chaplain of the Eighth Pennsylvania, and several other members of that regiment, were present as invited guests.

SPIRIT OF GOOD WILL.

As an example of the spirit of good will which exists now between the people of Augusta and the troops, two successful concerts were recently given in the city. The proceeds were divided equally, one-half going to the patients of the First brigade hospital, and the other one-half to the patients of the Third brigade hospital. As a further evidence of this feeling, the Catholic Literary association gave a concert Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Thirtieth regiment band, in Musician Andrew Hayes and Private David R. Watkins are the only members of Company H who are now absent on account of sickness.

The members of the regiment acknowledge the kindness of C. M. Flory, the bicycle man, who has sent five base balls—four for Companies A, B, C and D, the central city companies, and one for Company F.

Lieutenant Varcoe, of Company E, who has been confined to the regimental hospital for a few days, is again able to attend to duty.

Corporal Frank Chamberlin, of C, and Private Mitchell, of B, are cashiers at the regimental store. This store is now in charge of Major Walter Wood, and Captain Robbing, of C, and Kambeck, of B. The company canteens have ceased to exist.

Private Victor Thomas, of A, who was transferred to the signal corps, succeeded in buying his magazine rifle, and will bring it back here with him as a souvenir.

Private Elmer Freeman, of A, having been discharged from the Division hospital, has been granted a thirty-day sick furlough. He left yesterday for Welsh, West Virginia, where he will visit friends. Private Freeman is still troubled with a slight attack of rheumatism. Richard J. Bourke.

KEOGH'S GREAT PLAYING

Calling Forth Many Outbursts of Wonder and Astonishment in New York City, Where He Is Now Playing a Match.

Jerome Keogh's wonderful pool playing is causing many outbursts of wonder and astonishment in New York city where he is now playing a series of games with De Oro. All of the New York papers comment on Keogh's wonderful display of nerve.

Keogh first came into prominence in the pool world by his comparative ease with which he wrested the championship from Grant Eby a few years ago.

Clearwater, of Pittsburg, who had defeated Keogh in the Scranton champion's early days in championship company thought to wrest the emblem from him by a victory in a match which was defeated by a score of 600 to 350, almost two to one. He arranged another match with Keogh in Boston and won through Keogh falling ill on the last night of the play, when the score was something like 400 to 300 in Keogh's favor.

As soon as another match could be arranged Keogh went after Clearwater and in Pittsburg with comparative ease recaptured the honors which had passed from him through an accident. When the match was over Clearwater said: "I'm done with that man; it's a waste of money trying to get the championship from him."

Keogh and De Oro never met except in a tournament in Syracuse when Keogh made his debut in fast company some years ago. De Oro won the tournament and also the game in which he and Keogh were pitted against each other. De Oro has never been defeated. Keogh has of course greatly improved since he and De Oro met as he shows by the playing he is now doing.

The winner of the present match is to get a purse of $250 offered by Max Daly, in whose parlors the match is being played and one half of the gate receipts.

The championship emblem does not figure in the contest. There are certain regulations governing championship games which De Oro is not prepared to subscribe to, among them being one requiring the challenger to back his challenge with a $150 bet and another prescribing that the game shall be played wherever the champion shall dictate, which, in this case, would mean Scranton.

LIST OF CASES FOR FEDERAL COURT

One of the Anna Dickinson Trespass Cases Heads the List—Suit on the Bond of Ex-Cashier A. B. Williams Is Also to Be Tried—The Session Is Scheduled for the First Monday in March, But There Is a Strong Probability That It Will Be Postponed—Order Expected Daily.

Appended is the list of cases to be tried at the Scranton session of the United States Circuit court, which is scheduled to meet here Monday, March 6. A postponement of the time for holding the session is likely, owing to Judge Acheson being occupied elsewhere, and an order to that effect is expected every day.

The first case on the trial list is one of the Anna Dickinson suits, in which Dr. James Oglesby is asked to pay $50,000 damages for certifying that the plaintiff was insane at the time she was received into the Danville asylum. Attorney J. W. Ferguson and B. M. Hodge, of New York, will represent Miss Dickinson, and James Scarlet, of Danville, is counsel for the defense.

Another case that will attract much attention, locally, is that of the "Traders' National bank, of Scranton, against the Fidelity and Casualty company of New York.

It is a suit to recover on ex-Cashier A. B. Williams' bond. The defendant company, which furnished the indemnification, contests the claim on the ground that the bank removed the bond at a time when it was aware, or should have been aware, that the cashier's accounts were not in good shape.

Natural Water Course in Minooka Causes Trouble.

Jane Sipple, of Minooka, began an action in trespass against her neighbor, John Danan, yesterday to recover $2,500 for damages which she alleges were caused to her property by his diverting a natural stream from his land and on to hers.

It is also alleged that a pool of water has formed in the street in front of her house, by reason of this diversion of the stream, and that it blocks the entrance to her property, besides being a standing menace to health. O'Brien & Kelly are the plaintiff's attorneys.

rained before Alderman Howe yesterday afternoon. Several witnesses gave testimony for each of the principals in the case.

From the evidence it appeared that Mrs. Whelan was to have paid the one month's overdue rent and in consideration thereof was to have received the articles she had given her daughter before the latter's death. There was nothing to show that Mrs. Whelan had a claim on the contents including wearing apparel and provisions, though she secured possession of them. She was held in $200 bail on the larceny charge.
