

DR. H. B. WARE, SPECIALIST. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

CITY NOTES

THE LAST DAY.—Today is the last day allowed for filing nomination papers from cities.

MEET TONIGHT.—The Keystone Republican club will hold an important meeting at Howard place hall tonight.

TEN DAYS SERVICES.—Rev. John Robertson, of Glasgow, Scotland, a noted pulpit orator, will commence a ten days evangelistic services at the Penn Avenue Baptist church Sunday, Feb. 13.

FINCH COMPANY STOCKHOLDERS.—The meeting of the Finch Manufacturing company that was to have been held yesterday was postponed owing to the illness of Mr. Finch, president of the company.

POLICE WERE ON.—Antonio Briccio, while riding the pockets of a man helplessly drunk in Railroad yard yesterday morning, was detected by the police. Briccio and his victim were both arrested. They will be arraigned in police court this morning.

WEEK'S MORTALITY RECORD.—Last week's mortality record at the board of health office shows thirty-three deaths from all causes. Four deaths were caused by diphtheria. There were sixteen new cases of contagious diseases reported. Of these thirteen were diphtheria cases.

BOWLING CHALLENGE.—The first bowling team of the Scranton Bicycle club challenges the Excelsior club's team to a series of six games, the first game to be played on the bicycle club's alleys and the last three on the Excelsior club's alleys. The total score to decide the match, E. G. Warden, captain.

PURSE FOUND.—The purse which Mrs. George Wines, of Green Ridge, reported to the police as having been lost by her at the corner of Franklin and Lackawanna avenues, was found, John J. Jones, of 37 A. street, returning it to the owner and upon its proper identification returned it to the owner and was liberally rewarded.

BLACK GRIFFO HERE.—Black Griffin, who has been matched to meet Hugh McWaters before the American Shortweight club at Murray street, on Monday evening, reached the city at 5 o'clock last evening. He is a fine looking athlete and appears to be in the best of condition. It is expected that his reputation would convince one to take the bet.

BODY IDENTIFIED.—The body of the mine laborer whose back was broken and who died in an ambulance on route from the Lackawanna Coal company's mine in Black's creek, on Monday morning, was identified yesterday afternoon as that of Peter Polinski, of Pileburg. Undertaker Swamy, of Pileburg, was notified to take the remains.

SELECTION FOR DISTRICT CHIEF.—Michael P. Gerety, at a meeting of the English Home company Sunday afternoon, was selected as the company's choice for assistant chief of the fire department, to succeed James J. Malloy, deceased. At the session Michael Doyle was elected recording secretary; Lawrence Hewitt, financial secretary; and John Sheehan, secretary at large. The committee on the annual state convention of firemen.

HIP FRACTURED.—William Neberling, the janitor at the Scranton Gas and Water company, yesterday morning fractured his left hip in the yard of the residence of George B. Hurd at the time. Two boys who had found a horse blanketed on the avenue in front of the residence called Neberling's attention. While walking towards the horse he fell. He was removed to his home on Phelps street and given medical attention.

ONE TOO OPEN.—Two tramps who had never heard the old story of the pitcher and the well applied for lodging at the Center street police station last night. They had been there under like circumstances on two previous occasions. Twice is the limit according to police rule. The pair of hoboes were admitted but Sergeant Jones blanketed them in a hard berth in the cold cellar dungeon instead of to the tramps' parlor on the second floor. After five hours had elapsed they were released.

RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY.—At the Baptist Ministers' conference which met yesterday morning the following resolution was unanimously and heartily adopted: "In view of the sad and sudden calamity which has fallen on the first Baptist church of this city in the destruction by fire of their house of worship, resolved, that we express to Pastor S. E. Matthews and the entire membership our sincere sympathy and prayer that our help in whatever way we may be able to render it."

DEBATE TONIGHT.—There will be a debate of more than usual interest tonight at the Railroad Department Young Men's Christian association at 5 o'clock. The topic to be debated is "Should the United States Retain the Philippines."

The debaters will be R. F. McKenna and E. J. Glover, representing the Twentieth century club of the Scranton Railroad department against two members of the Century club of the Lackawanna Railroad department. The judges will be Professor W. E. Plumley, of the School of the Lackawanna; Professor W. H. Buel, of the School of the Lackawanna; and Professor M. J. Dunne, of the Lackawanna. There will also be three-minute speeches. Free to members and their families.

A MEMBERS RECEPTION.

Historical Society Will Have an Evening of Cards and Dancing. The Catholic Historical society and Newman Magazine club will hold a members reception tonight, at their rooms in the Chesney building, Washington avenue. A progressive euchre party, followed by dancing, will form the chief means of entertainment. The arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Richard O'Brien, Mrs. Timothy Burke, Mrs. M. E. Sundry and Miss Alice Hoban.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

Man's Arm Crushed to a Pulp Between Mill Rolls in Green Ridge Iron Works— Might Have Been a Great Deal Worse. The hand of Thomas Hall, a roller, was caught between two rolls at the Green Ridge iron works yesterday and before he could free himself his arm had been drawn between the rolls and crushed to a pulp about the elbow. With a cry in which horror and agony were each expressed, Hall was pulled toward the narrow space into which his hand and then his arm disappeared. Someone disconnected the power which ran the rolls and another workman grasped Hall about the body, where he remained. The arm had been crushed to a pulp.

POLICE HAD A CHASE.

After a Negro Who Had Followed a White Woman. A young woman, who was evidently laboring under great excitement, rushed up to Patrolman Neuls on Lackawanna avenue last evening and pointed out a colored man who, she said, had followed her from the West Side. The police are regretting that they lost trace of the woman, as they captured the negro after a hard chase. He will be arraigned before the mayor in police court this morning.

Solid Through Vestibule Trains.

consisting of Standard Pullman and Wagner Buffet sleeping cars, and luxurious vestibule day coaches, heated by gas and heated by steam, are run every day between New York and Chicago via the Lackawanna and Nickel Plate roads, making the most comfortable and cheapest route from New York, Scranton, Binghamton and Elmira, to Cleveland, Port Wayne, Chicago and the west. The dining cars and meal stations on the Nickel Plate road are operated by the company, and serve the best of meals at reasonable prices. The through day coaches are in charge of colored porters, whose services are free to both first and second class passengers. Rates via this route are lower than via other lines.

Can You Afford

to keep that cough or let the children cough when you can get a bottle of Dr. Alexander's Langbecker's Remedy that will cure any cough, cold, throat or lung trouble. It is pleasant to take and gives quick relief and positive results every time. Every bottle is guaranteed to cure or no pay. It is sold by all dealers; price 25c a bottle.

Go to Lane's for your meals. 229 Spruce street.

Shoe Clearance Sale. Some of our best made, best selling and most desirable shoes will be sold during this sale at fractional prices. We are anxious to have our shelves cleared of all small lots, broken assortments of sizes and single pairs, left after a season of unprecedented shoe selling.

SENATOR FLINN SNARES Y. W. C. A. VOTE

BRIGHT REPORT FROM THE PITTSBURGH CONVENTION.

Mrs. L. M. Gates Writes in an Interesting Way of the Sessions. Representatives from This Region Important Factors—Prominent Brooklyn Divine Who Will Assist Rev. Dr. Pierce in Special Meetings—Mrs. Wadhams, of Wilkes-Barre, Read a Paper.

Mrs. L. M. Gates writes as follows concerning the Young Women's Christian association convention at Pittsburgh: "The convention opened on Friday morning in the lecture room of the Second Presbyterian church and at the opening session, which was a prayer service conducted by Miss Savage, of Scranton. This was followed by a Bible talk on 'God's Love for Sinners' by Rev. Cornelius Westkirk, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Westkirk is a very clear thinker and a pleasant speaker and most correct and pleasing reader. His talk at the convention has been full of spiritual power. The last half of the morning session the convention divided into two sessions; one for members of city associations and Miss Harriet Taylor, of Chicago, the international secretary, who is a very bright and interesting woman. Her papers on religious and educational work by Miss Stetler, of Williamsport, and Miss McDonald, of Pittsburgh, led to a number of interesting resolutions. Miss Bolmer, of Wilkes-Barre, had a paper on summer vacations for girls. And Mrs. Wadhams, of Wilkes-Barre, on the responsibility of the local associations to support the state work. Miss Ruth Rouse, the international secretary, led the conference for college workers, which was very interesting. Miss Rouse is an English woman, a graduate of Great College.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

The hand of Thomas Hall, a roller, was caught between two rolls at the Green Ridge iron works yesterday and before he could free himself his arm had been drawn between the rolls and crushed to a pulp about the elbow. With a cry in which horror and agony were each expressed, Hall was pulled toward the narrow space into which his hand and then his arm disappeared. Someone disconnected the power which ran the rolls and another workman grasped Hall about the body, where he remained. The arm had been crushed to a pulp.

POLICE HAD A CHASE.

After a Negro Who Had Followed a White Woman. A young woman, who was evidently laboring under great excitement, rushed up to Patrolman Neuls on Lackawanna avenue last evening and pointed out a colored man who, she said, had followed her from the West Side. The police are regretting that they lost trace of the woman, as they captured the negro after a hard chase. He will be arraigned before the mayor in police court this morning.

Solid Through Vestibule Trains.

consisting of Standard Pullman and Wagner Buffet sleeping cars, and luxurious vestibule day coaches, heated by gas and heated by steam, are run every day between New York and Chicago via the Lackawanna and Nickel Plate roads, making the most comfortable and cheapest route from New York, Scranton, Binghamton and Elmira, to Cleveland, Port Wayne, Chicago and the west. The dining cars and meal stations on the Nickel Plate road are operated by the company, and serve the best of meals at reasonable prices. The through day coaches are in charge of colored porters, whose services are free to both first and second class passengers. Rates via this route are lower than via other lines.

Can You Afford

to keep that cough or let the children cough when you can get a bottle of Dr. Alexander's Langbecker's Remedy that will cure any cough, cold, throat or lung trouble. It is pleasant to take and gives quick relief and positive results every time. Every bottle is guaranteed to cure or no pay. It is sold by all dealers; price 25c a bottle.

Go to Lane's for your meals. 229 Spruce street.

NINE NEW CITIZENS.

Judge Gunster Holds a Session of Naturalization Court.

A session of naturalization court was held by Judge Gunster yesterday, presiding at the opening of quarter sessions in court room No. 2. Nine applicants were admitted to citizenship. Their names, residence and nationality are appended: James Rossar, of Old Forge, Welsh; John Drost, Taylor, Austrian; Robert White, of Old Forge, English; Alko Mitraxasin, of Dickson City, Austrian; John P. Carroll, of Old Forge, English; Rudolph Meyer, of Scranton, Swiss; James M. Roberts, of Scranton, English; Timothy Gilbert, of Scranton, Russian; William Gunn, of P-o-kville, Scot.

BOOTH HAD TO BE CHANGED.

Boys' Depredations Brings About This Result.

The polling place in the Fourth district of the Fifth ward was yesterday changed from its present location in the iron booth at the intersection of Academy and Fourteenth streets, to a room in a house at No. 217 Fourteenth street, owned by Peathorne & Co. The change was made at the request of the county commissioners who allege that the cost of periodically repairing the damage done the iron booth by boys' depredations makes it unwise to attempt to maintain one there any longer.

DIVORCE DEPOSITIONS.

Taken by Attorney M. J. McAndrew, Acting as Commissioner for Judge H. M. Edwards—Evidence Presented to Him.

Depositions were taken in a number of divorce cases yesterday by Attorney M. J. McAndrew, acting as commissioner for Judge Edwards and sitting in the judge's chambers. Charles H. Dunn, through Attorney A. V. Bower, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the neighbors. His name was Stevens. A child was born to his wife a year and six months after he separated from her, Mrs. Jennie Heytman, of 412 North 10th street, who alleges that if the child were not such a child was born to her, Mrs. J. M. Dumm, brought forward a raft of witnesses to make good his allegation that he had the best of grounds for wishing to be divorced from his wife, Maria Dunn. This was married July 26, 1882, by Alderman Bower and after residing for a time on Meridian street and then on railroad avenue, they began housekeeping at No. 26 Lackawanna avenue. One night in 1882 when he returned unexpectedly from his work on the railroad he encountered the witness coming to his residence that had been borne to him by the