IN THE PLAY HOUSES.

"Heartsease" at Lyceum.

An audience that taxed the capacity of the Lycoum saw Henry Miller last, night in "Heartsease." Mr. Miller was Eric Temple, a role in which he has undeared himself to an army of theatre-goers in this city. His work last night was of the clean, incisive, artistic kind that has placed him in the front rank of American actors. At the close of the control of the clean in the front rank of American actors. ### "The Ivy Leaf."

The ever popular Irish comedy-drama, "The Ivy Leaf," was produced at the Academy of Music last evening by a company that greatly pleased the audience. Few plays of the type of "The Ivy Leaf" permit of such an elabrate scenic display and the production of last night in the way of staging left little to be desired. Leah Starr made a sweet and loyable Noreen Deriish and Lazette Du Brack was chic and pert in the role of Colice O'Brien. Harold Crane, Thomas J. Smith and D. Sagen were other important members of the company. During the play the following specialties were introduced: Songs by Thomas J. Smith: Leah Starr. in songs and dances; Charles Lloyd, baracter songs and imitations; Hugh McCormick, ballads; Joe W. Hogan, selections on the Irish bag-pipes; Wilpeated this and tomorrow afternoons

"Hotel Topsy Turvy."

The attraction for this evening at the Lyceum is the Herald Square theatre production, "Hotel Topsy Turvy," which has been the theatrical sensation for two years having played in New York for 12 nights, two years at the Follics Dramatiques theatre, in Paris, and was produced in London, England, the same night the musical comedy recoived its initial performance in New York city, and is still running there. The company selected comprises the most prominent players in this line of entertainment, and collectively, makes the strongest organization which has ever been sent from the Herald Square theatre. Among the interpreters of the principal characters are such prominout artists as: Messrs, Edwin Foy, Heiry Norman, George L. Tallman, Frank Doan, Frank Smithson, Ed. Connelly, Randolph Curry, A. Law Gis-iko, Misses Jessie Villars, Beatrice Me-Kenzie, Mae Lowery, Carrie Perkins, Virginia Ross, Emma Brennon, Mamie Forbes and others. There will also be chorus of fifty voices. The scenic effeets will be in keeping with the im-portance of the production, and the costumes are promised to be a revela-tion even in these extravagant days of stage dressing.

"A Lady of Quality,"

At the Lyceum theatre next Monday for an engagement of one night only, our theatre goers will enjoy a rare treat in the apperance here of Eugenie Blair in her superb creation of Clorinda of the Lycoum saw Henry Miller last been clamoring for a new sensation and of American actors. At the close of the third act he was given a perfect ovation.

Miss Margaret Dale made a charming Miss Neville, and the other members of the company were very satisfactory.
