lars were made by the quartermaster's department during the period between April 1 and October 1, and, although indefinite charges have from time to time been made of fraud and collusion, no evidence has been produced before the commission to substantiate these charges, although the parties making them have been invited to appear."

THE BEEF EPISODE.

One of the most interesting portions of the report, inasmuch as it treats uson the supplies of beef, canned goods and other food supplies furnished the soldiers, regarding which there has been so much public discussion, is that relating to the subsistence department, Brigadier General Charles P. Eagan in This report on this department says:

The commission has carefully investigated the subject of the condition, quality and quantity of the food supoiled to the army. Almost without exception it has been shown by the testimony taken that wherever the troops were ordered, whether to the various camps in the United States or in Porto prescribed by law were on the transports and at the camps with the sol-

Examination of numerous officers and enlisted men had seen made as to the quality and condition of the meat issued to the troops. The testimony, with some exceptions showed that the refrigerated beef Issued was pure, sound and wholesome.
On the 21st day of December last,

Major General Nelson A. Miles, upon the written request of the president of this commission, appeared before it. He refused to be sworn, as all other citnessed had been except one who afterned, stating that he would make his statements without being sworn, and was responsible for what he said. He proceeded, and for the first time in the history of this investigation the aflegation was made that refrigerated bref issued to the troops had been chemically treated.

GENERAL MILES STATEMENT. In the statement, revised by himself,

General Miles said: There was sent to Porto Rice 227 tons of what is known as so-called re-

He says that at Porto Rico the beef he examined 'was also of the same character, being apparently preserved by injected chemicals."

IN THE PLAY HOUSES.

"A Lady of Quality." This city is to be favored with framatic success of the day at the Lyceum theatre tonight with the presentation of Frances Hodgson Burnett' and Stephen Townsend's strong play. "A Lady of Quality," which will be produced by that delightful and accomplished actress, Eugenie Elair, as Clovinda Wildairs. "A Lady of Quality" has undoubtedly been one of the pronounced dramatic successes of the present decade. It is one of the few stories in which the dramatization is just to the author. The many announcements that Eugente Blair will be seen in the play caused something of a sensation in dramatic circles, as it was generally supposed that the actress seen in Wallack theatre production alone had the rights to the play. Miss Blair, who is a particular friend of the author, was the artist they was under consideration, her starring tour unavoidably prevented her appearance n R, as the contract calling for its presentation within a cortain time news this I the corepletion of a rangements in another direction. Thomas Jefferson and Joseph Jefferon, jr., William Jefferson and Charles Jefferson comprise the four leading members of the Jefferson Comedy company, which will present "Rip Van Winkle" at the Lyceum theatre Wednesday evening, February 1. The location of factories will give to New Orange a solidity and will establish a business center for the same. The mechanics and laborers who become residents it will afford an opportunity to secure employment through the various improvements, and in the factories to be erected. The opportunity to find employment near home is in itself an inducement to be considered by many. Those that are in business or employed in New York City or the towns surrounding New Orange will have excellent transportation facilities over the different trunk line railroads that will connect with New Orange.
