NEVER FADING BLACK DYES (Continued). The carrying companies lost not a minute in taking advantage of the abatement of the storm. Every available man, it is no exaggeration to say, that the region afforded, was put to work to assist in raising the blockade to traffic. The result was that last night things were running very nearly per schedule.

NEVER FADING BLACK DYES (Continued). The street car men had the main lines within the city pretty well opened by noon time. Providence cars were running as far as the corners. Dunmore suburban cars made very few passengers, to get to the end of the line. The Laurel Hill road was open as far as Dunmore corners. The South Side cars got as far as Brook street and the Taylor cars made fairly regular trips as far as Elyman street, North Main, Lafayette, Washington, Luzerne, Stone avenue, Bellevue and Petersburg were not opened, but the company had big gangs of men at work clearing these lines last night and hope to have them in running order early this morning.
