MURDERERS WILL HANG.

Susquehanna County Criminals Not Favored by the Supreme Court.

An opinion was handed down in the supreme court at Philadelphia yesterday in the case of Shew and Eagan, alias Smith, in which the court of Susquehanna county was sustained. Shew and Eagan were found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Jackson Pepper, an aged farmer residing at Rush, Susquehanna county.

After the murder they made their escape to New York state, where they were arrested on a charge of petty larceny. The prisoners were returned to Montrose without extradition papers and when over state line were placed under arrest for murder. The men were tried separately, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

An appeal was made to the supreme court and the lower court was sustained.

IN ARGUMENT COURT.

Half a Dozen Divorce Cases Were Recommended for Adjudication—Large Number of Cases Argued.

Cases were dealt with in argument court yesterday as follows:

Argued—John Fressman against the Borough of Dickson city, rule to take off non-suit; A. E. Bettory against the city of Scranton, exception to report of referee; D. P. Replogle against Agnes G. Carey and others, rule to open judgment; George W. Decker against Edward S. Holstein, rule for a new trial; Edwin S. Williams against John A. Mears, rule for a new trial; Emory C. Thule against the Diamond Quarry Accidental fund, exceptions to report of referee; Emma Seest against the city of Scranton, exceptions to report of referee; D. M. Stevenson, executor, and others, against Warf and Warren, executors, demurrer; Perk Lumber company against S. P. Mitchell & Son, rule to dissolve attachment; North York and Erie company against J. J. Arnsby, garnishee, rule to reinstate and rule to allow an appeal.

Rule discharged—V. S. Terwilliger against Levitz Imrover, exceptions to affidavit of defense and rule for judgment. Submitted—Lester M. Roselle against Carrie Rozelle, Nettie E. Seal against John H. Neal, Esther F. Loring against Ella Allen Loring, Charles W. Dunn against George W. Loring, Christian M. Smith against John Dexter, Grace D. Conklin against Horace E. Conklin, all divorce cases.

In the case of J. D. Peck, assignee, against T. H. Spruks and others, the demurrer was overruled and the defendant directed to answer within fifteen days.

The motion of the adoption of Grave and Pearl Deats was submitted.

Two Divorces Granted.

Two divorces were granted yesterday by the court. Mary J. Weiss was legally and permanently separated from P. B. Weiss and Bowman Christianman was divorced from Frank Christianman.

Mr. and Mrs. Weiss were married April 25, 1894, and on June 25, 1895, Weiss went to New York to look for work and never afterwards returned to his wife or contributed to her support.

The Christians were married in October and have two children, a boy and a girl, aged 20 and 18 respectively. On Sept. 25, 1894, Mrs. Christianman left her husband, and if the testimony offered at the hearing of the case is to be believed she is now keeping house for a man in Wilkes-Barre.

To Strike Off Costs.

Court yesterday granted rules to show cause why the costs placed on Constable Bernard Davis in the criminal case against Lottie Harding and Powell Sturgis should not be struck off.

It appears that they were arrested and prosecuted by Constable Davis for selling liquor without a license but when cases came up in court he was not present to prosecute because he was not aware that they were to be called for trial and verdicts of not guilty were taken and the costs placed on the prosecutor.

Will Pay the Costs.

At the suggestion of District Attorney John R. Jones court yesterday permitted the cases against Jacob DeMuth, Abe Weichel, George Mirtz and Charles Mirtz to be not pressed upon payment of the costs by the accused.

They live in South Scranton and were arrested at the instance of C. W. Traver, of Wilkes-Barre, on charges of selling liquor without a license, but Traver failed to appear at the last term of court to prosecute them. The district attorney is of the opinion that Traver will not appear and rather than have the cases cumber the next trial list to no good end he suggested the action directed by court.

Hawley Admitted to Bail.

William Hawley, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of highway robbery which has been pending against him since 1887, was admitted to bail yesterday by Judge H. M. Edwards.

The sister of the accused man, Isabella Hawley, became security for him in the sum of $2,000.

Rooney Broke His Leg.

Edward Rooney, of Carbondale, yesterday began an action against the city of Carbondale to recover damages in the sum of $2,500. The papers in the case were filed by Attorney H. C. Butler.

It is alleged by Rooney that owing to the negligence of the city he slipped on the icy pavement and fell and broke his leg.

CHIEF HICKEY ON FIRE PROTECTION

TELLS SELECT COUNCIL WHAT THE DEPARTMENT NEEDS.

Large Number of Suggestions and Recommendations Called Forth by Mr. Roche's Resolution—Can Not Effectively Battle with a Fire Above the Fifth Story—Bids for Paving East Market Street and for Constructing a Providence Sewer. Typographical Union Label.

In response to Mr. Roche's resolution calling upon Chief Hickey to report to council whether or not the city is properly equipped for fighting fires in tall buildings, select council, last night, received a lengthy communication in which the chief answers the question in the negative and makes a number of pertinent recommendations.

As at present equipped, he says the department cannot effectively fight a fire above the fifth story. The tall buildings he goes on to say, should have stand pipes with connections at each floor. Elevators should be continually kept in running order so the firemen could carry a line of hose to any floor at any time of the day or night. The city should have a water tower for fighting large conflagrations. Large buildings should have water tanks on the roof and all buildings in closely built districts should have fire walls, fire shutters and the like.

A tower for having out and drying hose is an imperative necessity, he says. The Franklin and General Phoenix engines are unsafe and should be replaced with a higher and less cumbersome truck suited for the Hook and Ladder company. The limits in which buildings shall be constructed of non-combustible material should be extended and a new building ordinance adopted. The present one is antiquated and fit only for a hamlet, he says.

Frozen fire hydrants, the chief says, can be obviated by erecting the plugs on a brick base with a drip beneath connected with the sewer. To thaw out a frozen hydrant is not efficacious, he says, for it only freezes the harder afterwards.

The report was listened to attentively and was referred, on motion of Mr. Roche, to the fire department committee with instructions to report on its recommendations by ordinance or resolutions.

COUNTRY CLUB LINE.

The railway committee reported favorably the ordinance allowing the Scranton Railway company to extend its line out to Wyoming avenue and Washington avenues through North Park to Fairfield avenue. Mr. Roche submitted petitions from the Country club and property holders along the route asking that the ordinance be passed. The measure was referred for printing.

Proposals for paving East Market street with vitrified brick were received as follows:

Mears & Flynn—Paving, $1.78 per square yard; new curb, 60 cents; circular curb, 30 cents.

M. H. Dale—Paving, $1.79 1/2 per square yard; curb, 64 cents; circular curb, 35 cents.

For constructing the North Main avenue and Philo street sewer two bids were received: Dunmore & O'Boyle offered to do the work for $21,500, and A. H. Koons, of Kingston, proposed to do it for $22,900. All four bids were referred to committee.

The following communications were received from City Engineer Joseph P. Phillips:

SANDERSON AVENUE PAVE. February 9, 1899. Gentlemen of Select Council: I learn that the paving committee of your branch of council at your last meeting announced that they could not report on the Sanderson avenue paving ordinance, because there was no plan and specifications attached. With your permission I desire to explain why they were not attached. First, I was instructed to make plans and specifications for this work; second, because I did not wish to take the responsibility of laying the paving to the grade on file in this office, without some action of council.

On September 2, 1898, I received a copy of the following resolution: Resolved, etc. That the city engineer is hereby authorized and directed to make an estimate of cost of paving Sanderson avenue from Market street to Market street, with street asphalt on a concrete base; also estimate of paving said avenue with brick pave and submit the same to common council at the earliest date possible. On November 18, 1897, I sent the estimate to council as requested accompanied with a communication in regard to enclosed estimate. I will state that there is one place on said avenue (Sanderson) between the west line dividing Second and Thirtieth wards and East Market street, that should receive the attention of council with reference to the grade and possible change for drainage before this avenue is paved and not to grade as at present on file in this office. I learn that the estimate and communication were sent to common council, but nothing of this ordinance being on its way through council until a few days ago.

I would respectfully suggest that in the future, all ordinances for improvements requiring specifications, that either the ordinance be adopted first and the specifications afterwards made to harmonize with the requirements of said ordinance or insist on specifications before the ordinance is drafted. This would avoid any possible conflict between ordinance and specifications.

Very respectfully submitted, City Engineer.

Carlsbad Sprudel Salt is the most natural and effective remedy in the world for rheumatic gout, dyspepsia, biliousness and stomach, liver and kidney complaints.

Mr. L. B. Backenheim, salesman, New York, writes: "I would like here to attest the virtues of Carlsbad Salt as an infallible remedy for rheumatic gout. I believe it has no equal."

Beware of imitations. The genuine imported Carlsbad Salt has the signature of "Eisner & Mendelsohn Co., Sole Agents, New York," on every bottle.

February 9, 1899. Gentlemen of Council: From an actual survey on East Market street, from the Liberty street to the boulevard, where you propose to have paved, I find the street, or fence lines vary in width from 4 to 6 feet, and I would respectfully ask that you request the joint committee on pavements, or street and bridges, to meet me in order to decide on the most feasible and the most economical way so as to avoid any possible claim for damages.

I would also most respectfully request that the same committee consider the grade on Sanderson avenue, between Delaware street and East Market street, as it appears on file in this office. Should the pavement on this avenue be laid to this grade it will leave four properties below the said grade, the extreme being somewhat over ten feet. This may also result in damage claims unless the grade is changed or releases received.

Very respectfully submitted, City Engineer.

The first communication was ordered filed and the second to be referred to the streets and bridges committee.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The annual report of the Scranton public library was read and approved. The nomination of James Archbald, for a further term of five years as a member of the board of trustees of the library was sent in by Mayor Bailey and forthwith confirmed.

City Solicitor McGlashan recommended the $187.94 claim of Matthias Stipp, for work and material on Columbia avenue sewer be allowed and that it be charged to the account of Peter T. Mulligan. The recommendation was adopted.

Common council resolutions providing for a catch basin at the corner of Fourth and Emmet streets, and for the drafting of a new building ordinance were concurred in.

Mr. Roche introduced an ordinance providing that all city printing bear the Typographical union label and a resolution permitting the Colliery Engine company to place a fire alarm box in front of their building at their own expense and connect it with the city system. The ordinance was referred to committee on laws and ordinances for amendment. The resolution was adopted.

WARNING HORSE DEALERS.

An ordinance was introduced by Mr. O'Boyle making it a punishable offense for any person to sell horses at auction without first procuring a city license and limiting the granting of licenses to persons who have resided in the city over a year. It was referred to committee on laws and ordinances.

The ordinance providing for the paving of Providence road and North Main avenue was passed on first and second readings. The roll was called on each passage and the required three-fourths vote was accorded it each time. The ordinance was read and members present and one negative vote would have been disastrous.

The ordinance accepting the streets of the Parview Land company's plot passed first and second reading, but not without some comments on the possibility of the city being called upon in years to come to buy some of the lots for the purpose of opening up cross streets, in which the plot as at present laid out is somewhat deficient.

The Sanderson avenue paving ordinance was passed on one reading. Its author, Colonel Sanderson, did not ask council to pass it on second reading, saying he would wait until the question of resultant damages from disturbing the present grade had been disposed of.

The ordinance providing for repairing the sidewalk on Washington street, near Filmore avenue, was passed on first reading. The ordinance providing for the appointment of a relief engine company passed final reading. Adjournment was made until next Thursday night.

WILL USE DYNAMITE.

To Kill Fish at New Game Preserve in Sullivan County. P. H. Flynn, the Brooklyn trolley magnate, who recently bought a large tract of wild land at Emmonsville, Sullivan county, which he is turning into a fish and game preserve, and where he is preparing to erect a summer home, is about to attempt a novel experiment in fish destruction.

Included within the limits of his estate is a beautiful sheet of spring water, where once abounded brook trout, but which is now inhabited by a less gamey fish. Mr. Flynn wishes to stock the lake with trout, but fry and fingerlings would stand no chance in his present hungry dominions. Mr. Flynn therefore appealed to the state fish commission for permission to dynamite the pond, and the necessary permission has been granted.

He has had nearly two tons of dynamite hauled to the lake, which is covered with ice nearly two feet in thickness. Holes will be cut all over the lake at a distance of 100 feet apart, and in these holes will be suspended dynamite cartridges of such size that the effect of their explosion in the ice-bound water will be to kill every living thing in the water.

ONLY A FEW EXAMINED.

They Proved That They Had a Right to Vote. Only a few fitnesses were examined in the Langstaff-Kelly contest. They were from Dunmore, and they showed conclusively that they had a right to vote. The names of the men examined are: John Blanche, Frank T. Swartz, Mark Connelly, Joseph McGrail, Ralph Winters, Thomas S. Hopkins, James Hopkins and John H. Koch.

DIED.

VAUGHN.—In Scranton, Feb. 16, 1899, Mrs. M. M. Vaughn, aged 73 years, at her home, 29 West Market street. Funeral announcement later.

PRESENT STATE OF HARD COAL TRADE

EFFECTS OF THE RECENT COLD WEATHER UPON IT.

Caused Such an Unprecedented Demand That Dealers Say the Surplus on the Market Was Entirely Wiped Out, and Convinced the Trade That There is Always Danger of a Coal Famine—Why the Advance in Price Was Made Necessary.

Under the caption "The State of the Trade" the "State of the Coal Trade" Journal issued Wednesday said: "The severe and widespread storm and its effects upon stocks of coal should silence for a time those critics who are continually inveighing against the fact that there is usually a considerable amount of coal in dealers' yards and at central distributing points. The trade and the public had become so accustomed to buying as necessity compelled, to sail close to the wind as the saying is, that the cold snap and the storm which followed found nearly all of them insufficiently supplied with coal. The spectacle of such corporations in the chief city of the country being unable to buy coal to keep their buildings warm shows that the possibility of a coal famine is an ever present danger during the winter months, and one which should be guarded against by the carrying of an ample reserve supply of fuel."

"Those dealers, too, who have had to forego the fulfillment of their contracts are in an unenviable situation. It will be strange if they are able to sell the same coals again, and no doubt they are thoroughly impressed with the advisability of always carrying a good supply of coal. If so, the experience will not be wholly without result, and an indirect benefit to the trade."

JANUARY SHIPMENTS. "We are told that the January shipments of Anthracite were some 2,750,000 tons, which was about 600,000 tons more than the quantity sent out during the same month last year. This quantity kept the market fairly supplied and did not lead to all the panic buying, and was distributed to meet requirements. Were the same quantity sent out during February, it would be taken, for there has been continuous coal-burning weather throughout the portion of country where anthracite is the chief fuel. It is doubtful if so much coal can be sent away from the mines, for the same zero weather which has existed where coal is burned has prevailed in the mining regions, and we must expect that the output was somewhat retarded.

The still blockaded roads leading from the mines, will make fuel scarce in some portions of the States, particularly where it is the custom to depend on arrivals of coal every few days. At those places which are so situated that provision for the winter season is made in advance, there is no scarcity as yet, but naturally we may look for an earlier and more universal demand. In any event the trade at large is to be congratulated upon the fact that we shall go into the usual buying season with stocks at a minimum. It is many years since this was the condition of affairs and it means much for this important industry that it is so.

"One may read every day of plans and arrangements, in dozens of forms, having been made for the betterment of the anthracite trade, and yet when these are run down they are found to be baseless and so devoid of fact that the persons who really have an interest in the anthracite properties cannot but be annoyed that they are supposed to be such simpletons as many of the reports would make them."

BETTER THINGS IN STORE.

"With the demand that is likely to occur during the current year there is in store for the anthracite interests better or things than they have had in the last year or two. Tonnage will no doubt be larger and the average returns are not likely to be any less, as no one expects that there will be a repetition of the "job-lot" style of doing things which existed in some markets last year."

The following is from the New York Daily Stockholder of yesterday: "The advances in tidewater anthracite coal prices are made necessary, according to the large mining and colliery interests, by the interruption to the transportation of coals by needed supplies through snow blockades and ice-bound rivers and harbors. West of the mines coal cannot be forwarded rapidly enough to keep dealers supplied and prices are temporarily not a matter of consideration."

"Owing to the anthracite statistical situation in the West no apprehension is felt of any noteworthy recession in prices in that section for an indefinite period. The outside prices, just made at tidewater, may be shaded slightly after the existing emergency is over, but it will be the fault of the producers themselves if the concessions are serious, because of the improving prospects of the industry. The new outside price for stove coal—$3.75 c. o. b.—compares with sales a short time ago at $3.25. The highest recent advance price for stove, to responsible buyers, was $3.50. The snow has in many instances stopped work at the breakers for over a week.

"It can be stated with authority that no formal meeting of either the anthracite producers or sales agents will be held, as alleged in Philadelphia. The work of consolidating the individual coal properties, is regarded in well-informed circles as preliminary to a settlement with the railroad interests rather than as a hostile measure."
