EVERY STREET A RIVER.

Heavy Thaw Causes Large Flow of Surface Water.

There were about seventy-six complaints received at the street commissioner's office yesterday. They came from every part of the city. Blocked gutters were the principal cause of complaint, with overflowing sewers a good second.

Street Commissioner O'Boyle had sixty men at work clearing off crosswalks at street intersections and found this about all that his department could attend to. The only thing that could be done to relieve the principal causes of complaint was to compel the property owners to clear their gutters, and to send a force of men to distribute the water that was causing sewers to overflow. Neither effort was very efficacious.

Street Commissioner O'Boyle was quite well satisfied that things were no worse. Had it not been that the heavy thaw of yesterday was preceded by a gradual thaw during the three preceding days, there would have been no end of trouble.

Despite the unusually heavy flow of surface water, the river did not show any alarming signs of a rise. The Susquehanna was rising rapidly yesterday and people living along the lowlands at West Pittston and points farther down were moving out in anticipation of a flood. As the Susquehanna rises the Lackawanna will back up, and this, coupled with the large flow from the thaw, will undoubtedly cause our own majestic stream to assume largely expanded proportions today.

KILLED IN NO. 5 MINE.

Thomas Glenross Crushed Beneath Great Mass of Rock.

Thomas Glenross, of Main street, Dunmore, employed in the No. 5 mine of the Pennsylvania Coal company, was instantly killed yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. Glenross, who was employed as a miner, had just fired a shot which had displaced a prop. He went to the spot to replace it and while in a stooping position, placing the prop up, the rock caved in, burying him beneath tons of rock and coal, crushing the life out of him and mangle him in a frightful manner.

Ten months ago Samuel Glenross, brother of the deceased was killed in the same mine and in a similar manner. Deceased is survived by a brother and two sisters, Lizzie, Annie and James, all of this place. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at a place to be named by Rev. William E. MUST HAVE MORE NEW INDUSTRIES

MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE TALK OF OUR NEEDS.

Time Has Come When the City Must Secure New Manufacturing Industries—Moneyed Men Are Apathetic in This Matter—Campaign in Support of the Connell Military Bill Is Inaugurated—Board of Trade Has No Time for the Cultivation of the Muse.

Before laying down its labors, the manufacturers' committee of the board of trade, at last night's regular meeting, read the board the following mild lecture on the comparative apathy of its moneyed men in the matter of new industries.

To the President and Members, Scranton Board of Trade. Gentlemen:—Under the head of new business our worthy president will announce the standing committee for the ensuing year, when your present Manufacturers' committee will cease to exist and the important duties devolving upon them will fall into other hands. We desire to make it our final bow, to report a most favorable outlook for the future industrial growth of our city.

We have this statement upon the fact that many desirable opportunities are now being offered our citizens for the employment of their capital, which, according to the recent bank failures, are by our secretary, is now on deposit in this city, awaiting profitable investment. The class of industries now to be had are those that are most desirable, possibilities of the future and desire to place themselves in a position to take advantage of every opportunity, by locating their greater facilities in our city. They appreciate the advantages of Scranton in the way of its cheap fuel, unsurpassed shipping facilities, nearness to the coast, etc., etc., and they are therefore knocking at our doors.

At the present time we are offered two very desirable industries which would give employment to at least 400 men. They are, first, a "Bolt and Nut" plant, which requires a capital of $125,000. This will be run from the ground up and under the management of men thoroughly conversant with every detail of the business and of a acknowledged financial ability. It is in every way a most favorable proposition. We have $30,000 subscribed. Can the balance be secured, or shall we allow the work to go elsewhere? Next in importance is a rubber manufacturing plant that will employ 200 men with a market for the entire product of the mill right at home. This concern is made up of men who are here and have worked steadily for the past ten years.

They will put in dollar for dollar, or in other words, they prefer to have a controlling interest. Can the balance be raised here? In addition to these might be mentioned a piano factory, a hot air furnace, and a hat factory, each of which, in our judgment, offer rare opportunities for the investment of capital. Now, then, what shall we say to these people? This is a question that appeals to every man of means in the city, especially to large real estate owners.

There is an apparent reluctance among our moneyed men to such industrial ventures. Why is it? It is surely not from a lack of money, for that commodity was never so plentiful or cheap as it is now. It is not a lack of enterprise, for many of our citizens are here and have worked steadily for the past ten years. They will put in dollar for dollar, or in other words, they prefer to have a controlling interest. Can the balance be raised here? In addition to these might be mentioned a piano factory, a hot air furnace, and a hat factory, each of which, in our judgment, offer rare opportunities for the investment of capital. Now, then, what shall we say to these people? This is a question that appeals to every man of means in the city, especially to large real estate owners.

Most respectfully submitted. (Signed) John T. Porter, Joseph Levy, Walter C. Jenwood, C. W. Fulton, J. A. Lansing, J. A. Pond, Committee.

President Keller commented on the importance of the proposition and urged the members to give it their most earnest consideration.

SECRETARY ATHERTON SPEAKS.

Secretary Atherton followed with a strong speech along the same lines. Scranton, he said, must secure industries if it would prosper. Three or four years ago the board of trade was advised to interest itself in tin plate manufacturing. The matter was discussed and then dropped. Today there are tin plate industries all over the country, and they are earning from thirty to forty per cent. profit. Scranton is now offered a number of good investments in the shape of manufacturing enterprises, many of which are within our grasp, but we can not secure them because of the want of capital.

We have reached a point where we must have manufacturing industries to supplant the coal industry, which, as he conceded, can not be enlarged. The war is over. Money is plenty. Industries are being planted all over the land, yet we are almost at a standstill for the want of capital. Our moneyed men who have their interests mainly centered here should look into this matter. It is directly to their interest as well as to the city's.

The report was received and placed on file without further comment, but it was evident that the communication and the secretary's remarks made an impression on those who heard them.

COMMITTEES FOR 1899.

BURGLAR SHOT BY POSTMASTER

MADE AN EFFORT TO RIFLE WATER GAP POSTOFFICE.

His Two Accomplices Escaped But the Man Who Gives His Name as John Blake and His Home as Jersey City Was Probably Fatally Shot—He Is Now at the Lackawanna Hospital—An Operation Was Performed Last Night by Hospital Surgeons.

When Millard Hauser was made postmaster at Water Gap about one year ago he threatened to make it warm for the first burglar who entered his office and yesterday morning he made good his vow. He shot and probably fatally wounded one of a gang of three burglars who had entered the postoffice and tried to blow open the safe.

About 1:40 o'clock yesterday morning Hauser, who lives next door to the postoffice heard an explosion. His suspicions were immediately aroused and he jumped out of bed, grabbed his gun and opened a window. On the pavement in front of the office stood a man. The fellow started to run when he heard the postmaster call him to halt and Hauser fired. The burglar fell to the pavement mortally wounded. His pals ran to his assistance and opened fire on the plucky postmaster. Six shots were exchanged and it is believed that another of the burglars was hit. When the battle became too warm for them the thieves picked up their injured companion and carried him about 150 feet. Then, at the wounded man's request, they dropped him in a snow bank and fled.

WOUNDS IN THE BACK. When the burglar was found he was bleeding from several ugly buckshot wounds in the back. He was carried to a physician's office and there told that he could not recover. He refused to give his name or address or the names of his companions. The thieves did not secure any booty. This is the sixth time in as many years that this office has been burglarized. Hauser surrendered to the district attorney, but was released on his own recognizance.

The injured man was placed on a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train and taken to this city, arriving here yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the Lackawanna hospital. It was apparent that he thought he would die and he asked for the ministrations of a priest. Rev. Father Gough, of the cathedral, attended him. An examination of the injured man showed that he had eleven different shot wounds. Seven of the small particles of shot entered the back and one passed through the right arm. Two entered the right leg, one of the particles going entirely through.

OPERATION PERFORMED. Early in the evening an operation was performed upon the sufferer, who previous to going on the operation had stated that his name was John Blake, and residence Jersey City. Two small balls were removed from between the flesh and abdominal lining. It was also discovered that the intestines were perforated in six distinct places by the passage of the balls through the body.

At a late hour last night Blake was recovering from the effects of the operation in fair shape, but it was the impression of the physicians that his case is extremely serious. However, he looks and acts like a fellow of sound body and plenty of grit and may recover.

CLASS MONTHLY SOCIAL.

Prof. Buck's Sunday School Class Entertained Last Night. About two hundred members of Professor Buck's Sunday school class at Elm Park church met in the church parlors last evening on the occasion of the class monthly social session. A delightful programme of music and recitations was thoroughly enjoyed, and the affair proved to be the most successful of any similar ones the class has given.

C. S. MILLER'S SUDDEN DEATH.

Coroner Roberts Decided That Heart Failure Was the Cause. C. S. Miller, of 717 Scranton street, died suddenly yesterday morning, without any apparent cause, and in consequence of that fact Coroner Roberts was notified. The circumstances surrounding the death of Miller were as follows: Miller while reclining on a lounge Sunday night, fell asleep and was not disturbed. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning a young man named Wheeler, who is Miller's nephew, arose to go to work, and noticed Miller still sleeping. He went into the kitchen to get a cup of coffee, and while there heard a noise. Returning to the sitting room to ascertain the cause, he found Miller had rolled off the lounge onto the floor. Wheeler picked the man up and placed him on the lounge again, and shortly afterwards Miller died.

Coroner Roberts was summoned and decided that the man's death was due to heart failure, deeming an inquest unnecessary. Deceased was an old soldier, and a pensioner, and formerly worked in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western car shops as a carpenter, but for the past two years was unable to do any work. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. H. F. Wheeler, one daughter and one son, Charles Miller, who whereabouts is unknown, and Mrs. Emma Dougherty, of Elk Lake, Susquehanna county.

MAY MEET THIS WEEK.

Special Session of the Poor Board is Contemplated.

A meeting of the poor board is contemplated for tomorrow night. Mr. Langstaff was empowered as president to call a special meeting when the abrupt adjournment occurred Friday afternoon.

MAY HAVE DIFFICULTY.

The D. L. and W. Mutual Aid association has had a halt called on its operations in New York state. A conflict over a death claim between two rival beneficiaries in Buffalo resulted in the defeated party laying complaint with the insurance commissioner's department of the state of New York that the Mutual Aid was illegally operating in that state.

EVIDENCE WAS INSUFFICIENT.

Alleged Dunmore Counterfeiter Was Released. Thomas Duffy, of Dunmore, who was arrested Sunday night on the charge of attempting to pass counterfeit money, was released yesterday after a hearing before Burgess Judge Powell.

The fact that no spurious money was found on his person, and that the evidence connecting him with the bad dollar which the children tried to spend in Evans' bakery was not of the kind upon which Federal court juries are wont to convict, induced the magistrate to let him go.

At the most, it was a case of a thifty vagrant trying to get a few drinks on a single bad coin which chance threw into his way.
