THE HANGING SWORD.
Do you know the story of Damocles in the ancient mythology—the man who lived with a sword continually hanging above his head, suspended only by a single hair? Many women of the present day are like Damocles. She is living with a constant menace of danger hanging over her head because of some weakness or disease of the special organs in which makes her a woman. It may seem comparatively slight and trivial at first but any instant it may develop into a serious and dangerous complaint, totally unfitting her for all the duties and responsibilities of a true womanly career.
"I suffered very much with female weakness and other ailments for more than two years, when I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Anna Willy (Michigan House), Northville, Spink Co., So. Dak., in a letter to V. P. Wood of Buffalo, N. Y. "After carefully following your advice and taking six bottles each of Dr. Frier's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Enrichery I am now a well and happy woman. I have also taken several vials of your Pleasant Pellets which did me a great deal of good. I shall always recommend your medicine wherever I go."
Women who would know how to avoid the dangers to which they are exposed at every critical stage of their physical development should read that grand book "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" by R. V. Pierce, M. D. It contains over one thousand pages profusely illustrated with engravings and colored plates. It is a complete medical library in one volume. Most than half-a-million copies were sold at $2.00 each. But a free copy will be sent handsomely cloth-bound for the simple cost of mailing, six one-cent stamps; or strongly paper-bound for 21 stamps. Address, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CURED OF ECZEMA
BY CUTICURA

I had an attack of Eczema, and ordered a box of oxide of zinc ointment. The first application changed the Eczema to hell-fire, which seemed unquenchable. The druggist had used a rancid cerate and I was poisoned. A local physician did not help matters, and everything either failed to help, or made it worse. I was becoming desperate, when I thought of CUTICURA. I bought, and dispatched my servant for a cake of CUTICURA Soap and a box of CUTICURA ointment. The first application relieved me and in three days I was well.

ALEXANDER'S WEDDING DAY.
Wholesale Giving and Taking in Marriage to Celebrate the Event.
From the San Francisco Examiner.
The newspaper reporters of the time of Alexander the Great, had there been any, would have had the heaviest day's work of their lives in covering the interesting events that marked the day Alexander was married. On that day, authenticated accounts tell, no less than 20,000 men and women were made husbands and wives. Alexander had conquered Darfus of Persia, and he felt that this great achievement was important enough to be memorialized in a conspicuous manner. Imagine the pride of a conqueror who decides that it can be measured properly only by a wholesale giving and taking in marriage, the like of which the world has never known.
Alexander himself married Stratra, the daughter of the conquered king, and decreed that 100 of his chief officers should be united to 100 ladies from the nobles of Persia and Median families. In addition to this, he stipulated that 10,000 of his Greek soldiers should marry 10,000 Asiatic women.
When everything was settled a vast pavilion was erected, the pillars of which were six feet high. One hundred gorgeous chambers adjoined this for the one hundred noble bridegrooms, while for the 10,000 of outer court was spread for the multitude. Each pair had seats, and ranged themselves in semicircles around the royal throne. Of course, the priests could not marry this vast number of couples in the ordinary way, so Alexander the Great devised a very simple ceremony. He gave his hand to Stratra and blessed her—an example that all the bridegrooms followed.
This ended the ceremony. Then followed the festival, which lasted five days, and the grandeur of which has never been equaled since.

CRUSTY
Some men are "crusty" when the bread doesn't suit them. They blame the cook, but it may be she isn't responsible. Possibly she told the man of the house to order
"Snow White"
Flour and he forgot to say "Snow White" and the grocer sent up an inferior grade. Men should be more careful and they will get better bread. It makes quite a difference what kind of flour the cook has.
All grocers sell "Snow White."
