Rooms Will Have to Be Used. So crowded has the Lackawanna hosstal become by the continued influx of patients requiring hospital treatment during the last two weeks that t is now a question of crowding some me out or letting patients go who really ought to remain for sometime longr. It is not the first time in the history of this much used, much valued, but greatly handicapped institution that such a stress has been met with. This time, however, it is more serious and if the legislators at Harrisburg could pay the hospital a visit of inspection just now a material part of the concessions asked for might be the more readily granted.

Wednesday two more patients were brought in. Alex. Choniski, of Johnson's 'patch" and employed as a lab over in the Johnson colllery, was caught beneath a fall of top coat. His injuries ight leg below the knee, a laceration of the tendons of the right hand and tiont, came in to have part of his left har I amputated. Are Waiting for Messrs. Naegli and Schneider to Qualify Before Entering Upon the Election to Fill the Vacancy in the Board of Revision and Appeal - Common Council Receives an Interesting Petition. Ordinances for Additional Permanent Men Passed in a Bunch.

A regular meeting of common council, an adjourned of select council and a joint session to elect a successor to Edward Wenzel, deceased, on the board of tax revision and appeals, were scheduled for last night, but the lower branch session was the only one to take place. The Republicans do not desire to go into the election of a board of revision man until the Republican successors of Mr. Wenzel of common council, and Mr. Robinson of select, qualify and had nothing on hand that could not go over for a week so the Republicans of that branch absented themselves and prevented a quorum, thus causing a postponement of both the select and joint sessions. The feature of the common council session was the reading of a petition containing three thousand signatures asking councils to remove the Delaware and Hudson switch on Remington avenue between Cherry and Fig streets, and open that thoroughfare to its full width. The fact that cars are almost constantly standing on this switch blocking the view of the Delaware and Hudson tracks is alleged in the preamble to the petition to have been the direct cause of the deaths of the three Sauguoit silk mill girls who were run down at this crossing within the last few years.

Thomas O'Neil Sues a Mine Accidental Fund for $84.

The West Ridge Mine Accidental fund was defendant in a suit brought before Alderman Kasson yesterday by Thomas O'Nell of Johnson's Patch Dunmore. Mr. O'Neil claims that the fund owes him $84 as benefit dues, h having been unable to work by reason of an accident, from Feb. 16 to June 1

The alleged accident occurred February 16, 1897, in the West Ridge colliery and O'Neil stated that he fell owing to the slippery condition of the bottom, and injured his back and head Attorney M. J. McAndrew appears for O'Neil and Attorney M. J. Walsh appeared for the fund. The fund offered as defense that O'Neil's sickness was due to another and remoter cause than the accident and refused to pay out the benefits, it being against the bylaws on that score. Alderman Kasson reserved his decision until Thursday March 2.
