BENEFIT TO THE CITY.

The benefit a city derives from ietter carriers' convention was aptly illustrated by Mr. Parsons. In olden times the postmaster was the chief cossip monger of the community. At his office all the news of the day centered and was distributed. Everybody came to the post office to "talk it all over." The free delivery system has caused this destruction to descend to the letter carrier. He is the only postmaster known to the many on his oute. Despite the terrors of the Bundy egister he has a moment to exchange word with the people of his district Give him something to talk about and he'll talk about it.
