LUTHERAN MINISTERS MEET.

Held a Monthly Session at the Residence of Rev. C. G. Spieker.

The session for February of the Lutheran Pastoral association was held yesterday morning at the parsonage of Holy Trinity church, at 613 Mulberry street. Every member was present, with the exception of Rev. P. F. Zizelmann, paster of the Zion charch, who was ili. Rev. C. G. Spiek-er, pastor of Holy Trinity, presided and Rev. A. L. Ramer, Ph. D., acted as secretary at the session. Rev. John W. Randolph, paster of

St. Peters, conducted the devotional exercises. The main feature of each monthly session is the study in Greek of some important lesson. The lesson for yesterday was that passage of Scripture recorded in Luke xi: 14-28 The exegetical paper was read by Rev John Kowala, pastor of Emmanuel, and a general discussion of the paper followed bearing especially upon "domon possession." An interesting and carefully prepared paper on "Cata-chetics" was read by ReAv. A. L. Daner, Ph. D., pastor of St. Mark's. This s one of a series upon the same sub-

The paper entitled a "Historic Study of the Lenten Season," read by Rev. C. G. Spieker, paster of Hely Trinity, indicated careful preparation and general discussion followed, during which Rev. Ramer, Ph. D., gave a few suggestions as to how Lent should be observed. An instructive paper dealing with the "Force and Efficacy of Christian Absolution" was read by

Rev. Ramer, Ph. D.

Before the meeting was concluded it was agreed to conduct a Sunday school Institute at Holy Trinity church Thursday, April 6. The next association meeting will be held at St. Mark's parsonage, March 20, followed by a mission festival in the evening, Rev and Mrs. C. G. Spieker entertained at dinner those attending yesterday's session and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Spieker, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Hamer, Rev. J. W. Randolph, Miss Helen T. Randolph and Miss Katherine Timberman; Rev. H. F. Lisse, Rev. W. L. Lauer and Rev. John Kowala.

REMAINS HAVE ARRIVED.

Funeral of the Late John Norton Will Be Held Tomorrow.

After long days of waiting and nights of expectancy, the remains of the late John Norton, who died suddenly at Los Angeles, Cal., nearly two weeks ago, arrived here yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, and were immediately taken in charge by Funeral Director Cu-

There are many peculiar circumstances connected with the young man's death and others have arisen since, but the most startling outcome will be the prosecution for breach of contract of the Wells, Fargo company, who forwarded the body to this city.

M. J. Norton, of 111 Wyoming avenue, father of the deceased, is highly indignant over what he claims is an outrageous imposition on the part of the company. Attorney Soper is already at work looking up the law bearing on the case and definite action may be taken this week.

The point contested by Mr. Norton is that the company, through its agent, agreed to ship the body by the direct route via Chicago and Buffalo, the body to arrive here at the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot at 2 or 10 a. m. Sunday morning. Instead the remains came by way of New York city to Susquehanna over the Erie, thence over the Delaware and Hudson to Scranton. Mr. Norton is also awaiting a more satisfactory reply from Coroner Holland, of Los Angeles county, as to the cause of death. Congestion of the lungs and heart failure were given as the cause of death in the certificate

Funeral Director Cusick re-embatrae l the body and found it in good condition. The remains were then removes to the residence of Mr. Norton, at 111 Wyoming avenue, and the funeral . III be held Wednesday morning. A high mass of requiem will be celebrate lat St. Peter's cathedral at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made at Olyphant.

DR. ROBERTSON'S DISCOURSE.

Will Deliver His Last Sermon Tonight in Penn Avenue Church.

Rev. Dr. Robertson continues to peak to immense audiences at the enn Avenue Paptist church and to entrance his listeners by the charming implicity of his method of delivery. Tonight will finish his ministrations mong us.

Last evening he spoke from the text; Unto Him who hath loved us and nath washed us in His blood" egan as usual by fastening the attenion of the congregation by a brief Hlustration, on this occasion the principal one being a recital of a conversation with a steamship agent who told of his views of electricity that the reason it reached less development on the other side was because of the short distances, and the cheap and available

He believed that in the Bahamas, where the trade winds blow steadily six months in the year, the power could thus be generated to run all the mills in the world. "But." said the speaker, "Steadler than all the trade winds is the breath of the Spirit. Does it blow about your heart? When it dies down into a calm-that's hell. Never a soul found Christ out of the trade wind of the love of God.

He has washed us from our sins in His own blood. That is the second note in the redemption song. I know God is love that is the first: but I know is love that is the first: but I know an inch in diameter, and weighing I am vile, he must wash me. It is the seven ounces. The curious little instrudivine philosophy.

Once when Robert Bruce was hiding in the forests the English let the leash of his own bloodhounds and set them on his trail. They flew over the track of their master, little thinking they were betraying that loved friend to his doom. Close by they bowled and his night. Mr. Haberstroh is at a loss to attendant thought they were lost, but Robert Bruce came to a little burnie stream in the forest sprang into its away. The bloodhounds were baffied, and coming back with his army he swept the enemy from the field of Ban-nockburn. The devil unleashes the bloodhounds of my own sins on me. Must I be devonred by them? Can I escape? A stream opens at my feet, not glassy and clear, but crimson with the blood The address closed with a reference on his part to pass upon the case. He to the blood on the lintel which saved therefore called in Judge Archbald, who the children of Israel,

PLACED IN THE COAL SHED OF LAWRENCE HABERSTROH.

Placed in a Pail with Pieces of Coal Yesterday Morning, but Was Discovered Before the Coals Had Been Dumped on the Fire-Bomb Turned Over to Lieutenant Zang-Two Other Bombs Found in That Part of City Not Long Ago.

In the coal shed of Lawrence Haberstroh, a harnessmaker, of 510 Cedar avenue, South Scranton, a dynamite bomb was found resterday morning.

Mr. Haberstroh, shortly after opening his place of business, dispatched an employe of the shop, Peter Bohr, to the coal bin, instructing him to bring a pail of coal. The young man immediately obeyed, and in a few moments he returned. Mr. Haberstroh took the coal, opened the large stove, and was about to deposit the major portion of the contents of the pail, when the bomb

It was a piece of steel, one and one-half inches in length, three-quarters of ment, was removed and examined. At the mouth of the bomb, which was three-eighths of an inch in diameter, was a cap, that was carefully re-
