EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

CITY MAY SOON ACCEPT A NEW ADDITION ON THIS SIDE.

Fairview Land Company Anxious to Have Their Tract Become an Integral Part of the City-Ordinance to This Effect Now Pending. Some Difficulty Concerning Grades, New Hose Company to Be Organized-Sketch of Adjutant and Mrs. Simms-Social Affairs.

At the meeting of common council on Thursday evening the ordinance providing for the grading of streets in Fairview park passed first and second readings. This ordinance has been hanging fire for a long time, and will in all probability pass final reading

Some time ago Councilman Oliver 'ntroduced an ordinance at the instance of the property owners for the acceptance of all streets which have already been graded by the Fairview Park Land company in that section of the Fifteenth ward lying between Eynon street, Main avenue and the Round woods on the westerly side of Main avenue, and between O'Connor's court on the north, School court on the south and the tracks of the Bloomsburg Civision of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad on the east side of Main avenue.

Some dispute arose relative to different grades that have been given at different times, and the matter will be investigated by the streets and bridges committee of the select council at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The committee comprises J. A. Lansing, chairman; Finlay Ross, Edward James,

Peter McCann and Thomas J. Coyne. Common Councilman Joseph Oliver will be present in the interest of the property owners and a representative of the Land company will also be present. The grade given by the city engineer on the westerly side of Main avenue will have to be altered to corform with the original grade given to the Land company.

The property owners are anxious to have the matter settled on account of the many inconveniences existing under the circumstances. Until the streets are accepted by the city the property owners are without light and water protection in case of fire.

During the recent cold weather the residents in that section suffered many inconveniences on account of the lack of water, and are anxious to secure the necessary protection from the city.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

Adjutant and Mrs. Simms, who have assumed charge of the work in connection with the Salvation army in West Scranton, are meeting with much success here, and are extremely popular with the rank and file of the army They came here from Philadelphia last Adjutant Simms has been connected with the army for the past twelve years and Mrs. Simms has been an active worker in the ranks for fifteen years. She joined the army in her native town of Marwarden, North Wales, and the adjutant first began his career as a soldier at Preston, Lancashire, England. He was a captain there for seven years, previous to his coming to this country in 1897, and shortly after his arrival located in Amsterdam, N. Y., where he organized a branch of the army.

From there Adjutant Simms and wife went to Albion, N. Y., where he was arrested and the case cost the borough $300 for a settlement. He then went to Elmira, and after a short stay there went to Buffalo and then to Philadelphia. From the latter city they came to this city. Captain Simms was pro-moted to the station of an adjutant while in Philadelphia, and it was in Elmira that he gained the title of ensign

Mrs. Simms is of Welsh parentage and was a soldier in the army at Chester, England, and afterwards became a captain, filling that office for twelve years, until her marriage three years go. Adjutant Simms and wife are residing at 1008 Price street, and will conduct the usual services at the barracks tomorrow at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and Natural Gas Burning in the Marvine Mine-Gymnastic Class for Ladies-Church Services and Other Notes of Interest.

Although Scranton cannot boast of very great supply of natural gas, yet there is one place in the city where it flows in abundance. At the Marvin mines, in the Clark vein, back beneath the mountain, a sufficient quantity of the gas is flowing constantly. When this never failing supply of gas was discovered the mine foreman concluded to make some substantial use of it. He had a well built up around the issure from which the gas was flowing, forming a sort of tank or chamber. A two-inch pipe was run from this reserolr to the "foot" then up the shaft to the fire rooms and engine house, In the former six jets were placed and in the engine room the same number. Three jets were placed in the "friction" house and six at the foot of the shaft and each inside planes.

The total number of twenty-one jets thus illuminate the entire plant from source over a mile away. Those who have never seen natural gas used for practical purposes would find it a novel sight in the mines,
