MERITS OF THE CAUSE. There is no disposition on the part of The Tribune to criticize any one connected with the regiment in presenting this important matter to its readers. As to the merits of the cause which led to these effects it says nothing. All that is said when heeded does it that there is no likelihood of the Thirteenth regiment reorganizing, because of respectable minorities encountered during the campaign.

CHILDREN WITH MATCHES. Cause a Fire Which Might Have Been Destructive. Some children who were playing with matches set fire to the lace curtains at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning in a room at the residence at 625 North Washington avenue, occupied by H. Bradley and family. While one of the members of the family tried to smother the flames another sent a still alarm to the Phoenix Chemical company. The firemen used wet carpets and extinguished the flames in a few moments. A piano and the walls and woodwork were scorched and the curtains destroyed. The damage will amount to about $50.

THIRTEENTH IS NOT TO BE REORGANIZED

THERE ARE TWO INSURMOUNTABLE OBSTACLES.

One of Them Is That the Volunteers Would Not Amalgamate with the Provisional Guardsmen and the Other Is That with Even the Eleventh Regiment Out of the Way the Thirteenth Could Not Be Brought Together—Disbanding of Provisional Companies Contemplated.

Answering a question that is now being generally asked, it is safe to say that the Thirteenth regiment ceased to exist for all time on last Saturday. Colonel Coorsen is heartily in favor of reorganizing his command and having it made a part of the national guard, and the men, as a rule, would wish it possible to perpetuate the organization, but in view of all circumstances, it is hardly within the sphere of probability that such a thing will eventuate.

Under the arrangement prescribed by the national guard authorities the only plan under which the Thirteenth could be accepted in the national guard would require its amalgamation with the Eleventh.

At first glance, this, it would seem offers no serious obstacle. The eight companies of the Eleventh and the four local companies of the Thirteenth could be accommodated in a new, three-battalion organization; the other companies of the Eleventh could be attached to some down-the-state regiment, the 31st, for instance; the two Horsehold companies could be split up and one placed at Carbondale which, with its vicinity, furnished a goodly part of the volunteer company E, and last but not least one of the two colonels could be provided with a division or brigade office that would continue him in his rank, while the other would have charge of the regiment.

ALLOTMENT OF OFFICERS. The allotment of the other officers could be quite easily regulated, as the cutting off of the distant companies would carry with it the cutting off of all regimental officers not residents of the territory covered by the organization that would comprise the amalgamated regiment.

This, however, is not at all likely to occur, even if the volunteers were amalgamated with the provisional guard, and a thing which, it is well understood, they would not be overly ready to do.

There is a difficulty, an almost insurmountable one, that would have to be overcome before the matter of amalgamation presented itself for consideration. That difficulty lies within the line of the Thirteenth itself. Only two companies, or at the most, three, could be reorganized, according to an authority that, if only mentioned, would need no surety. If corroboration was wanted the conversation of the men since their return would furnish it.

Disaffection between officers and men and a want of harmony among the officers, it is veritable, but necessary to state, brought about this condition of affairs. Whether or not there was sufficient cause in every instance for the disaffection is not to be tried out here, but that there of a serious nature is unquestionable.

Very serious are the strained relations between the officers in an aspect, because they are now disposed as a rule that the men, but they exist and it can be positively stated their nature is not trivial.

There is no disposition on the part of The Tribune to criticize any one connected with the regiment in presenting this important matter to its readers. As to the merits of the cause which led to these effects it says nothing. All that is said when heeded does it that there is no likelihood of the Thirteenth regiment reorganizing, because of respectable minorities encountered during the campaign.

The following Associated Press dispatch was sent out from Harrisburg last night. It bears the marks of having been carefully edited before being furnished to the news agency. It does not say much and could be described quite appropriately in the one word "pious."

A careful reading gives the intimation that the strict policy contemplated a modification in the policy first given out as to how the old volunteer regiments would be dealt with.

This new policy is indefinitely indicated in the dispatch. Be it what it may, the local companies outlined above will not be altered by it. The dispatch reads as follows:

Harrisburg, March 14.—General orders were issued today from the headquarters of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, announcing that the organizations comprising the National Guard of Pennsylvania will be inspected in their quarters at an early date as possible.

Mrs. Ann Logan on old resident of this city, died at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning at her residence, 572 North Sumner avenue. Mrs. Logan was 61 years of age and was a sufferer from heart disease. She was a woman of many excellent traits of character. The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock Thursday. Services will be held at St. Patrick's church, at 9 o'clock. The remains will be taken to White Haven on the 10th Central train.

THE OLD WAY.

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or by greatly diminishing the quantity usually taken, in other words, the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because the stomach itself starves every organ and every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia.

In other words, the patient takes plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him. In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents per full sized package at all drug stores.

A little book on stomach diseases mailed free by addressing P. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

The companies that entered the United States service and have been mustered out and returned to the national guard have not yet been uniformed and equipped and will therefore be inspected as to the physical condition of the men and general appearance of the organization.

Company commanders of the Seventh, Eleventh, Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first regiments will furnish the names of all men who have been borne upon the rolls of the company since its organization, accounting for all losses by death, desertion, discharge, etc. They will also present for inspection all state property issued to the command and account for same on a return of state property.

The organizations of the guard that entered the United States service in the war of 1898 have all been mustered out and returned to their homes with the exception of the Tenth regiment, which is still serving in the Philippine island and continues to report home upon itself.

The muster out of the United States service of organizations formerly of the guard and the re-instatement of the same to the national guard is a necessary and binding of some of the organizations is required and organized to take their places. Organizations that are disbanded will be re-instatement in future.

In disbanding these organizations, Governor Stone consents to every officer and soldier to receive his full pay and gratuity and to be discharged with honor.

ALL APPLICATIONS HAVE BEEN HEARD

LICENSE COURT AJOURNED UNTIL FRIDAY.

When It Meets on That Day the Court Will Hand Down the Licenses It Has Decided to Issue. Fred Weichel, Jr., of South Abington Withdrew His Application. Fight Made Against the License of P. J. Conway, of North Washington Avenue.

Before noon yesterday court had disposed of all the applications for liquor licenses and on Friday it will meet to hand down the licenses granted.

When court adjourned Monday afternoon it had reached South Abington on the list of applications. There was strong objection to the granting of a license to Fred Weichel, Jr., in that township, and the court met yesterday the application for a license was withdrawn.

There was as usual a protest against the granting of a license to Charles Lee, of Waverly, but this year the attack was milder than ever before. The objections were directed entirely against the locality of the license and the license and after they were heard yesterday it was seen that no great injury had been wrought to Mr. Lee's case.

The remonstrance against the license of John Minarki, of the Third ward of Dickson City, was heard. Five witnesses were examined on the part of the remonstrance and they swore that Minarki does not observe the law, among other things specifying that he sold liquor on election day. This was denied by Minarki and his four witnesses and it was shown that the complaint against Minarki was the outgrowth of a fight for the office of constable.

OTHER REMONSTRANCES. Remonstrances were also filed to the license of John Mako and George Forio, of the Third ward of Dickson City. There were no witnesses present to sustain the facts set forth in the remonstrance and the court listened to the remarks of the counsel for and against the application.

Exceptions to the license of Joseph Fleisher, of Troop, which were filed last Friday, were heard. It was shown that the license was issued in violation of the law and that the license was void.

This year court disposed of the license applications more expeditiously than ever before since the new license law went into effect.

One of the interesting remonstrances heard was that against P. J. Conway, of North Washington avenue. It was featured by a very lively bill between Mr. Conway and Attorney Nathan Vidaver, who represented the remonstrator, Wilmer E. Hoffman.

Mr. Hoffman swore that during the months of November and December he had purchased and drunk beer and whisky in Conway's house on Sunday and that at the time he was not of age. He also stated that he had at one time rented from Conway and that the latter had caused him to be sold out.

CORROBORATED HOFFMAN. Elmer Stuplos, a nineteen-year-old boy, testified that he had bought liquor at the hotel several times among the latter Sunday being prominent. George Brock, a brother-in-law of Hoffman, corroborated the testimony of the two preceding witnesses and swore that he had bought and drunk in the place on Sunday. He was only 19 years of age. E. E. Hoffman, father of the remonstrator, swore that he had bought and seen liquor sold in Conway's place. Mr. Conway denied selling on Sunday and selling to minors.

Klondike Bowling Club. The following well-known Scrantonians yesterday applied for a charter for the Klondike Bowling club: John Lenzer, Henry O. Doehler, Adam Lehigh, Frank Becker, Emil Bonn, Henry Boetche and John Demuth.

The object of the club is social enjoyment and it will encourage bowling and other athletic sports.
