ASHLEY IN TROUBLE.

Firebrags and Desperados Seem to Be Running Amuck.
It has been often said that Chicago was burned down in 1837 as the result of a premeditated plan of the thugs and desperados who infested the city in those days. Now the citizens of Ashley, a little town in Luzerne county, are wondering whether they will have to pass through similar experiences. The awful work of what is supposed to be the results of incendiarism not only in Ashley but in Nanticoke, a neighboring town, was recounted exclusively in yesterday's Tribune.

Now comes the story of lone citizens being boldly held up, beaten and robbed. This crowning series of crime is laid at the doors of a gang led by two fellows, Edward Rowe and Daniel Henry, familiarly known as "Reddy" and "Dublin Dan." The latter is now under arrest and Howe is being hunted.
Both are charged with brutally assaulting Charles Skimmerhorn early Monday evening.

TWO BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

First Cases to Come from Susquehanna County.
Two petitions in bankruptcy from Susquehanna county were referred by Judge Horton, of the United States District court, to Referee C. A. Van-Wormer, of this district, Tuesday. E.
C. Raitt, a merchant of Great Bend, and R. O. Bunnell, a farmer, of Rush, are the petitioners. Both cases are voluntary. The liabilities in the first case are $2,000, with no assets. In the second case, the liabilities are a little less than $1,000 and the assets are nothing.
These are the first cases to arise in Susquehanna county since the passage of the new bankruptcy law. Susquehanna has not as yet been attached to any district. The reference to Mr. Van-Wormer was made at the request of the petitioners.

Another hearing in the Tucker & Maxey bankruptcy proceedings was had before Referee Van Wormer yesterday. The witnesses examined were a number of the parties who, according to the statements of Tucker & Maxey, took goods from their stock in payment of debts. If it can be established that the goods were accepted when there was reasonable cause to believe that Tucker & Maxey were about to become insolvent the goods will have to be accounted for by the parties who so received them.

Those examined yesterday were Henry Box, of Forest City; N. E. Tiffany, C. Dickhorn, E. C. Harndon, John Lynch and W. T. Morgan, of Carbondale; Charles Sanker, of Scranton, and John Williamson, of Wilkes-Barre.
Attorney R. D. Stuart, trustee for the creditors, conducted the examination.
The next hearing will occur Tuesday, March 14.

SOLDIERS QUARANTINED.

Members of the Thirteenth Regiment Held in New York Harbor.
There was almost a wailing and gnashing of teeth aboard the coast line steamer "Seminole" last night as she lay out in New York harbor under the ban of quarantine. Aboard the steamer were its other passengers were seventy-five ex-members of the famous Thirteenth regiment, and those self-same seventy-five men were wildly anxious to get on land.

The quarantine was not placed upon the steamer because of sickness, but because a heavy fog enveloped everything all day yesterday and last night and moving about in the harbor was too dangerous. Many of the men were to have arrived here at 8:50 o'clock last night, but a telegram sent here to L.
P. Brink from the steamship agency in New York explains the delay and also stated that the vessel would not arrive until not get up to her dock before this afternoon.

ODD FELLOWS IN CONVENTION.

Nominations Made for District Deputy Grand Master.
A. A. Vosburg, of Lincoln lodge, of the North End, and Charles F. Van Nort, of Robert Burns lodge, of the central city, were placed in nomination yesterday afternoon for the office of district deputy grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at a district convention held in Odd Fellows' hall, Westinghouse avenue.
The convention was made up of two past grand masters of each lodge in the district and was presided over by the present grand master, David Cadogan, of Silurian lodge, West Scranton.
The election will be participated in by all the past grand masters of the district. Each set will do its own voting the last meeting of its lodge this month.
The office is eagerly sought for, as this is one of the largest and most influential districts in the country.

CLEANING UP THE STREETS.

Fifteen Teams and Fifty Extra Men Engaged in the Work.
Street Commissioner P. J. O'Boyle is engaged in giving the city its annual spring cleaning. Fifteen teams and an extra force of fifty men are at work clearing up the winter's accumulation of dirt on the paved streets.
A month will be required to do the work properly, Mr. O'Boyle estimates.
The heavy work of that carting away the icy crust on the paved streets, will be finished in a couple of days. After that will come the sweeping of the pavements, the cleaning of alleys and the like. There is a little over a thousand dollars left in the appropriation for this work and this, Mr. O'Boyle thinks, will suffice to give the streets a good cleaning.

TWO MORE DIVORCES ASKED.

Unhappy Women Want the Marriage Bond Dissolved.
Two more divorces were applied for yesterday. Mrs. Mary Reupert, of Carbondale, and Mrs. Caroline Umbine, of this city, are the persons who desire the legal separation from their unhappy other halves. During the year 1988 the courts of this county granted thirty-seven absolute divorces, the largest number for a single year in the history of the county.

Mrs. Reupert before her marriage on May 2, 1887, to Charles Reupert, was Miss Mary Bell. They lived together at Carbondale until October, 1897, when Mrs. Reupert says that life with her husband became intolerable and she was compelled to leave him. It is set forth by her that he is addicted to drunkenness, fails to provide for her and was very abusive to her.
Mrs. Umbine was married March 28, 1889, to Louis Umbine and on July 25, 1891, he deserted her and has since persisted in his desertion.

The road bed and tracks of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway are the best laid in America. They are so smooth and level that there is absolutely no jar or jolt, so disagreeable on most railroads. Not only does this make travel more pleasant and easy, but it enables passengers to read without injuring their eye sight. Passengers travelling from Boston, New York, Buffalo and intermediate points western cities should make it a point

PARAGRAPHS ABOUT MEN OF THE HOUR

L. B. STILLWELL CALLED TO AN IMPORTANT POSITION.

Has Been Made Head of the Electrical Department of the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company of New York—Charles Hamilton Has Returned to the City—Important Undertaking of Adam Reinhardt in Old Forge Township—New Way of Making Public Improvements.

L. B. Stillwell, formerly of this city, has been appointed electrical engineer of the Manhattan Elevated Railway company of New York city. Mr. Stillwell is a son of Richard Stillwell of Jefferson avenue and a brother of Lieutenant Colonel E. W. Stillwell, of the Thirteenth regiment. Though not yet 35 years of age, Mr. Stillwell is one of the best known electrical engineers in America. The confidence the Manhattan people have in him is demonstrated by his selection for the important position of directing the work of substituting electricity for steam as a motive power on the extensive elevated railway system in New York. It is one of the largest undertakings in an electrical way ever attempted in America.

Mr. Stillwell spent his youth in this city and received his early education here. At Wesleyan University he completed his general studies, and having been strongly attracted by electricity, which was then on the threshold of its wonderful career, he went to Lehigh University and took up the study of the new force. Before completing the electrical engineering course he became ill and had to leave the university. When he recovered he was engaged by the Westinghouse company and entered their large establishment at Pittsburg, where he soon demonstrated that he had a positive genius for grappling with the many problems which the practical application of the new force to the varied purposes for which it was desired to use it brought to the surface.

When during minds conceived the idea of harnessing the power of Niagara Falls, an Englishman in a general way devised the plan of the immense dynamo that are used there. It was left to the electrical engineer to work out the details and produce a practical, useful machine. Mr. Stillwell had charge of this work for the Westinghouse company and his plans were accepted by the company. He was engaged to take charge of the machinery in that wonderful power house at Niagara, which is one of the marvels of the world and is visited by electricians from all parts of the earth.

Mr. Stillwell had charge of the installing of the plant in this city, and it is to be impressed the directors of the Cataract company that they induced him to remain with them after the plant was started as the electrical director of the company. The Westinghouse company was asked to supply the machinery and he was made a consulting engineer of that company. When the Manhattan Elevated people decided to use electricity on that road as a motive power they selected Mr. Stillwell as the person to take charge of the arrangements which were closed by which he became the head of the electrical department of that company. For the present he will divide his time between Niagara, where his home is, and New York city. Later he will probably withdraw from connection with the Cataract company, save in the capacity of consulting engineer.

Charles Hamilton, who was a member of Company B, of the Thirteenth regiment, has returned to this city and resumed his old position as door-keeper at the Academy of Music. Every afternoon and evening he is greeted by hundreds of his old friends who are pleased to see him again handling the pasteboards at the door of the Academy. Mr. Hamilton did not join the guard until about the time the war broke out. Like hundreds of other patriotic young men he was anxious to do a little fighting for Uncle Sam and he thought, as almost everybody did at that time, that the shortest road to the front was by the national guard route, and so he enlisted in Company B.

At Camp Alger the insidious malaria fever made an attack upon him that brought him to the brink of the grave. After he recovered sufficiently to be able to move to this city, this shadow of his former self. His robust constitution was his salvation and gradually all traces of the fever were banished and he became his own vigorous self again. He rejoined his company at Camp Meade and went with it to Camp Keegan. The south has agreed with him admirably, if his appearance now is fair evidence to base a judgment upon.

Adam Reinhardt, who lives in Old Forge township, is going to make a move in the direction of practical reform from down in that primitive municipality. To be exactly correct, the move has already been made, but the results to be obtained from it are yet to be determined. For a long time the large property owners of that township have felt that the sums of money they were assessed in the way of road taxes were not properly expended and they

GOVERNOR STONE SENDS ACCEPTANCE

HE WILL BE PRESENT AT THE THIRTEENTH'S RECEPTION.

Lieutenant Governor Gobin and the Governor's Military Staff Will Also Be in Attendance—Ninth Regiment, P. V. I., Votes to Come Up and Participate—Meeting of the General Committee This Afternoon to Further the Arrangements for the Parade.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock in the board of trade rooms the general committee having charge of the reception to the Thirteenth will meet to further the arrangements for the parade, banquet and reception. Each sub-committee is expected to be ready to present its plans for approval and the entire programme of the day, it is thought, will be made up.

Secretary Charles E. Daniels will read a letter of acceptance received yesterday from Governor Stone and will also report that he was personally notified by Lieutenant Governor Gobin that he will be in attendance. The governor's letter reads as follows:

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 15, 1899.
Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your favor of the 11th inst., inviting me to be present at the banquet and reception to be given in honor of the Thirteenth regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, on the evening of Thursday, the 23d inst. I shall be very glad, indeed, to be present on that occasion, and deliver a short address, as per request. If you desire me to talk upon any particular subject kindly let me know. Very truly yours, William A. Stone.

To Charles E. Daniels, Secretary Reception Committee, Scranton, Pa.
General Gobin's acceptance was conveyed personally to Mr. Daniels, when the latter was in Harrisburg Tuesday. The governor will be accompanied by his military staff of twenty-one men, who arrived yesterday. The Thirteenth regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, of Wilkes-Barre, or at least a good part of it, will also attend. At a meeting in their armory Tuesday night, the invitation from the Scranton committee was accepted and it was decided to make a strenuous effort to secure a big turnout. A. B. D. and F. will attend in full numbers and it is likely the Parsons, Plymouth and Pittston companies will also participate. The Ninth regiment band and drum corps will be asked to join in the parade. Colonel E. H. Hippel, the marshal, will likely make known the line of march and other information relative to the parade arrangements.

AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR.

Night School Pupils Conduct an Entertainment.
The pupils of the night school conducted at public school No. 4, on Caspouse avenue, and of which Miss Lynn had charge, conducted exercises Tuesday evening, the occasion being the closing of the term. It proved to be an enjoyable affair.
The exercises consisted of solos by the Misses Anna O'Rourke and Kathryn Crowley; recitations by the Misses Nellie Roche, Mary Hennigan, Katherine Flaherty, Emma Morring and Bernice Shields. Select readings were given by the Misses Gertrude Conroy, Anna McLean and Anna Mangano. Several choruses were sung by the pupils.

WEDDING AFFAIR.

Ceremony Performed in the Parlor of the Excelsior Social Club.
A large number of intimate friends and relatives witnessed the marriage of Miss Rose Landau, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Landau, of 727 Jefferson avenue, to Max Schwartz, of New York city, Wednesday evening. The ceremony occurred at 6 o'clock in the artistically decorated main parlor at the Excelsior Social club, on North Washington avenue.
The bride, handsomely attired, was attended by her sisters, the Misses Pauline, Hanna and Harriet Landau. C. L. Lafcourt, of New York city, acted as best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests enjoyed the banquet, followed by dancing, for which Bauer's orchestra furnished the music. At midnight Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz left here on a wedding tour to include Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Boston. They will reside in New York city.

WHOOPIING MONROETTES.

Apparent Epidemic of Whooping Cough Among the Children.
It is reported on the authority of a statement made by Medical Inspector Dr. W. E. Gregory that there are at present over 300 cases of whooping cough in Scranton and in East Stroudsburg and over a thousand in the whole county. The disease seems to have secured a firm hold.
Judging from the fact that the cough has a nine-weeks' start and a nine-weeks' finish the time in which the place will be "whooping it up" will be long indeed. Dr. Gregory recommends extreme care as the cough is apt to affect the respiratory organs to a serious degree.

TO RUN SUNDAY TRAINS.

Schedules for the New Service on the Lackawanna Road Being Prepared—To Go Into Effect This Week.

"The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad has long had the undesired reputation of running no trains on Sunday," said yesterday's New York Tribune. "Instead of its keeping the day holy so scrupulously, it has run a newspaper train from New York and a milk train from New York on its Morris and Essex branch every Sunday, and has had a peculiar sort of Sunday service on the main line. Every Sunday six trains leave Hoboken on the main line, and five on the city line. Each train carries a dozen or so milk cars, with a smoking-car trailing on behind, and sometimes other passenger coaches. These trains are not advertised to make stops, and most of the people along the line do not know that they carry passengers. The man who 'knows the ropes' can get aboard any of these trains at his station, but must pay his fare to the conductor, as none of the stations are open on Sunday."

"While the Lackawanna has had its Sunday trains, the service was by no means adequate, and Samuel Sloan, the former president of the Lackawanna, would not agree to any improvements in the service, expressing himself as strongly opposed to Sunday trains. In consequence the people of the Orange, Montclair, Bloomfield, Summit, Morristown and other populous suburban towns suffered no little inconvenience.

"This is to be remedied at once. It was announced in this city yesterday that the new president of the Lackawanna, W. H. Truesdale, has decided to establish a Sunday service on the Morris and Essex branch, beginning next Sunday.

"Superintendent Reesner, at his office in Hoboken, intimated that there would be no additional suburban trains, the terminal points of which will be South Orange, Montclair, Morristown, Dover and Washington, giving a complete Sunday suburban service on all the branches of the Morris and Essex. There will also be additional local trains on the main line. The schedule of trains has not yet been completed, but it will be announced before Saturday. If more trains are needed later they will be put on.

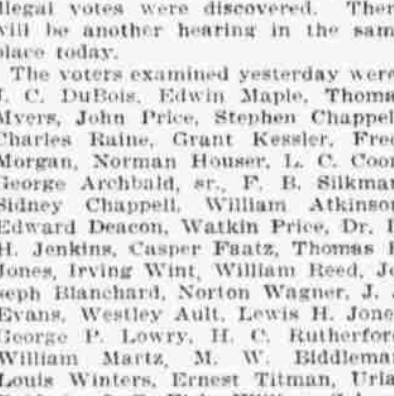

"It is also said that Truesdale is considering the advisability of putting on a special fast limited train to Buffalo on the plan of the New York Central's Empire State express. The Pennsylvania limited and the Lehigh Valley Black Diamond. The name for the new train has not been decided upon. Mr. Truesdale has made an inspection of the Lackawanna system, and yesterday expressed himself as highly gratified at the condition of the road."

THIEVES HIS COMPANIONS.

Runaway Pine Brook Lad Picked Up by the Police.
Henry Crane, a 17-year-old Pine Brook lad, who ran away from home a week ago, was picked up on Penn avenue yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Duggan. His mother, who has been anxiously searching for him, pointed him out to the officer. He stated at the station house that he has been sleeping in a shanty near the Delaware and Hudson freight depot on Wyoming avenue, and that his companions were tramps who made nightly sorties and returned usually with quantities of food and brass. He denied knowing who they are, but the police believe he is not telling the whole truth and will give him a further examining today.
