MENTION OF SOME MEN OF THE HOUR

CAPTAIN FRANK ROBLING RE-SUMES HIS OLD OFFICE.

Today He Again Becomes Head of Police Department-Raymond W. Hardenburgh, of Honesdale, Honored by President-James Archbald's Advice Largely Influenced L. B. Stillwell to Take Up the Study of Electricity-Hospital Orderly Dougherty, "The Oracle."

Captain Frank Robling will resum his position at the head of the police department today and there is a strong probability that he will remain there or the next three years at least. When Captain Robling first took up the duties of chief of police he had scant knowledge of the requirements of the posi-tion, or what authorities with refer ence to police work consider the best method of doing things. But he pos-sessed shrewd common sense and enrgy and soon had a firm grasp on the duties of his office. His success at the head of the police department was greater than even his warmest friends had hoped for, and leads to the belief that much excellent work may be expected from him in the future. Captain Moir, who will become mayor of the city on the first Monday in April, and Captain Robling have for eurs been fast friends. When Captain foir was in command of Company C the Thirteenth regiment, Robling as one of his lieutenants and suc veded Captain Moir as commander of the company. The strong bond of friendship between the men, coupled ecutions against their ignorant debtors with the fact that Captain Robling to enforce settlements was carried to as just returned from the service of his country, are pointed to by those of Miners Mills, it would appear from close to the mayor-elect as strong evilence that he will remain at the head f his department during Mayor Moir's rm of office, although they are mem ers of different political households.

Raymond W. Hardenburgh, who was last week made a second lieutenant of arrest before 'Squire Ross, the United States regular army by One week ago Saturday a President McKinley, is a son of Senator E. H. Hardenburgh, of Honesdale, and one of the five young Pennsylvanians honored by the president with appointments under the provisions of the army reorganization bill. He is a graduate of the Pennsylvania Military cademy at Chester, and since his early youth has had a taste for military life When the war broke out he was a corporal of Company E, of Honesdale, and ntered the services of the United States in that capacity when the Thircenth regiment became a member of note Sam's volunteer army. While the regiment was at Camp Aler there was an urgent call for engineers and young Hardenburgh, who longed for active service, was transferred to the Third regiment of United States Ve unteer Engineers, which was then being recruited. He was made sergeant major, and after the work of recruiting had been completed, was onored with a second lieutenant's ommission, which is now made a commission of equal rank in the regular army. Lieutenant Hardenburgh is lo-cated at Pinar del Rio, Cuba, with his egiment. His letters from that place ndicate that he likes the country and the service in which he is engaged.

It was largely through the advice of James Archbald, who is at the head of Officers came here and found colthe engineering department of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western on a charge of larceny preferred by his attention to the study of electricity. Mr. Archbald had the keenness to perceive the bent of the young man's mind and it is due in some measure to his foresight that the world of electrical research was given one of the brightest minds that is today solving the innumerably knotty problems the practical application of electricity involves. Mr. Stillwell, it will be remembered, was last week selected as the head of the electrical department of the Manhattan Elevated Railway company, of New York. He prepared for college with one of Mr. Archbald's sons under the tutoring of L. G. LaBar, then principal of the Scranton High school. Soon after entering the employ of the Westinghouse company at Pittsburg, Mr. Stillwell in-vented a light regulator which has been widely adopted and has proved of great value. Since he became electrical di-rector of the Cataract Power company Stone and staff will also be present. at Niagara Falls he devised the plan by which the power of the company is Hudson as follows: arried along overhead wires a distance of twenty-one miles to the city of Buffalo. It is also used for illuminating Tonawanda and other towns in the vicinity of Buffalo. Much of the colossal work at Niagara power plant was done in conjunction with DeCourcey May, who is now associated with the Dickson Manufacturing company of this city.

The Lackawanna hospital has an orderly who is somewhat of a marvel. The doctors of the hospital refer to him as "the oracle," His name is Richard Dougherty, and he has been night orderly at the hospital for several rears. A mighty good one he is, too. Although Orderly Dougherty knows little about the theory of medicine and has only the fragmentary knowledge of anatomy his presence in the operating rooms has given him, he seems to possess an intuition that enables him to make predictions that the learned physicians could not deduce from their exact scientific knowledge.

"How long do you think the nationt will live" said one of the hospital physicians one day, as he observed the orderly watching with deep interest a man whose case was known to be hopeless and who was patiently waiting the final summons.

"I don't think he can last longer than Thursday," replied the orderly. It was then Tuesday. At 3 o'clock Thursday morning the spirit of the sufferer passed to the great beyond. When Gleason, the burglar, who was shot by Postmaster Hauser at Delaware Water Gap, was brought to the hospital the surgeons realized at once that he was a grievously wounded man but hoped his strong constitution might enable him to win his way back to health. The orderig, however, felt that Gleason was a doomed man and confided his fears to the surgeons. Many similar instances prove that Orderly Dougherty is at least a shrewd guesser and around the hospital there is growing respect for the opinion of the quiet, unobtrusive little man who al-ways seems to be just where he is needed and is never in the way.

Wilkes-Barre Wife Deserter Arraigned Before Caustic Justice.

William Barber, of Wilkes-Barre, emloyed as a machinist in this city, was arrested here last Friday on a war-rant is-sued by the far-famed Squire Donohue, of Wilkes-Barre, Barber was charged with desertion and non-support y his wife who is still residing in the above city. A constable took Barber from this city to the alderman for a The latter remarked upor Barber's stylish clothing and asked why he did not also wear diamonds. At the hearing Mrs. Barber stated that her husband has not been near or or assisted her and the children ince January, 1898. The husband simply said "she never asked for any noney." He was sent to fail for the night and next morning agreed to give ten dollars toward the support of his

As he was discharging him Squire Sonohue remarked to the prisoner: "It s your duty to support your wife and children without being asked. You will have to quit being a dude and buy less fancy togs for yourself and buy more ham and eggs for your children. #### HAD TRAMPS FOR HIS COMPANIONS

YOUNG WILLIAMS PICKED UP AT MAUCH CHUNK.

He Is the Son of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Williams, of Tenth Street, and for Some Time the Reason for His Disappearance from Home Was a Mystery-Gang of Tramps Found Him Very Useful to Them-Was Taken Into Custody by Officers.

Since word was received in this city egarding the whereabouts of the runway son of Mr. and Mrs. David F Williams, of 435 Tenth street, which was mentioned exclusively in Saturday's Tribune, more light has been shed on the boy's whereabouts. The following from the Mauch Chunk News gives an account of the lad's doings and his associations:

Through the efforts of Chief of Police Isaacs, of East Mauch Chunk, five of the hardest looking burns in the profession are locked up in the Carbon county jail on a charge of vagrancy. The men were all arrested Saturafternoon. Their arrest was brought about by means of a small boy whom the tramps had in their com-

Their method of working the boy who is an intelligent lad about 13 years of age, was by sending him out to beg He did a thriving business. At som houses his parents were dead and would the lady kindly give him a few pennies to help him support his little isters? At other places he said his father was dead and his mother very ill. He also carried a small quantity of linen thread on spools that he was selling. It has since been learned that the money he gathered during the day was spent evenings for beer. Their living they begged.

'Mr. Isaacs came across the lad on North street, East Mauch Chunk, and Hendquarters Eleventh Regiment Infanby close questioning got the whole story from him, as to who he was, what he was doing and who he was doing it for. He told Mr. Isaacs where to find the tramps.

"One of the number, a man giving the name of John Webber, was waiting for the boy in the vicinity of Beckhardt's shanty on River street. 'Squire Foster committed him to jull and soon afterwards Mr. Isaacs apprehended another at the east end of the East Mauch Chunk bridge. He was committed by Squire Beckhardt and gives the name of Amos Millard.

"A short time later Mr. Isaacs and Policeman Douglas McLean captured ment for the time being. On Mr. Isaacs' return to Susquehanna street he found No. 5, a man who, the boy says, goes by the name of Burns. There is only one more at large. The boy says his name is 'Whitey.' After the tramps were all in jail, Mr. Isaacs took the boy to his home, gave him supper and then handed him over to Sheriff Breswho is holding him. He is certainly a genuine hobo and confesses to having a liking for tramp life."

ANOTHER CAVE-IN

Roadway Along North Main Avenue Drops Into an Airway.

Patrolman Rodham, while walking slong North Main avenue about o'clock Saturday morning, discovered dred vards below the intersection with Green Ridge street, had disappeared, making a large hole directly beneath the Scranton Railway company's tracks. The hole is about twenty-five feet long, ten feet wide and fifteen feet

Watchman A. W. Woodward, of the West Ridge Coal company, was notified and found that the roof of the return airway which runs along the company's slope had fallen in, causing the cave in the street. The airway is only thirty feet below the surface. Mine Foreman Railway company were notified and danger signals were placed to prevent any person driving into the hole.

At daylight, the Railway company erected a trestle work and succeeded in getting their car service for points above in operation about 9.30 o'clock. Superintendent B, S. Kingsley, of the Coal company, had a gang of men put o work and the cave-in will be cleared away by tonight it is expected. The colliery, meanwhile, will be idle. City nection. Engineer Phillips has notified Street Commissioner O Boyle to direct that stone arches be placed in the airway and the slope, both of which run beneath the avenue. This is to prevent further caving in the roadway especially after the proposed sewer and paves are in position. The company's efficials demur somewhat to this proposition, saying that to put in arches now would take sometime and delay traffic inside and outside. This work they say could be done later, just as well.

Larger Engines Are to Be Put In Use-No More of the Present Type of Engines Are to Be Constructed. What Will Constitute a Run on the Northern Division Has Not Yet Been Determined - New Policy Means Fewer Engines and En-

In line with the policy of retrenchent in operating expenses inaugurated by President Truesdale, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western sys tem of haulage is to undergo a complete and decided change. Larger engines and larger hauls is the epitome of the new president's idea in this regard. At present the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western engines are of ordinary size, carrying a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch. No more of these engines are to be built. All the present models are to be discarded and every new engine will be the largest type, being capable of carrying a pressure of two hundred pounds.

Without waiting for the new engines to supplant the present one, larger runs for engines will be put in vegue. At present engines are relayed about five hours on first-class trains and about every eight hours on second and third-class trains.

Scranton and Washington are the relay points on the main line at present, Under the new system there will be no relays between Scranton and Hoboken. What will constitute a continuous run north of Scranton has not yet been re-These longer hauls will, of course, mean fewer engines and less engineers and firemen. As may be believed, there is no end of worry among the present crews as to whom the cutting down will affect.
