Suit Is Being Heard Before Judge Archbald-Witness Who Were on the Stand Yesterday - Bonds of Constables Approved - Opinions Handed Down by Judge Gunster. Meeting of Grand Jury and Returns of Constables - Rehearing Refused in Banfield License Case.

The quarterly term of equity court began yesterday, with Judge Archbald on the bench. Only one case was taken up yesterday and it will probably consume the time of the court for the greater part of today. The Acme Coul company is the plaintiff and Jacob W. Strind and George F. Chamberlain de-

Caryl and Charles Wallack, coal inspectors, and William Griffith, of West Pittston, who has attracted a good deal of attention by his statistics with reference to anthracite coal. He is a stockholder of the Acme company, Attorney S. B. Price appears for the Acme company and Attorneys W. A. Wilcox and John P. Kelly for the defendants.

Five Opinions Filed.

In an opinion handed down yesterday Judge Gunster dismissed the demurrer to the bill in equity in the case of Daniel M. Stinson, sole surviving executor of the last will and testament of Willard Parker, late of the city of New York, deceased, against Theodore G. Wolf and Everett Warren, surviving executors of the last will and testament of Dr. Benjamin H. Throop, deceased. The bill in equity was filed Jan 11 and in it the complainant asked the court for ar order to compel the defendants "to come to a just and fair account with the plaintiff for all moneys received by B. H. Throop on or account of the sale or leasing of any part of the surface of three tracts of land in Dunmore between and including the years 1854 and 1897, and that the defendants be required to pay the plaintiff such amount as upon account shall appear

Delightful bits of Paris are these spring suits with their sweeping skirts, smothered in over draperies on which deft hands have wrought artistic finishes. And the jacketsshorter than last season, and most jaunty, in their spring time freshness. Good, just to look upon, and and for that reason you'll want to peep among the new things which Paris and our own New York have prepared for your appreciation. And there's a word about the tailoring, which our suits have bestowed upon them, that deserves your attention. Whether it be on the $11.98 sorts, or those at $69.50 there's an evidence of expert knowledge even to the lesser details-those details which the makers of most costumes scimp for the sake of economy. But there's no scimping here; neither in the materials, in the making, or the finishing, But be an eye witness to these

Grand Jury Met.

The grand jury for the April term met yesterday morning in the main court room and was charged by Judge Archbald. George W. Finn of this city, was named as foreman and later the jurors selected Miles McAndrew, of Archbald, as their secretary, Only unimportant assault and battery and malicious mischief cares were con-sidered yesterday. From the number of bills now on hand for the jurous' consideration it is not likely they will complete their work this week.

Rehearing Is Refused.

Attorney E. C. Newcomb yesterday porning made an application before the three judges for a re-hearing in the case of Edward Banfield, who was last week refused a license for the hotel adjoining the Odd Fellows hell in Dunmore. Inasmuch as it was an old house Mr. Newcomb argued that the court ought to permit a full hearing of the facts before finally denying the license Court took the papers and in the afternoon Judge Archbald announced that the application for a re-hearing had been refused.
