EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

FORMER PASTOR PREACHED AT THE SIMPSON CHURCH.

Rev. R. W. Van Schoick, of Michigan Greets Many Old Friends Here-His Sermon Was an Able Effort-Chose His Text from the Notes of Churches and Societies.

Rev. R. W. Van Schoick, a former paster of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, occupied the pulpit last evening, and was greeted by an audience that completely filled all the available space in the edifice. twenty-five years since the Rev. Mr. Van Scholek first came to this city, and after spending three years at Simpson church he went to the Provi-dence church, and after three years' service there, returned here for anoth-

During the sixteen years that he has been away from the church he has never forgotten the many kindnesses shown him, and his popularity was demonstrated in the reception he received last evening. It took the form of an evation. The paster, Rev. J. B. read the scripture lesson and Rev. Harned offered prayer. Rev. Mr. Van Schoick took his text the fifty-second chapter of Isaian, and the seventh verse, "How Beautiful Are the Feet of Him That Bringeth Good Tidings." The message applied to everyone, he said, but there is a largely prevailing habit among people of getting morbid and looking ppon the dark sides of life. Many are too anxious to Bring cell instead of good reports. This is largely the result of our environments and educa-Childhood, the most beautiful fear, and a good illustration of this is given in Eugene Field's poem "Seeing Frof. Clark S. Thomas was in charge of Things at Night." Some foolish nurse the musi or parent put these ideas into the child's mind.
