THE FIRST DAY OF THE CONFERENCE

BUSINESS TRANSACTED AT THE THREE SESSIONS.

Rev. J. B. Sweet Was Again Honored by an Election to the Office of Secretary of the Conference. Standing Committees Named-A New Committee This Year Looking Toward Enlarged Work Among Men by Means of the Brotherhood of St. Paul,

The annual sessions of the Wyoming Methodist conference opened yesterday morning in the Methodist Episcopal church, Kingston, with the Sacrament the Lord's supper, conducted by Bishop John P. Newman and the cabinet of presiding elders. Bishop Newman has been seriously ill and is exceedingly feeble. Indeed his condition does not warrant the severe strain of presiding over a large conference, and t was announced that today Bishop Joyce would be present to assist.

The Methodist church, in which the conference is held, has recently been emodeled and is a large, handsome edifice. The fine new organ fills the rear of the auditorium. The sessions are unusually well attended and a their names at roll call.

Rev. J. B. Sweet, the popular secretary for the past two years was relected without opposition. Assistant Secretaries John W. Nicholson, of Waverly, N. Y.; T. M. Furey, of Mountain Top; statistical secretary, urer, G. Parto Stone, Forest City; assistants, C. C. Vrooman, W. W. Wat-rous, A. D. Lond, J. S. Custard, Clark Callender: detailed missionary report, D S. MacKeller,

Dr. John H. Race introduced a resolution welcoming Rishop Newman, which was unanimously adopted. Bishop gracefully responded, in which he thanked the conference for its enthusiastic greeting, as three of the tume of satin with silk trimmings. At | bishops are incapacitated by illness he found it necessary to come, although he was not really well enough. He by the serving of a bountiful post had crossed the continent nine times in eleven months in Episcopal work. He believed it possible for even a Methodist elergyman to travel too much. This conference has a glorious historical record, may it have a new baping young lady and Professor Cousins | tism and may its evangelical element s a musician and composer of some never die out.

GAVEL PRESENTED.

Rev. O. L. Severson, of Plymouth, hen presented the bishop with a gavd and a dressed stone from a house in Flymouth where the first preaching of Methodism in the valley was held in 1759. The house was built in 1783 and is still used as a dwelling. The gifts are, at the close of the conference, to pass into the custody of the Historical The stone artisan found it difficult to repress the ruggedness in the stone but two sides are smooth and thus is represented the hard and rugged work of those early days of the saints whose religion was smooth and

Rev. Dr. M. S. Hard responded eloquently in accepting the souvenirs for he bishop and then introduced Bishop Newman's wife to the conference, afer which he spoke of the fact that the bishop had just celebrated his fiftieth one of the members of the conference, Rev. J. M. Wells, was a classmate of the bishop. Among others who antedated his service in the ministry were Revs. Parsons Bartlett, L. W. Peck, G. W. Leacock, S. G. Stevens and

The subject of the method to be observed in reporting missionary collections occasioned a prolonged discusdon, which was followed by animated argument over the one per cent, asessment of ministers' salaries for the uperanuates' fund. A resolution to abolish the tax failed to carry. It was stated that thirty-three members of the conference had neglected to pay their percentage. Rev. Dr. Merrow, the general secretary of the Bible society, was introterests of his work. A list of standing committees were reported. The last is new one recommended by Dr. Hard among men by means of the Brother-

> STANDS NEXT TO CHRIST. The speaker said that in his opinion

Paul will stand next to Christ in his He was one of those who kingdom. regarded opportunity as a call. Spain has stood in the way and the sword of America has opened a door to missionary work in the islands of the sea. God had also taken the British nation as a rod of iron this year in sending General Kitchener with the forces of civilization to the Soudan, Lord Kitchener has also originated the idea of founding a memorial college on the spot where Cordon, who was a thousand times more a saint than a soldier, fell in death. Russia will keep her hold on China and as long as she keeps that hold, England will also keep Roman Catholic icross the water sided with Spain in the Cuban war. There was much anxety at one time as to what stand the Roman Catholics in this country would take. To their everlasting credit be it said that when it came to a question of loyalty they stood by their country and resolved to hold up American instituions. In this country that church must with the Protestant church stand on its own merits. Said the speaker:

"I would not have that magnificent organization destroyed for the world, but I would bring it up before the light of American civilization of today and thus make it the mightiest power for good on earth."

He gave a very optimistle view of the future of Cuba and Philippines and spoke earnestly of the vast field now open to mission work.

Rev. Marcus D. Buell, D. D., dean of Boston Theological seminary, gave a lecture on the exegetical study of the Philippines. Dean Buell is a forcible speaker and his 4 o'clock lectures promise to be intensely interesting. He gave many practical ideas regarding the study of the Bible, asserting that it is of practically small value to read without understanding who wrote the passage under consideration, the circumstances and the place. He said that in reading the letter to the Philippians it is necessary to know four things: First, about that gift from Philippi to Paul; gecond, How Paul's arrival in Home affected the people; third, The division in the church; fourth, The two types of false teaching of which Paul spoke. It is necessary also to comprehend the strange and providential way in which Paul came to Philippi, the unique interest they took in his work and the particular conditions which surroundd birn.

The fact that Paul followed in his preaching Christ the bloody footprints of those whom he had formerly perseented was emphasized.

THE EVENING SESSION.

Dr. L. L. Sprague presided at the evening session, which was the Missionary society anniversary. Rev. Dr. A. J. Palmer made the address. Palmer was a soldier in the Civil war, and hes a famous record. He has a son in the Wesleyan University Glee

He spoke chiefly on the manner of raising and expending money for for-eign lands with 3,684 native workers, There are 489,000 American missionaries in foreign lands with 3.684 native workers. There are 5,000 home missionaries. The collections last year have been slow; $132,000 more money was raised than before. The Easter programmes were very popular, 475,000 copies having been sold. Incidentally Dr. Palmer spoke of the Pacific coast, and said that the reason of the comparative inactivity there is because of the high price of fuel and that the facilities for onveying it thither also was a hindrance to the missionary society. This afternoon will be devoted to the Historical society with an address by Dr. T. H. Pearce, and a lecture by This evening the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational society will be in charge with an address by Dr. Mason, the colored speaker.

WORKMEN HAD A

PLATFORM THEY HAD BEEN WORKING ON GAVE WAY.

At the Time This Occurred They Had Left the Platform and Were Standing on the Bunting-At First It Was Thought That a Carriage Had Fallen Down the Shaft-Fortunately No One Was Injured by the Fall of the Platform as No One Was at the Foot.

The night force of men employed in widening the main shaft of the Bellevue mine had a thrilling escape from injury and probable death while at work last night. The work is being pushed upward from the foot of the shaft, and is in progress on both sides of the double opening.

A large platform had been erected midway between the surface and the foot, upon which the workmen stand and cut the rock on either side. The men had been at work some time and were engaged in laying cross-beams from the "buntings." They were al! standing at different points in the "buntings" when suddenly a loud crash was heard and the noise sounded like the falling of a carriage from the head to the foot of the shaft.

Upon investigation it was discovered that the platform from which they ascended into the "buntings," had given away and was dashed to pieces at the foot of the shaft. Fortunately no one was standing on the platform or near the foot.
