IMPROVEMENTS IN VIEW.

Scranton Railway Company Will Re-lay Dunmore Suburban Tracks. Laurel Hill Line to Be Put in Shape—First Class Work.

Among the improvements contemplated by the Scranton Railway company in addition to those already announced is the relaying of Dunmore Suburban tracks from Marion street to the corners and the Laurel Hill tracks from the park to the corners. This sort of track is considered the relaying of the Main-avenue tracks is completed.

As soon as the paving contracts are executed the work of relaying the tracks on Providence road and North Main avenue and the portion of Sanderson avenue to be paved, will be started.

The most improved kind of track is to be laid on these streets. The rails are to be imbedded in concrete, riveted instead of bolted and held in place by iron braces instead of wooden ties and spikes. This sort of track is practically indestructible and makes what is really a solid continuous rail.

MEEHAN CAUSED TROUBLE.

Attorney Holgate Objected to His Re-examination.

Daniel Meehan, of Jermy, was the cause of a good deal of debate at yesterday’s hearing in the Langstaff-kelly contest. When Meehan was called, the court constantly last summer he made very ridiculous answers to the questions. When asked if he received anything for his vote he said: “Oh, yes! P. E. Timlin gave me a million dollars.”

“Have you naturalization papers?” asked Attorney Holgate. “No,” answered Meehan. “Where are they?” “I hung them on the moon,” was Meehan’s grave reply.

Yesterday he was called by the respondent again and if they are allowed to do it they can call in every man we have examined.”

“Their time is limited,” suggested Judge Edwards, “and will soon expire.”

“When they will ask for an extension saying they have not sufficient time to examine their witnesses,” answered Mr. Holgate.

“When they do the court will have something to say about the matter,” said Judge Edwards in a way that was full of meaning.

The following are the witnesses who were examined yesterday:

Scranton—William Casey, John Lally, Joseph Stafford, John Huff, Jacob Babr, John Spacc, George Spacc, Howard Gabriel, George E. Booth, Martin May.

Cordonale—Dennis Toddin, Patrick Healey.

Jermy—Daniel Meehan.
