APPOINTMENTS OF THE CONFERENCE

MADE JUST BEFORE THAT BODY ADJOURNED,

A Large Number of Changes Were Made-Report of the Committee eth Century Movement-Lively Debate Over the Report on "The State of the Country"-Resolutions Adopted with Reference to Rev. Dr. Hard-Other Matters Considered.

The Wyoming conference closed its sessions at Kingston yesterday. Naturally the matter that excited the greatest attention was the appointments. The appointments printed in yesterday's Tribune for the Wyoming district were practically correct.

It was announced before the close of the morning session that the appointments would not be read until all the business of the conference was concluded. In fact they were not read until 5.15, after the bishop had made an address, when as usual, his magnetle presence and deep fervor moved his audience with a power given to few men. He described his early appointments and disappointments and endeavored to cause the brethren to feel contented with their lot.

It was a great shaking up that struck the conference, and in fact many of the ministers were, as it is termed, "up in the air" until the last moment of the cabinet session. Several are rather dazed yet since landing. It is a pathetic thing to sit and wait for the announcement of fate in the shape of the bishop and presiding elders to decide one's future, and many of the ministers did not know until the appointments were read out in open conference. Many were not happy at the changes affecting their home ties and their closest interests, but no complaints were heard, although the bishop invited any one to write letters of protest to him today.

DR. FAULKNER PROTESTS.

The last day's session of the Wyoming conference opened with devotional exercises conducted by Dr. O. L, Severson, Dr. Hard presided. Dr. Severson reported for the committee on the state of the church. Rev. F. Gendall created considerable excitement by his report on "The State of the Country." It contained an indorsement of the position of the United States toward the Philippines and also a number of serio-comic reference to "Uncle Samuel," "spanking the baby," and taking the bull by the horns and strangling him."

Dr. J. A. Faulkner immediately raised a protest against the vote of the conference being given in favor of the attitude of the United States in this matter. He grew very eloquent and spoke with great earnestness. His remarks were not received with favor, as it was evident the sympathy of the clergymen was with McKinley and Dewey.

Dr. Tuckley, of Binghamton, made a strong speech deprecating the undignified language employed in the report. His remarks were loudly applauded, and the report was referred to the committee for reconsideration, Dr. Faulkner's motion was lost.

Dr. J. H. Keeley, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Pennsylvania, made an address in the course of which he spoke in favor of uniting with the Roman Catholics in this great

L. C. Murdock offered a resolution to consider Fourth of July a temporance holiday. A. J. Van Cleft was appointed member of the board of the Anti-Saloon league. H. C. Mc-Dermott and F. C. Doty were elected delegates to the national convention. Rev. L. C. Murdock read the report of the Wyoming seminary, which was adopted. L. L. Sprague, Abram Nesbitt and J. J. Shoemaker were elected

Dr. Race read the resignation of E B. Olmstead from the board of trusees of Wesleyan university. Dr. W. H. Pearce was elected to his place, Dr. C. M. Giffin was then called to the chair. Dr. Hard made an appeal for the work of church extension, and a collection was taken. At this point Dr. Olmstead read the following reso-

Dr. Race, of the "Twentleth Century Movement." It was as follows:

The resources of the Infinite are at ou disposal. We live in specious times. The results of all ages focus themselves in our age. One year of the present means more to the advancement of God's cause in the curth, than a decade meant one hundred years ago. Human and divine wonders are constantly unfolding themselves. If we will but accept the re-sponsibilities of the hour, the Gospel of the Kingdom of God will reach every kingdom of this earth in the not distant

Therefore, we hall with gladness the call of our bishops to the ministry and membership of our church for two mill-ion souls for Christ and twenty million dollars for service as a thank offering to Almighty God, ere we begin the twentieth century. Such another opportunity this generation will never see. Already representatives of our beloved Methodism are preaching the glorious gospel among the nations of the earth, but beholding the gracious harvest ready for the resping, our chief pastors now ask us to con ecrate ourselves, our talents, our time o the blessed Christ, and in submission to Him; every member of the church to engaged in the holy service of bringing at least one soul to know the Lord ere we ross the threshold of the next century. We began this nincteenth century as on of the weakest of our Protestant denom inations; we are coming to the opening of the twentieth century as the leading Protestant organization of the world. We must now act a part worthy of our

THE GREAT NEED OF THE HOUR. The first great duty of the hour is the spiritual obligation laid upon us. To win two millions of men to the Christ in the next two years as a denomination means that the churches of our conference must double their membership, inspired by the spiritual uplift that has come to us during the days that we have been associated with our present presiding bishop, and imbued with his conception of devotion to the cause that we so dearly love, as members of this conference we are to take up the work that may be assigned to us as laborers for God, and with renewed diligence must bend our-selves to the blessed work of winning souls to Jesus Christ.

The pre-eminent importance of this twentieth century movement must be given to spiritual results. Here we must place our strongest emphasis. A mighty turning to God is the fundamental neeessity of our times. Fervor, zeal, and holy enthusiasm must characterize our efforts in this direction. Heaven forbid that we should rejoice in our strength or in our numbers. Our greatest need is a baptism of divine power. Then, too, we must keep before us the fact that the houses of worship ought to be presented to the twentieth century freed from all indebtedness; that hos-pitals are to be equipped; that houses for the aged are to be erected; that deaconesses' houses are demanded; and that our institutions of learning are to e endowed for the work of Christian lucation. In this connection we recommend the communication received from the Philadelphia branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary society to the per-manent commission. Let us contemplate for a brief moment what this thank of-fering to Almighty God for his manifold mercies will accomplish, if thus applied, Skilled service for the sick; comfortable living for wearied veterans; innumerable blessing dispensed by angels of mercy and a generation of talented servants of God bequeathing the blessings of increasingly better civilization to the generations following. It costs as much brethren, to build a first-class modern battleship as to endow a college. The battleship perishes, but the college is imperishable. The twentieth century will have but small need for the battleships. for we are coming to the time when th brutalities of war will no longer be known, for the seminary, the college and the university, thoroughly equipped, will biess humanity with the blessings of

TERRIFIC BATTLE WITH A BALD EAGLE AT POYNTELLE.

Fatal Accident at Erie Shope-Leroy Phillips Caught Between Engine and the Tank-General Railroad News-Minor Localettes-Personal

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Susquehanna, April 18.-As an Ontarlo and Western fast train on Thursday swept around a curve into ; near Poyntelle, an enormous baid eagle was seen on the track by the fireman, was at the moment peering through the forward window of the

The pilot was upon his eagleship before he could rise, struck him, tumbled him up on the frame, which he clutched wooden beam with one of his great laws and held fast. Before the bird had time to recover from the fright and shock of the collision with the pilot the fireman had climbed along the running board and was upon the noble oird, when a savage tussle ensued. The eagle fought viciously for his therty, and the fireman was equally letermined on making him his prisoner. The train was going at the rate of forty-five miles an hour. The man had to hold by one hand with all his power o one of the guard rails below the headlight to keep his footing as the engine swayed from side to side, and bounded over the inequalities of the track in its headlong race against time, and manage the eagle with the other

But the bird was finally secured after he had nearly torn the fireman's overalls to shreds with his powerful talons that are fully four inches long. He was carried back over the footboard, fighting like a demon. Once in the cab the engineer went to the fireman's aid, and by hard work, sucseeded in tying the "king of the upper ether" securely, though their task was no easy one, as the eagle fought savagely with beak and claws as long as one of his captors was within reach. When tied he was spread out on the cab floor and found to measure seven feet from tip to tip of wings. He stood quite two feet high when fully erect. and is altogether a fine specimen of the monarch of American birds, This is practically the first instance of the capture of an eagle by a railroad train.
