IT WAS CAREY DAY DOWN IN MINOOKA
BIG OVATION TO THE LAD WHO FOUGHT WITH DEWEY.
 The Young Men's Institute, of which he is a member, Arranged a Big Time to Mark His Home Coming—Met at the Station with a Band and Welcomed to His Native Heath with Booming of Cannon and Most Demonstrative Enthusiasm.

One of Dewey's men from the Raleigh, Patrick Carey, a Minooka boy, came home on a furlough yesterday, and was met by a cheering throng at a hot time in that old town last night. When the Raleigh started from the Philippines four months ago, and it was announced she would come to New York, the Minooka branch of the Young Men's Institute, of which Carey was a member, counted on him taking a run up to see the folks, and at once set about preparing a reception for him. He came as per expectations, and he got a reception.
 John J. Coyne was delegated as a committee to New York and escort Carey home. He brought him up on last night's 8:45 Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train.
 The forest band was at the depot, so was the committee, and so was a goodly portion of the younger residents of Minooka. Carey was slightly staggered when he saw the big fusa that was being made about him. He brother and five sisters were the first to receive his greeting when he stepped off the train. Then for fully ten minutes he was kept busy shaking hands.
PARADE AT MINOOKA.
 Special cars took Carey, the committee and the band as far as the city line, and then they formed a procession and escorted him to St. Joseph's hall, where a reception, banquet and dance was arranged.
 The march to the hall was one continued ovation. Cannon had been planted at four points along the route and as the procession approached they boomed forth a loud welcome to the proud son of the proud little town.
 Carey in his loose fitting sailor blouse and light hat as one youngster called it, was easily described and at every stop there came from the sidewalks and porches "There he is! That's Paddy. Hello Paddy! How are you Pat?"
 At the hall there was more cheering and handshaking and then following the banquet served by M. J. Kelly and the dancing, Prof. James Powell made the address of welcome. Carey responded briefly. Addresses were also made by Rev. W. A. Gorman, John J. Coyne and M. F. Judge. John J. Joyce, president of the Young Men's Institute, presided, and Patrick Conolly was toastmaster.
 A feature that detracted much from Carey's enjoyment of the affair was that his father, John Carey, died the day the Raleigh left Manila for New York. His mother has been dead for a number of years.
 Carey is 25 inches of age, six feet, one-and-one-half inches in height and weighs 150 pounds. He has been in the navy two years and nine months, serving the greater part of that time in the hardest position in the navy, fireman. At the battle of Manila he served at an ammunition hoist on the upper deck of the Raleigh.
 A GREAT APPETIZER.
 "We thought for sure we had the worst of it when the order was given to get out of the bay. Most of us felt so bad that we couldn't eat the breakfast they served out to us. Eat after awhile when we saw one Spanish ship after another burning and sinking, we knew we had won and then it was different. It was the greatest appetizer I ever got."
 Carey is due to be back aboard the Raleigh tomorrow. He says he has enough of the navy and the country and will be drafted in need of men before he would re-enlist as a fireman.

WITH SKIN TIGHT GLOVES.
 Two Men Will "Settle a Difference" at Carbondale.
 Unless the police authorities interfere, a bare fight will be fought at Carbondale, Friday, May 12. The principals will be T. J. Jones, of North Scranton, and James C. Whitright, of Holoken, N. J. The articles of agreement were drawn up yesterday and have such features as "skin tight gloves" and "skinned knells."
 This prospective row grew out of an alleged insult offered Jones by Whitright Tuesday, at Pittston. Jones was defeated that day by a David Davis in a foot race and Whitright was backing Davis.

 The following telegram was received by The Tribune last night, announcing the acceptance by President McKinley and Postmaster General Smith of the invitation to visit Scranton during the letter carriers' convention in September:
 Washington, D. C., April 19, 1899.
 To Tribune, Scranton, Pa.:
 Committee called on the president and postmaster general at appointed hour and were introduced by Congressman William Connell and Commissioner General of Immigration T. V. Powderly. The postmaster general gave positive assurance of being present, and the president said he knew of nothing at present that would prevent his attendance. Both complimented the work of Costello highly.
 In a telephone message, Mr. Robathan supplemented this announcement with the information that the committee was very cordially received and that both the president and postmaster general were most profuse in complimenting the artistic manner in which the invitations were gotten up. The postmaster was done by County Auditor P. W. Costello, and were only ordinary specimens of his ability.
 The committee which carried the invitations to Washington was composed of Hon. William Connell, Hon. L. A. Watros, Hon. T. V. Powderly, Reese G. Brooks and Charles Robinson, representing the city, and A. P. Bedford and E. E. Robathan, representing the letter carriers' committee.
 The resolutions were in the shape of resolutions of council and were signed by President C. E. Chittenden, of select council; James Moir, as chairman of common council, and James G. Bailey, as mayor.
