

BIG BUSINESS TRANSACTION

The Large Stock of the Clemons, Ferber & O'Malley Co., Purchased by Millar & Peck, and the Stock to Be Sold at Once.

Messrs. Clemons, Ferber and O'Malley are well known dealers in China, Glassware, etc., but they will be known to the public as such no longer, as the firm will retire from business. We were offered the entire stock, occupying four floors and basement, at 422 Lackawanna Ave., at considerably less than manufacturing cost. In fact the figure was so low that we will be able to quote prices never heard of before in this city. The line embraces

Crockery, Glassware, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators

And Housefurnishing Goods of every description, and in order to get rid of the mammoth stock as quickly as possible prices will be slashed right and left. The great sale has begun and will be continued until everything is sold. This is the opportunity of a lifetime to secure at little cost

Haviland & Co.'s French China, Dorflinger's Cut Glass, Banquet Lamps and Globes, Bric-a-Brac Or Anything You Want in Housefurnishing Goods.

A LARGE STOCK OF
Baby Carriages,
The Celebrated Whitney Make,
Will be disposed of, and the price we put upon them will make them go quick.

The following will give an idea of some of the great values in our Housefurnishing Department

Pedestrianism Good Medicine.

From the Gentleman.
Every woman should get a certain amount of moderate exercise in the open air. It makes no difference what kind of exercise is taken so long as it exercises all the muscles and is not followed by a sense of fatigue.
The question is not what exercise you think you ought to have, but what you can endure. If you find that you can only walk one hour each day without becoming fatigued, then that is enough. If you cannot take that much exercise, then walk half an hour, but if half an hour's exercise exhausts you so that you do not quickly recover after a short rest, then you are sick and you need a doctor.
The element of worry has undoubtedly a great deal to do with nervous depression. There is a great deal of worry which is totally unnecessary. It is possible to cultivate a cheerful and contented frame of mind. If you have not sufficient self-control to do this, then invoke some artificial aid, such as religion, faith, cure, don't worry club, or in some way supplement or cultivate that self-control which it was the purpose of God that you should have. Take a mirror and learn to smile cheerfully. How many cheery faces do you see in a day's journey? Even school children learn to look worried.
"As welcome as sunshine in every place. Is the beaming approach of a good-natured face."

How the Judge Matched Quarters.

From the New Haven Leader.
Dr. Chauncey M. Dewey, Judge Henry E. Howland of New York, and Rev. J. H. Twichell of Hartford—the former, Justice and Rev. Dr. Twichell and Chauncey matched their quarters, the former win-

THE FASHION

Fire Sale

$50,000 Stock of Dry Goods, Millinery, Etc., Damaged by Fire and Water.

Sale Commencing Next Monday, May 1, at 9 a. m., at 308 Lackawanna Avenue.

Train stories—landed in New Haven (the other day to attend a meeting of the Yale corporation. They boarded a trolley car at the station, and Yale "great" fashion. Dr. Dewey proposed that they match quarters to see who should pay the trolley fare for the three. Quick as you can think the challenge was accepted, and Rev. Dr. Twichell and Chauncey M. Dewey prepared to try his luck with Judge Howland. The latter placed his quarter on his knee. Dr. Dewey being on the seat near him. The judge was so much elated over the prospect of defeating Chauncey that he forgot to keep watch of that astute lawyer and politician, but Chauncey did not forget to keep watch of Judge Howland. He had a good look at that quarter on Howland's knee and then arranged his own quarter so that the judge was stuck for the loss. Rev. Dr. Twichell had watched the proceedings closely and could scarcely control his merriment until Dewey had finished the luncheon and then laughed with all the heartiness that a Yale man is capable of. "Well, Howland," said Dewey, "I never thought you would come up from the great city of New York ripe for such quick blushing. You are the bestest thing I have struck since election. My dear fellow, don't you know, when you match quarters you don't want to show your quarter to the other fellow? Oh! Howland! I think for you, I thought you graduated from Yale with your teeth cut and hair parted." And then all three laughed until the car almost rattled. The passengers laughed, too.
