FILIPINOS WANT PEACE

General Otis Refuses Their Request for a Cessation of Hostilities.

Emissaries from General Luna Ask for Time for the Assembling of the Filipino Congress in Order to Act on the People's Wish Concerning Terms of Peace--Malay Diplomacy Recognized and Given Proper Consideration by the Americans--General Otis States That He Recognizes No Filipino Government.

Manila, April 28.—The Filipino will seek peace. Colonel Manuel Arguilles and Lieutenant Jose Bernal, chief of General Luna's staff, entered General MacArthur's lines bearing a flag of truce. They are en route for Manila by train to confer with General Otis regarding terms of surrender.

6:25 p. m.—The Filipino advances for peace have been fruitless. Colonel Manuel Arguilles and Lieutenant Jose Bernal, who came into General MacArthur's lines under a flag of truce, told General Otis that they were representatives of General Luna, who had been requested by Aguinaldo to ask General Otis for a cessation of hostilities in order to allow time for the assembling of the Filipino congress, which body would decide whether the people wanted peace. General Otis replied that he did not recognize the existence of a Filipino government.

There will be another conference tomorrow. The Filipino officers walked down the railroad track to the Kansas regiment's encampment at 9 o'clock this morning. The Kansas captain in command there escorted them to General Wheaton's headquarters, where they were provided with horses and sent to the headquarters of General MacArthur. The latter invited the Filipinos to sit down at lunch with him, and conversed with them for some time. He refused, however, to speak authoritatively on the subject of their errand, referring it to the command of General Otis.

The Filipinos were then escorted by Major Mallory, of General MacArthur's staff, to Manila, reaching this place at 3 o'clock p. m. General Otis' aide, Lieutenant Sladen, was awaiting their arrival at the depot with a carriage, in which they were driven to the palace entrance.

The Filipino officers attracted much attention. They were dressed in uniforms of checked blue and white cloth, and wore straw hats. They carried no side arms. They were escorted directly to the residence of General Otis. Jacob G. S. Hurman, president of the Philippine commission, and Charles Denby, a member of the commission, soon joined the party there.

The news of the arrival of Filipino emissaries under a flag of truce spread through the city rapidly, and many officers gravitated to the residence of the palace, while a crowd of natives gathered in the square opposite the palace. About 5 o'clock the two Filipino officers, escorted by Lieutenant Sladen and Major Mallory, left the palace. They did not look at General Otis as a result of their talk with General Otis and the members of the Philippine commission.

AGUINALDO'S SCHEME.

Hopes by Subterfuge to Overcome the Policy of General Otis.

Manila, April 28.—7:50 p. m.—Aguinaldo is evidently selecting as a cloak for his congress, hoping by subterfuge to overcome General Otis' consistent policy of ignoring the Filipino government. The Filipino argument is that it is impossible to arrange an armistice without the sanction of the congress. General Otis punctured this assumption by remarking that if Aguinaldo could make war without the congress, he could stop it without reference to that body. One of the conference afterwards remarked that they are shrewder than white men in diplomacy, as the Malays are credited with being.

VERY FEEBLE FOES.

Filipinos Make a Brief Stand in Open Battle.

Manila, April 28.—8:20 a. m.—At Calumpit for the first time a large body of Filipinos attempted to face the Americans in open ground. The Filipinos in the trenches were dispersed after making a ridiculously feeble resistance; but General Luna's brigade came upon the field from Macabebes on the double quick, the two regiments presenting a perfect formation. The Americans from the south bank of the river, which is higher than the north bank, could see General Luna, mounted on a black horse, galloping frantically along the lines and apparently exhorting his followers to make a stand. He finally succeeded in getting them spread in an extended line of battle which would have done credit to a civilized army. But when the American bullets showered thickly among them, stirring clouds of dust from the sandy soil, the Filipinos again showed that no amount of drilling could fortify them sufficiently to make them face the American rifles, and their train puffed up the track, with its load of dead and wounded, in plain sight of the Americans, who were entering the town so closely that the rebels barely slipped out of their victors' hands. The Montana regiment made a rush to capture the train, running up the track, yelling shrilly and even dropping their guns in the pursuit; but the engine backed off hastily, leaving the bodies of six warriors to their enemies.

Phelps and other officers of the cruiser Raleigh, which came here to participate in the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Grant monument and Dewey day, witnessed today's National League game between the Philadelphia and Boston teams. The players of both clubs lined up across the pitcher's box and gave three cheers, in which they were joined by nearly 5,000 spectators. Captain Coghlan and Commander Phelps rose and bowed their acknowledgments of the courtesy. After the game the naval heroes were surrounded by the crowd and cheered to the echo. The game was a beautiful exhibition of base ball.

After the jury reported, it was said that the preliminary ballot was taken at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, or half an hour after they had been closeted in the jury room. M'KINLEY VISITS CRUISER RALEIGH

PRESIDENT CONGRATULATES THE HEROES OF MANILA.

The Thanks of the Country for Their Gallant Action at Manila Expressed—Secretary Long Also Speaks—The Sailors Cheer the President and Party—The Excursionists Leave for New York.

Philadelphia, April 28.—President McKinley and his party left the Hotel Bellevue shortly after 10 o'clock this morning for a visit to the cruiser Raleigh, which lies at anchor in the Delaware river off the center of the city. Mrs. McKinley and the other ladies who came from Washington rode in the carriages with the president and the members of his cabinet. The weather is perfect, and before leaving the hotel the president expressed his delight at the prospect of inspecting the ship that fired the first gun at Manila.

The president and his party boarded the ship at 10:45 o'clock. At 10:55 o'clock, and as the boat moved away from the pier the crowd on the wharf set up a hearty cheer while the boats in the vicinity whistled a noisy welcome. The president stood in the stern of the boat leaning on the arm of Admiral Casey, commander in chief of the League Island navy yard. It took two minutes the tug drew alongside the Raleigh and the president was greeted by Lieutenant Commander Phelps, who introduced him to Captain Coghlan.

The marines stood on the guard rail on the poop deck and the crew were ordered to man the rail as President McKinley and his party stepped aboard. At the same moment the gunners began firing the national salute and the band struck up their caps.

Accompanied by Captain Coghlan the president proceeded to the cabin of the cruiser, where he held an informal reception. He was then escorted to the lower deck on which the sailors were lined up for inspection.

Captain Coghlan introduced the men as follows: "Mr. President, these are the men of the Raleigh. Part of them are from the flagship Olympia. They all served throughout the whole campaign."

After passing before them with bare head, Mr. McKinley addressed the crew as follows: "Captain Coghlan and men of the Raleigh: It gives me great pleasure to bid you welcome home, and to congratulate you and each one of you on the heroic part you played in the great battle on the first of May at Manila, which was a most glorious triumph of American arms, and made a new and glorious page in American history. I assure you that when I give you welcome, I am only speaking the heart's desire of seventy-five million American citizens who honor you all for your splendid services to our country. This feeling not only extends to your great admiral, whom we all love and honor, but to the humblest member of the crew who was in that great fleet at Manila. I give you all for your brave and generous welcome and my thanks."

Long's Address.

Secretary Long then addressed the sailors. He said: "You have heard the naval commander-in-chief and listened to the most feeling words in which the president of the United States has just expressed not only his own generous recognition but that of the whole American people of your distinguished services during the connection with the United States navy."

"The country knows on whom she may depend. The record of the United States navy is unsurpassed in the history of the world, and of that record we do not forget you are a great part. Mr. Beck said: 'I have charged these gentlemen with conspiracy to defraud the government, but if this testimony be true it means a great deal more than this. It means that they have been guilty of aiding and abetting counterfeiting of internal revenue stamps, which is a crime of the highest order. I think you will agree with me that this is the most damnable thing in your experience, as it is in mine. Both of these gentlemen have been honored by the people and one of them is still honored in that he holds a special commission as the government's attorney in city suits to which he is entrusted. I will say that if Messrs. Ingham and Newitt are guilty they are as guilty as any one who is implicated. Morally, they are more so, for they have relied upon their high positions to do these things. For the sum of $5,000 a month they have done some of the most infamous work and we will see that you are not mistaken.'"

Commissioners Edmunds then fixed the ball at $20,000 each and accordingly ordered them bound over in that sum for trial at the May term of the United States district court.

Ingham's bail was furnished by James Dook, of this city, and Joseph R. Grandy, of Bristol, Pa. Emma L. Nowitt, a sister, and Mrs. Mary S. Geiger entered bail for Newitt.

HEARING OF THE STAMP AGENTS

Bail in the Case of Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt Is Increased—Bondsman Furnished.

Philadelphia, April 28.—The hearing of former United States District Attorney Ellery P. Ingham, and ex-Assistant District Attorney Harvey K. Newitt, who are charged with attempting to bribe Secret Service Agent William J. McManus, in connection with the great counterfeiting conspiracy, which was unearthed in this city last week, was concluded today and United States Commissioner Edmunds increased the bail of each defendant from $10,000 to $20,000, which they furnished.

The sensational revelations at yesterday's hearing had the effect of attracting an immense crowd to the United States circuit court room where the hearing was held. Eight witnesses were called by District Attorney Beck and most of their testimony corroborated that of William T. Kendig, one of the men charged with counterfeiting the internal revenue tobacco stamps, who made a clean breast of the whole conspiracy at yesterday's hearing. The main witness today was William J. McManus, who is in charge of the secret service force in this city. He told in detail of the conferences he had with Newitt; how the money was paid to him and how he led Newitt into believing that he, McManus, was giving the information desired by the secret service men.

Other witnesses called were George C. Sipple, a life insurance agent, who wanted a position in the secret service; Annie Rank, of Lancaster, Pa., a telephone girl; Frederick W. Griffin, superintendent of the long distance telephone company; John Summin, of Lancaster, a bank teller; John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service division of the United States treasury; Assistant Chief-William Burns and Detectives William Flynn and Oswald, who were present at the hearing. A. L. Shields, for the defendants, asked that their bail be reduced, but this was opposed by District Attorney Beck, who asked the commissioner not to lower it, but to increase it. In further addressing him, Mr. Beck said: "I have charged these gentlemen with conspiracy to defraud the government, but if this testimony be true it means a great deal more than this. It means that they have been guilty of aiding and abetting counterfeiting of internal revenue stamps, which is a crime of the highest order. I think you will agree with me that this is the most damnable thing in your experience, as it is in mine. RESULTS OF THE TORNADO

More Than Fifty Dead Bodies Have Been Found.

FAMILIES ARE HOMELESS

A Portion of the Town of Kirksville Has Been Swept Away—List of the Victims—A Path 200 Feet Wide and a Mile Long Made by the Cyclone.

Kirksville, Mo., April 28.—As a result of the tornado that swept through the eastern portion of the city yesterday evening demolishing half the town, two hundred families are homeless and more than fifty dead bodies and many injured persons have been recovered from the ruins. More than a dozen of the injured will die. Although rescuers have been searching the ruins ever since the storm spent its fury, many are still missing, and it is thought that a considerable number of the unfortunates were consumed in the flames that broke out soon after the storm had ceased. The work of rescue continues, and it may be days before the total number of victims is known.

As far as known the names of the dead are: Mrs. Henry Billington, Mrs. A. E. Bowman, Theodore Brigham, Miss Lena Brown, of Moberly; child of Rev. Albert Burr, Sixth Feathers, 8-year-old boy; Mrs. R. W. Green, A. J. Glasse and wife, Dr. W. B. Howells, Mrs. C. Little, J. B. Larkin, retired merchant; three children of Henry Lowell, Mrs. John McHaffey, sr., Mrs. John T. McHaffey and child, P. M. McClay and wife, mother and niece of J. T. Miller, Miss Ora Millan, of Woodland, Mo.; Mrs. Blue Panschott and baby, Mrs. H. K. Shorburn, Samuel Weaver, ex-contractor; Miss Leona Whaley, Dr. Wheeler, Mrs. Joseph Wood, Miss Mary Rorabaugh, Mrs. Lou Mitchell, Harry Mitchell, J. K. Anderson, Dr. Billings, Drew Bowman, James Cunningham, Mrs. Elliott, Miss Bessie Green, C. A. Gibbs, Mrs. C. A. Gibbs, Mrs. Heaman, Miss McClay, Mrs. Ann Miller, John C. Weaver, Joseph Wood.

When the tornado struck the city last evening most of the residents were at their supper. The tornado cut a clean path one mile long and 200 feet wide in the residence section leaving death and destruction in its wake. Buildings were demolished and twisted apart and scattered to the four winds. A conservative estimate places the aggregate amount of damage at $200,000, the individual losses ranging from $100 to $5,000. The wind played many pranks and there was some miraculous escapes.
