MASS MEETING AT PECKVILLE.

Held by the Union Carpenters on Saturday Night.
At Odd Fellows' hall, Peckville, Saturday evening, a monster mass meeting was held. Those who were in attendance were the union carpenters between Carbondale and Scranton. Some two hundred were present. It was decided at the meeting that the trade rules which were to go into effect this morning must be adopted by all contractors before the union men would continue at their labors. Reports from the different labor representatives showed that the majority of the contractors between Carbondale and Scranton had signed the rules. At Jermy's the union carpenters employed by Hoffecker & Co., were ordered out as this was the only contractor in Jermy who had not signed the rules. At Archibald there will be no trouble as the different contractors have endorsed the union rules. At Peckville the Peck Lumber Manufacturing company have refused to accept the union schedule, and their case has been turned over to the headquarters of the union to be dealt with. All the union men have been called out. Barber & Co. have not signed the schedule, and in consequence they have only one non-union man in their employ. This company presented to their men a schedule of their own and asked to have them signed. The men refused and quit, with the exception of one non-union man.
At Olyphant the contractors have practically all endorsed the new rules and the contractors stated to the union representatives that all carpenters in their employ must belong to the union. At Priceburg the contractors agreed to the union's demands. This evening another mass meeting will be held at Peckville, and the situation will be discussed. Unless all contractors have endorsed the trade rules the men employed by them will be called out.

DR. GIFFIN'S SAGE ADVICE.

Contained in a Sermon He Delivered Last Night.
Rev. Dr. Giffin delivered a stirring address last evening in Elm Park church, the subject suggested by mobs and lynchings. "The Advice of the Town Clerk Needed Now." The text referred to a plot among the Ephraimites when one man's coolness controlled the mob. It was from Acts 19-36: "And the town clerk said: 'We ought to do nothing rashly.'" The speaker said in part:
"One man in a mob, one sane person, surrounded by a mass of howling lunatics. It is a good thing to have one man in a city who can keep his head in the midst of excitement. This man could not only keep records, but quell riots. The populace is always in danger of doing rash and reckless things. 'It is high time that our safety is understood as being in legal means. We ought to practice coolness individually to resolve never to act hastily.'" To the young men the reverend speaker suggested that the text: "Do nothing rashly," might well be put up in offices, banks, and courts of justice and also on bill boards in public places, that the world might learn it well and profit thereby.

REV. MR. WARING ACCEPTS.

Will Be the Pastor of Grace Lutheran Church.
At the morning services yesterday at Grace Lutheran church was read a letter from Rev. Luther Hess Waring, of Lottville, Va., in which he accepts the call tendered him some time ago to become successor to Rev. Foster Gift, who is resigning the pastorate recently. He will take up his new duties here on June 1.
Mr. Waring has many adaptabilities to this field, wide experience, large learning and aggressiveness, so that Grace church can congratulate itself upon the acquisition of the services of Rev. Mr. Giffin's successor, who has accomplished such splendid results in the four years he has been here. Grace church has grown from nothing, until today it is an influential church in the city and with Mr. Waring at its head it will undoubtedly continue in its good work.
Rev. Mr. Gift will likely accept the call tendered him by St. Matthew's Lutheran church at Williamsport, but he will not take up these new duties until he has had a few months rest.

TWENTY YEARS AS ITS PASTOR

CELEBRATION IN PROVIDENCE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

At the Morning Service a Special Sermon Was Preached by the Rev. George E. Guild, in Which He Gave a Short Review of His Pastorate, Which Has Been Crowned with Great Results in a Sacred, No Less Than in a Material Way.

Twenty years ago yesterday, the Rev. George E. Guild became pastor of the Providence Presbyterian church, on North Main avenue, and since that time the church has had a marvelous growth.
Yesterday, in honor of the successful termination of the term, special services were held and the pastor preached a historical sermon at the morning service. Rev. S. C. Logan, D. D., assisted at the service and the choir sang two anthems.
In the evening, Dr. Logan spoke in review of twenty years in the church work in this city and referred specially to the Providence church. Rev. Mr. Guild also made a few remarks. The auditorium and pulpit were prettily decorated with flowers and plants.

Tonight the annual session of the congregation will be held and at its conclusion an informal reception will be tendered the pastor and his wife at the church and the station will be discussed. Unless all contractors have endorsed the trade rules the men employed by them will be called out.

It is needless to comment upon the fact that memory is always busy at an anniversary season, the important thing is the material with which memory deals. If life is viewed merely as the mere succession of events, if memory is concerned only with the journal of each day's doings, or gains, or pleasures, or losses, or pleasures, or misadventures, or sorrows are inevitable. But you observe that the Psalmist's retrospect though it touches facts of change and loss, it is nevertheless not centered in them. The great fact in his review of the past and in his outlook into the future is God.

BROUGHT OUT MORE SHARPLY.

That substantial fact is brought out more sharply by means of a prominent object into clear outline. Hear David speak, "My soul is bowed down within me, I remember thee from the hills." It is God in the foreground of memory and God in the foreground of future expectation. Whether he looked backward or forward, whether he gazed upon the heaven or pierced the future, verily his lips blossomed out into that wonderful utterance: "There is none like unto the God of Jerusalem who riddeth upon the heavens in thy help, and in his excellency on the sky, the eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms, and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee."

THIS IS DEWEY'S DAY.

Anniversary of the Battle at Manila Bay, Which Has Made the Admiral Famous—Celebrations Arranged for.

One year ago today, the most startling event in the history of these United States since the days of the Independence hall meetings, occurred in far off Luzon Island, when Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet at Cavite. Today is known as Dewey's day, and in honor of it, many affairs will be held in the city.

One year ago last night was one of feverish excitement in this city, as well as almost every city in the land. All day long there had been rumors of a desperate battle at Manila, but it was impossible to get an absolute verification of the rumors until after 8 o'clock at night.

People were returning from the churches when the news was posted on the Tribune bulletin board, which was immediately surrounded by hundreds of excited persons who remained for hours waiting for new details concerning the fight, which arrived at intervals over the wire in The Tribune editorial rooms.

That night people generally first realized that Uncle Sam had some head fighting ahead, but the result of the first engagement was so glorious that there was no fear concerning the result.

THIS CALL TO THE CHURCH.

I first heard of the Providence Presbyterian church of Scranton through the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Dunning, then of Honesdale, who in January, 1879, wrote me while in Union seminary, N. Y., that if I should be invited to preach a Sabbath in the Providence church, he would advise me to go there and supply the pulpit. In response to a very cordial invitation written by Mr. James W. Gillespie at the request of the church, I came to Scranton, a perfect stranger, and preached in the old church, morning and evening the last Sunday in January, 1879, and the following second week in the following March I received the invitation subject to the will of Presbytery to become the pastor of the church.

Immediately upon the reception of this invitation, I wrote my honored and devoted friend, Dr. Dunning, telling him I had in my possession a call to the First Presbyterian church of Oxford, N. Y., and adding that the Oxford church was the largest in that village and that the salary was a little larger than that of the Providence church. Among other things, he told me what he wrote me in reply: "If you want an easy pastorate go to Oxford. If you want hard work, where hard work I think will tell for Christ, go to Scranton."

THOMAS J. GRIFFIN WAS WAYLAIED AT BRADFORD.

He Left a Barber Shop in the Centre of Bradford Friday Night to Go to His Home and the Next Morning Was Found Alongside the Road with His Skull Crushed—His Remains Arrived in This City This Morning—Brother of Father Griffin.

Thomas J. Griffin, of 1518 Monsey avenue, was waylaid and fatally injured by footpads at Bradford, McKean county, Friday night. He went to a barber shop in the center of the town after supper and left there at 9:40 to go home.

The next morning at 4 o'clock he was found by a doctor lying alongside the road with his skull fractured and his pockets turned inside out. He never regained consciousness and died Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. It is supposed a club or sandbag was used to strike him down.

He was a brother of Rev. J. J. Griffin, of Carbondale, and a brother-in-law of Judge P. P. Smith. He was 36 years of age and a glass-blower by trade. He was formerly employed in the Green Ridge glass works, and lived here until February last when he went to Bradford to work at his trade.

The remains arrived at 1:55 this morning over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road, and were conveyed to his mother's home at 1515 Monsey avenue. Rev. Father Griffin accompanied the remains here, having hastened to Bradford, Saturday, upon receiving news of the sad affair.

NEW CHURCH AT GREEN RIDGE.

It Is to Be Erected by the Baptist Congregation.

It is expected that sometime during this week the contract for building the new edifice for the congregation of the Green Ridge Baptist church on Monsey avenue will be let and the work begun soon after. The building fund now contains $3,000, exclusive of an envelope containing a subscription. This envelope is to remain sealed until the first payment on the new building is made.

The pastor, Rev. W. J. Ford, expects that the total cost will not exceed $4,500 and may be less than $3,500. The present edifice will be moved to the rear of the lot and the new building will be erected upon the front. So heartily have the pastor and his congregation worked for several years in upbuilding the church that the erection of new and larger edifice became absolutely necessary.

SOUGHT AID TOO LATE.

Marshall Bogert, of North Scranton, Dies of Pneumonia at Hospital.

Marshall Bogert was removed to the Lackawanna hospital, from the residence of a charitable inclined person nearby, at 8 o'clock Saturday night. He was dying from pneumonia and two hours later was dead, without having volunteered any information concerning himself.

Inquiry brought out the fact that for a week he hung around the United States hotel barn on Penn avenue and then taken ill a few days ago, the friend gave him a bed, thinking that the illness did not amount to much. Saturday the man seemed so much worse that the hospital doctors directed the removal, with the hope that something might be done.

City Superintendency Election Is Somewhat in Doubt.

The board of control will meet tomorrow night to elect a city superintendent of schools to serve three years. Professor George Howell, the present incumbent, is being opposed by the former superintendent, Professor George W. Phillips, principal of the high school.

Superintendent Howell has the support of the combine that carried the reorganization and they claim that they will muster for him fourteen votes.

The powers that were, who are behind Professor Phillips, claim his election, but are giving no figures. Disinterested parties who are in close touch with the controllers say that the result rests with one certain member, and that his vote depends on the report the finance committee will make tonight on appropriations.
