BAPTISM OF VAN HORN.

Immersed in an Improvised Baptistry—Rev. R. R. Bulgin Administered the Ordinance Yesterday Afternoon at 3:45.

George K. Van Horn, who is to be executed Thursday morning for the murder of Joseph W. Woodcock, was immersed yesterday by the Rev. R. R. Bulgin, of the Tripp Avenue Christian church, of Dunmore. The ceremony was performed in the presence of several members of the church, the death-watch and the officials of the jail.

Rev. R. Bulgin is Van Horn's spiritual adviser and he has been a daily caller at the jail. In his visits he reads the Bible to him, prays with him and talks to him of his soul and the future. When Rev. Mr. Bulgin first began to talk with Van Horn acted very reluctantly. He soon became interested, however, and was touched by the words of the minister. The latter never leaves him without marking some passages of Scripture for him to read. The promises of God and comforting words by his disciples have won the admiration, at least, of the condemned man and it is believed that he has, at last, made his peace with God. He expressed his belief to Rev. Mr. Bulgin and requested to be baptized.

Among the passages which he had read was the one which said "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." Since he believed, he determined to be immersed. The warden kindly ordered a baptismal font to be improvised in the jail. Van Horn looked a repentant man as he walked to the baptistry. His face was marked with the lines of thought and he sighed heavily while listening to the minister, who was clad in the robes of his office. Before propounding the question which is asked of all penitent believers, his spiritual adviser read some comforting passages of Scripture. "Judge not that ye be not judged," with what judgment ye measure unto others it shall be meted out to you." "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow." "He that confesseth me before men, I will confess him before my Father which is in heaven, and the words of the Saviour: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." And the words of Peter on the day of Pentecost: "Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, unto the remission of your sins and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

The minister then put the question to Van Horn: "Do you believe with all your heart that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God?" A moment's pause and the reply came "I do." Entering the water the minister solemnly said: "George K. Van Horn, by the authority of the Supreme Head of the church, I baptize thee in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit."

A reporter saw Van Horn afterwards and asked him how he felt, and he said "I am much relieved." His mother, who was also with him through the ceremony, was much affected, but apparently glad that George was preparing his soul to meet the Judge of all the earth.

THE OPINION OF JUSTICE FELL

IT WAS RENDERED IN THE KELLER CASE.

After Reviewing the Case with Much Care the Justice Concludes That It Was Tried with Great Ability by the Learned Judge, and the Record Discloses No Error Calling for a Reversal—Convicted Man Will Be Called for a Re-Sentence Within a Few Days.

Following is the opinion of the supreme court in the case of the commonwealth against Joseph Keller, which was written by Justice Fell:

The defendant, in support of the allegation that he acted in self-defense, was allowed to call the attention of the jury to the threats made by the deceased. Some of these threats had been made in the presence of the defendant, and heard by him; others had been made in his absence and had not been communicated to him. In three of the assignments it is alleged as error that the court failed to call the attention of the jury to the effect that should be given to uncommunicated threats, and that in this respect the charge was inadequate and misleading. It is held that these assignments only that part of the charge is given which refers to the effect on the defendant's mind of threats made in his absence, and that the jury had been called to the threats which the deceased and the accused had made against each other, and that their duty was to consider the evidence, and to weigh with that which throws light upon the relation in which they stood to each other and the condition of their minds when they met. That in considering the evidence, you will begin with that which throws light upon the relation of the two men one to the other, and the condition of their minds when they met. If you believe that, in considering the evidence, you will begin with that which throws light upon the relation of the two men one to the other, and the condition of their minds when they met, you will find that at least it has a tendency to do that.

WHY IT WAS ADMISSIBLE.

It was for the purpose thus stated that the testimony of the deceased, either by himself or by a witness, was received as tending to show his motive and intention. It is held that an inference that in the fatal encounter he was the aggressor. The effect of his giving such testimony might have been to show that he was not the aggressor, but that he was in the charge in relation to it was not misleading, and in the absence of a request for more specific instructions on the point, the court is held to have acted properly in not so instructing the jury. The photograph of the deceased was offered by the commonwealth to rebut the testimony of the witness giving rise to an inference that in the fatal encounter he was the aggressor. The effect of his giving such testimony might have been to show that he was not the aggressor, but that he was in the charge in relation to it was not misleading, and in the absence of a request for more specific instructions on the point, the court is held to have acted properly in not so instructing the jury.

REMAINING ASSIGNMENT.

The only remaining assignment which need be noticed relates to the refusal of the court to direct the district attorney to call a witness. Charles Lower, whose name was on the bill of indictment. To the request of the defendant's counsel, the district attorney replied that he had called all the eye-witnesses to the occurrence, and the court sustained this refusal to call the witness on the ground that his testimony would be cumulative merely. It appears that the fact that he was present had been disclosed by witnesses before examined. The offer should, however, be judged in connection with the testimony of the other witnesses. The refusal to require the commonwealth to call this witness would not be ground for reversal of the verdict if the deceased was shot. Sixteen eye-witnesses had already been examined. While it is the duty of the district attorney in such a case as this to present all the testimony on the material facts, whether adverse to the defendant or favorable to him, the court is not bound to limit the number of witnesses to be called.

TRIED WITH GREAT CARE.

There was with a withholding of testimony favorable to the defendant or a failure on the part of the district attorney to present to the jury all the material facts. It was held that the defendant had to have all the facts connected with the shooting fully and accurately presented to the jury. The refusal to require the commonwealth to call this witness would not be ground for reversal of the verdict if the deceased was shot. Sixteen eye-witnesses had already been examined. While it is the duty of the district attorney in such a case as this to present all the testimony on the material facts, whether adverse to the defendant or favorable to him, the court is not bound to limit the number of witnesses to be called.

Deputy Brewster, of Lock Haven, reports having come upon 1,300 in one store, and 275 in another, at Lock Haven, and two lots of 525 each in Renova, and two lots of 2,600 and 1,050, respectively in North Bend.

Deputy Weaver, of Easton, writes that he has found a dealer there who has a bill for 19,000 Jacobs & Co. cigars that were shipped on April 25, three days after the factory was seized. If they arrive they will be turned over to the government.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED

Councils are Convened by Mayor to Consider Matter of Asphalt Repairs—Talk of Resurfacing Paves Out of Bond.

Councils will meet tonight in special joint session in position to consider the matter of asphalt repairs. Mayor Moir to consider the question of asphalt repairs.

Just what will be done it isn't safe to predict, but this much is known: A resolution will be introduced requesting the mayor and controller to make a contract with the Barber Asphalt company under the terms of the repair ordinance and the company's bid. If this passes and the probabilities are that it will, Mayor Moir and Controller Howell will observe the request, it is understood.

When the contract is executed the Barber company will proceed immediately with the work of repair. There was some talk about the city hall yesterday of ignoring the present contract altogether and entering upon a new one for the resurfacing of all streets now out of bond. It is estimated that this could be done for about $80,000 and if a ten year guarantee was given with the work it would virtually save the city $90,000, minus what it will cost of care for Mulberry street, Clay, Pine and Jefferson avenues, which will in the interim go out of bond.

These estimates, however, would appear to be decidedly rough when mathematics are applied. There are 157,575 square yards of asphalt out of bond. A fair estimate of the cost of resurfacing would be $1 per square yard. At this rate the resurfacing alone of a portion of the streets would cost within $151,539 of what the Barber company wants to keep all the asphalt pavements in repair for the period of ten years.

EX-SERGEANT RAFTER ENLISTS

Eight more men were sent yesterday from the recruiting station on Spruce street to serve for three years in the United States army. They were from Pottsville, San Francisco, from Williamsport. Among those from hereabouts was William E. Rafter, former sergeant of Company I, First Volunteer Engineer corps, which did duty in Ponce harbor, Porto Rico. Several of his letters were published in The Tribune.

The men sent yesterday were Truman L. Wise and James O. Miller, Williamsport, cavalry, to Fort Columbus, New York harbor; William E. Rafter, Scranton, infantry, and William Kane, Dunmore, cavalry, both to Pottsville, San Francisco, and the Philippines; Henry Graf, Scranton, and Floyd S. Olmstead, Moosic, cavalry; Isaac Jones, Scranton, and Martin Munley, Archbald, infantry. These latter four were sent to Fort Columbus, New York harbor. Olmstead is a member of Company C, Ninth regiment, P. V. I.

TWO REVENUE DECISIONS.

Deal with Collateral Security and Base Ball Games.

The other decision is to the effect that coffee base ball games are not subject to a tax.

Sevengalla, the Wonder.

Sevengalla, the hypnotist, gave a remarkable exhibition of his wonderful hypnotic powers at the Academy of Music last night. He also gave a very interesting exhibition of telepathy. One of his subjects, while under the hypnotic influence, gave remarkable evidence of the manner in which thought can be transmitted. Sevengalla had never success with his subject, any hypnotist who has been seen in this city.

This afternoon he will give his public exhibition of mind reading by driving through the streets while blindfolded. He will also find articles hidden by any person who will accompany him on his ride. He will start from the Academy of Music at 1 o'clock.

Last Show of Season at Gaiety.

The last show of the season at the Gaiety theater proves to be one of the most entertaining. The musical features by the white and colored performers of the Merry Widows' Burlesque company were very good throughout the entertainments yesterday and the specialty acts were exceedingly funny. The singing of the colored male quartet was highly appreciated and heartily enjoyed. The comedy sketch of Tom and Gertrude Grimes was one of the best of the season, and the Powell Sisters, "who sing just to please the boys," were very successful.

DECISION REVERSED.

The Superior court reversed the judgment of the lower court on the ground that the plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence, because he was on the platform riding when there was ample room inside the car. The Supreme court has affirmed the judgment of the Superior court and the case is now ended.

The importance of the case is very much in excess of the amount involved, because it involves the right of passengers to ride on the platform of cars, when there is ample room inside, and then claim damages if they are injured by reason of their position on the car.

In the matter of Robinson's estate, Harry H. Torrey has obtained the common pleas of this county, the decree was affirmed by the Supreme court. The appeal grew out of the account of Charles H. Welles, trustee for the widow of William Robinson, deceased, and Henry Ambrose, guardian of Lena Amelia Robinson, the children of William Robinson. The widow of William Robinson married Mr. Haeblerly some time ago and the question in dispute was the distribution of one-third of the amount of money going to the estate of William Robinson by reason of the sale to the Pennsylvania Central Brewing company, the dispute being whether it should be distributed as real or personal estate.

AUDITOR SUSTAINED.

The matter came up before E. C. Newcomb as auditor and he decided that the bulk of the fund should be distributed as real estate, which secured the same to the children of William Robinson ultimately. James H. Torrey, representing the widow of William Robinson, now Mrs. Haeblerly, appealed to the Supreme court. The judgment of the Superior court, reversing the auditor, is affirmed, and the distribution made by him, vesting the bulk of the money, secured by the sale of the property, in the children, is determined finally. The amount involved upwards of one hundred thousand dollars.

"A Romance of Athlone."

Like a thing of beauty, a good play is a joy forever. "The Corner Grocery," Daniel Sully's famous funny comedy, is without doubt the cleverest farce ever written. It is a spontaneous blending of hilarious complications and situations. There is one continuous laugh from the time it starts until the curtain drops on the last act. "The Corner Grocery" has a well defined plot, an interesting story, an occasional touch of pathos, natural and affecting home pictures and a wealth of fun, birth and songs. Mr. Daniel Sully is an Irish comedian of quiet and effective methods, and his Daddy Noonan is a characteristic portrait. His support this season is said to be the strongest he has ever carried, which includes Louise Sully, Daisy Chaplin, George D. Davis, George H. Rareshide, Harry McFayden, J. P. Rodgers, the Empire quartette and others.
