NEW MUSICAL TRAVESTY.

Presented in the Auditorium, North Scranton, for the First Time.
A musical travesty, "The Tally-Ho," was presented last night in the Auditorium at North Scranton. The auditorium was formerly Company II armory, but was recently rebuilt and renamed. The travesty was written by William F. Burke, son of Captain Burke. He has been on the stage several years and is also a song writer and composer of music of no little ability.
"The Tally-Ho" is a clever concert and music of which were highly satisfactory. The exception of Mr. Burke the cast was composed entirely of amateurs. Considering that it was a first performance and that the members of the company were untrained in the ways of the stage the result was highly satisfactory. The travesty is in two acts, and while there is no particular plot there is plenty of action and abundant plausible excuses for the introduction of clever specialties. In the first act is the "Tally-Ho" chorus, the words and music of which were written by Mr. Burke. It is a dashing, rollicking chorus and was given with fine effect last night.
The leading roles of the piece were cleverly handled by Mr. Burke, William Lynott, Frank Loftus, J. J. Soliman, Marie Gillallon, Mabel Howard, Mae Murphy and Charlotte Hawks.
Between acts first and second a number of high class specialties were introduced. Mrs. John J. Lynch sang several songs that were well received, and William Lynott's songs were loudly encored. Frank Loftus did a laughable German comedy sketch and Miss Mable Howard sang two numbers that made distinct hits. Miss Mae Murphy contributed a violin solo and in response to an encore gave a vocal solo that was much appreciated. Stutzman and Neubauer played on mandolins and the olio closed with a sketch, "The Outcast," very cleverly presented by Miss Marie Gillallon and Mr. Burke. The work of the music of the sketch was written by Mr. Burke. During this sketch Miss Gillallon's superb voice was heard to splendid advantage in "The Holy City."
Miss Teresa Loftus directed the music, and John J. Saltry was stage director.

ANOTHER SPECIAL MEETING.

Effort to Have Both Councils Approve Vosburg Bond Tonight.
Another attempt will be made tonight to have City Solicitor-elect Vosburg's bond approved by councils. Common council is scheduled to have a regular meeting and Mayor Moir has called a special meeting of the select branch.

The mayor said yesterday that he has been informed that select council will be held to be guilty of contempt of court if it does not meet in response to the special call, as the members are naturally expected to infer that they, too, must approve the bond.
A preemptory mandamus will at all events be asked for in case the select branch does not meet to approve the bond tonight, and it is likely, so the mayor says, that the costs will be placed on the absentees.
There seems to be no doubt but that the bond of City Solicitor-elect Vosburg will be approved by the common council at its regular meeting this evening. There is no desire upon the part of that body to avoid this duty. In fact, a majority of that branch met for that purpose on Tuesday evening, but as the call was not for a joint session, no organization was effected and consequently no action was taken.
If the Democratic members of the select council take the unfair advantage of the temporary absence of some of the Republican members at this time to prevent a quorum at the special session of the select council which has been called by the mayor for this evening, Mr. Vosburg will be compelled to ask for a writ of preemptory mandamus at once, which will subject these absentees to contempt proceedings and costs. He dislikes very much to go again into court, but will be compelled to do so as a matter of self-protection.
The election having been held to be valid and the fact of necessary establishment of the order of the court already made, the merely formal matter of the approval of the bond is all that is now before the councils.

CONTRACT IS COMPLETED

Mayor Moir Will Not Attach His Signature to It for a Time at Least—Injunction Is Probable.
City Solicitor M. A. McGinley completed the drawing up of the asphalt repair contract yesterday, and in the afternoon it was submitted to Mayor Moir for his signature. The mayor stated to General Manager West, of the Barber company, that he would let him know at 10 o'clock this morning what he would do in the matter.
To a Tribune reporter later in the day Mayor Moir said he would not sign the contract for the present at least. "There is no use of my signing it," said the mayor, "when the contractor says he will not certify if until the money is re-appropriated."
The mayor also says there is every likelihood of an injunction being sought to restrain the contractor from certifying the contract. Attorney Cornelius Comegys, he said, represented the contractor who were threatening the injunction.
When seen by a Tribune reporter Mr. Comegys said an injunction is very probable. E. Morris, who fought the original contract, will be the petitioner. He will take an appeal from Judge Gunter's decision on the ground that the contract in question does not contemplate the "ordinary repairs of highways," and consequently can not be awarded by a simple resolution. In the meantime he will seek to restrain the contractor from certifying to the contract.
The fact that another annoying delay in the asphalt repairs is threatened has caused the board of trade to issue a call for a general attendance of citizens at its regular meeting Monday night to discuss the matter and get about some movement to bring things to a head.

THE PRIMITIVE METHODISTS.

They Have Concluded Their Conference at Nanticoke.

Faster Than Ever.
For a long time the Lake Shore railway has held the United States record for fast mail service, but the company is not content unless it is always at the head of every body, so changes were made which enabled them to run the fastest regular mail carrier in the world, which leaves Buffalo at 8:30 a. m. eastern time and arrives in Chicago at 8:15 p. m. central time, making the run between the two cities in the remarkable time of 11 hours. Passengers travel on the Lake Shore railway as far ahead of other roads as is their mail service, and travelers between Buffalo and the West will save time and get best of service if they buy their tickets via Lake Shore railway.
