UNION STATION TO GO.

Dundaff Street Depot Will Be Abandoned One Week from Sunday. Workmen are now engaged putting in switches near the city station which will, after the 21st inst., be the union station from which all Eric passenger trains will start. The Dundaff street depot will be abandoned and Superintendent Manville says the structure will probably be removed. A water crane is being erected below the high works and locomotives having long runs will be supplied from the No. 28 tank.

The changes will be appreciated by the traveling public and by the railway employes, as the handling of business will be much facilitated.

With the Eric, Honesdale branch, regular Delaware and Hudson steam road business and the National Express company's office centered at the city station it will be a busy place.

THE MERCANTILE TAX.

The mercantile tax, which has heretofore been collected by the city treasurer will this year be collected by the county treasurer. At the treasury headquarters no reason could be given for the change. The commissions amount to about $225, and Carbondalians regret that this amount is to be divided from the exchequer of Treasurer Connor, who enjoys remarkable popularity among the business men.

PAVING OPERATIONS.

The paving operations on North Main street are being prosecuted with much energy by Plair & Kennedy. Brick laying was commenced yesterday and will be concluded today. Friday the thoroughfare will probably be thrown open to the public. Traffic has been considerably hampered at that point and the change will be welcomed.

The Four Cent store, which was dis covered on fire at 5 o'clock Sunday morning and which but for the prompt response to the alarm by the Crystal Fire company would have been destroyed, was again on are yesterday aternoon. At the time of the discovery no one was in the store, the proprietress, Miss Leah James, having Taylor castle, No. 267, at the grand only a few minutes before left for her dinner at the hotel, some distance away. An alarm was given and the hose cart was hitched to a team which was a caller on his mother, Mrs. W. W. was passing at the time and within five minutes after the discovery the firemen were at the burning building. Even then the flames had got a firm hold on the interior and quickly forcing the whole of the plate ginss window out, burned most flercely for some time. The stock of goods was entirely destroyed and the building was considerably damaged. The store is the property of Will Merritt, of Scott, and is insured in one of W. B. Swick's agencies for $1,000. The people running the store are strangers to the borough and only opened the business about six weeks ago. They carry considerable insurance-$1,200-considering the stock they had and the fact that the place was on fire twice in four days is remarkable. ### PECKVILLE.

A regular adjourned meeting of the borough council was held at the council rooms Tuesday evening. President Richard Reese called the meeting to order promptly at 8 o'clock. Secretary Jones called the roll. The following councilmen were present: Messrs. Hartman, Williams, Parry, Holford and Parry. The first order of business was the reading of the $5,000 bond ordinance. It passed secend reading. A discussion in regard to insurance policies carried upon the borough electric light plant. As several members expressed a wish to have them read in council, the secretary was instructed to have them on hand at the next meeting. A letter from the state department demanding the payment of $2.80 state tax on outstanding bonds was ordered paid. The ordinance and franchise under which the Scranton Traction company are now operating their road was produced and read and commented upon, Mr. Holford with the borough attorney relative to to traction company allowing electric light companies to use their poles throughout the borough in direct opposition to the borough's own electric light business. Within six months the wilderness had blossomed into the thriving town of Bridgewater, with five thousand inhabitants. There were old forty-niners from the Pacific slope, amateurs from Great Britain and the United States, prospectors from every field. Shafts and tunnels were driven by the hundreds. In the sinking of a shaft a mile south of the town, on a claim of B. Flint, of Belleville, who is now a member of the Canadian senate, a vein of white marble was discovered. At the suggestion of Flint, who wanted little or nothing for the material, the town of Bridgewater was built of solid It has even to this day a marble. court house, school, church, hotel, stores and private dwellings constructed wholly of this material.

While the town was booming the entire country round was prospected. Some of the shafts and tunnels were driven more than a hundred feet in depth, but, remarkable as it may seem, there was never enough gold found to pay the cost of a single mine in the

The place where the original nugget was found was christened "Aladdin's cave," and the land in its vicinity sold at fabulous prices. One farmer whose farm adjoined the cave sold five acres to an English syndicate for $100,000 The syndicate spent another $100,000 in developing the claim, but never obtained an ounce of free gold. An aged Irishman at Bridgewater. Patrick Keogh, received an offer of $125,000 for his farm, which consisted of a hundred acres of rock-piled, barren land. He refused the offer, holding out for $150,000, which he never got. Today any one could buy the property for $1 an acre.

Within a couple of years it became apparent to all that mining in Bridgewater would never pay, and the prospectors and citizens departed, leaving the marble town to settle down to a futureless desolation.
