SPEAKER FARR'S OPINION.

Way He Views the Governor's Slash of the School Appropriations.

Speaker Farr, who is the author of free school book and compulsory education laws, yesterday said that, while any reduction in the school appropriation is regretable, the lack of revenues must have made it necessary or Governor Stone would not make the cut, as he is a staunch friend of education and the public schools, The governor had only one of two things to do, deprive the hospitals of state aid, or reduce the school appro-priation. Without state aid nearly every local hospital or charitable institution in Pennsylvania would be compelled to close its doors.

The Governor truthfully says that the $500,000 a year which he has cut off from the school appropriation for school fund in 1893 for the purpose of alding the school districts to put into execution the free school book law enacted that year, the cost of which would be greatest in the first and eecond years of its operation.

Notwithstanding this reduction of the school fund. Pennsylvanie gives over half its revenues for educational purposes, a larger percentage than that given by any other state. As a re-sult of the state's generosity to the public schools and charitable institutions for several years past, expenditures have greatly exceeded the revenues, until today it has a floating indebtedness of over $3,000,000. The governor is opposed to a floating indebtedness. He wants the state to pay as it goes and has publicly and frequently stated that the expenditures must be reduced to the basis of the

In accordance with this commendable view, he has made sufficient reductions in expenditures to pay one and a half millions of dollars on its current indebtedness.

VERDICT FOR THE BANK.

Legal Aspect of the Case Will Come Up Later.

The case of the Traders' National bank of this city against the Fidelity and Casualty company, of New York, was tried last week in Pittsburg before Circuit Court Judge Acheson, of the United States circuit court. Upon the trial of the case the court permitted the bank to prove all of the defalcations of A. B. Williams, formerly cashier of the bank. After the evidence was all in the court instructed the jury to find for the bank for the amount of such defalcations as appeared on the face of the evidence to have been made between Feb. 1, 1895. and Feb. 1, 1896, thus leaving undecided the disposition of the balance of the defalcations made. Immediately upon the rendition of the verdict, which was for the sum of $3,500, court granted a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be had. This suit was upon a surety bond given to the bank by the Fidelity and Casualty company as surety for A. B. Williams, at the time cashier of the Traders' National bank, and from the peculiar and technical wording on the bond, the legal question as to the right of the bank to recover the balance of the defalcation from the surety company is now open and to be determined upon argument of rule

evident. The patient acts strangely, however, and tosses about. He either does not or pretends not to recognize his brother or friends who called to see him. The police investigated the case more carefully last night and found nothing of a suspicious nature in connection therewith. POSSIBILITY OF ANOTHER DIOCESE

CONVENTION WILL GIVE MAT-TER CONSIDERATION.

Opening Session to Be Held in Wilkes-Barre-Matter of Division of the Diocese Will Come Up in the Form of a Report from a Committee Appointed at the Altoona Convention - Probable Lines on Which the Diocese Will Be Divided

The convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, which opens to night in Wilkes-Barre, will be of unusual interest to the people of this part of Pennsylvania, as the question of dividing the diocese of Central Pennsylvania will be discussed. The present diocese contains 25,281 square miles and its population, according to the latest census was 2,141,103 persons. Two years ago the question of the division was considered but a systematic canvass made at that time disclosed the fact that but about one-fourth of the parishes were willing to consider the matter.

Last year it was revived and at the Altoona convention a committee was appointed to propose an equitable line of division and report at the next convention. This committee consisted of Rev. Dr. Allen, of Bethlehem; Rev. Madison, of Sunbury: Rev. Dr. Powers, of Pottsville; Mr. A. D. Holland, of this city; Judge North, of Columbia: Major Clement, of Sunbury, and Mr. W. R. Butler, of Mauch Cnunk.

The report of the committee will be awaited with interest. Many considerations must enter into the problem of dividing a large, active and prosperous diocese like Central Pennsylvania, which is one of the most important in the American Episcopal church. Present and future needs, growth of population, financial strength, general lines of travel, mission work, etc., must all be weighed and compared and the ac justment of a satisfactory line is problem of no small magnitude.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM Several lines have been proposed and is impossible to suggest any which will present no difficulty and meet with no objection. The plan which will eventually be adopted and which is support of the bishop, will probably a modification of what is known colloquially as the North and South line. This plan consists of the erection of a new diocese, which may naturally have the name of the diocese of Eastern Pennsylvania, Wayne, Wyoming, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Pike, Monroe, Carbon, Northampton, Lehigh, Schuylkill and Berks, The opinion seems universal that this diocese of Eastern Pennsylvania would be strong and vigorous and compact with all points easily accessible and along natural lines of travel, and that its potentialities in growth of population and in church advancement are very great. It has a population of about a million and a quarter, and will at the outset have seven thousand five hundred and sixteen communicants and property valued at $1,457,000.

The remaining twenty-five counties which will naturally retain the present name of Central Pennsylvania, will constitute a territory destined for a and towns of Williamsport, Harrisburg, Lebanon, York, Altoona, Bedford, Carlisle, Chambersburg, Sunbury, Huntington, Gettysburg, Bellefonte, Columbia and Danville. The district with its present boundaries will have a population of 1,124,000 with 5,972 communicants and church property valued at nearly twelve hundred thousand dol-

The line of division as above described will curiously enough divide the present Episcopal Endowment fund about equally and thus greatly simplify the work of division.

PROGRAMME FOR CONVENTION. The order of exercises for the convention will be as follows:

Tuesday evening-First sessiconvention. It will be preceded by the regular order of evening prayer, at 7.50, opening with the processional, headed by the vested choir and followed by the clerical and lay delegates, vestry of St. Stephen's, etc. The processional will emerge into the church from the parish building through the choir or transept door, will file down through the church by the north aisle, thence out through the lower door into the vestibule and thence up the middle aisle, the choir go ing to their places as usual in the tran-sept and the clergy will take seats reserved for them in front. After evening prayer Bishop Talbot will present his report for the year and there will be special music by the choir.

Wednesday, 8 a, m.—Holy communion and ordination of candidates for the priesthood. Followed at 10 o'clock by business sessions of the convention morning and afternoon, open to visitors In the evening at 8,30 there will be a reception in the parish building for the visiting clergy and deputies and for the parishioners and friends of St. Stephen's, Thursday, 10 a.m.—Consecration of St. Stephen's church, with address by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Henry C. Potter, of the diocese of New York, whose father preached the dedicatory sermon in the old St. Stephen's fifty years, ago. The processional for the consecration ser vices will form in the parish house and thence will proceed out of the south door and around the church to the front entrance, coming up the center aisle. NEW BANKRUPTCY RULES.

Make Clear Certain Vague Portions of the Act.

Referee C. A. Van Wormer yesterday received from Judge Buffington a copy of new rules promulgated for government of bankruptcy court. Attorneys daily have come to the judge asking for instructions upon some point which had arisen after the affairs of a bankrupt had been referrred to the referee, as they were under the impression that the regular judge was in everything still superior to the referee and that his judicial powers were such that decisions by him on these and other minor points were absolute with the referee. The new rules correct this Impression.

Another point on which great confusion had arisen was as to the mat-Rogers Israel, of this city; Rev. Charles | ter of discharge. It had been supposed that after the referee's report had been filed a discharge necessarily followed. Judge Buffington, however, clearly points out that under the act another ten days must clapse before such a discharge can be obtained, the extension being for the special purpose of allowing any creditor who was not satisfied with the manner in which the examination of the bankrupt had been conducted to file objections to his discharge.

The special point in the new rules as handed down is the judicial power of the referee. Once a case has been committed to him the act makes him absolutely the judge, and, therefore, all subsequent questions that may arise in any way connected with a bankruptcy will not, as had been expected, be dealt with by Judge Buffington, but must be taken to the court of the referee and be decided by him. Most important of all to the referees is the promulgation of a new fee bill understood to have the approval and which very largely increases the revenue of the office.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BARNARD.

Held from the Home of Her Mother

at New Haven, Conn. The funeral of Mrs. Hetty Fredrika Jarvis Barnard, wife of Mr. Montrose Barnard, of Hackensack, N. J., was held at 2.30 this afternoon, from the home of Mrs. Barnard's mother, Mrs. Jarvis, No. 54 Main street. The de-ceased was the daughter of the late John S. Jarvis and Elizabeth J. Hall, and the sister of Mrs. George W. Beach. Mr. Jarvis, who died during the Civil war period, was the youngest brother of Mrs. Samuel Colt. The services were conducted by Professor Hart, of Trinity college and the Rev. J. Henry Watson, of New York, who was the rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd for a number of years, during the residence of Mrs. Barnard in this city. The choir of that constitute a territory destined for a still more remarkable future. It contains the great and important cities Soul," and "Abide with Me." The floral tributes were of the richest character, showing the affection and love that were felt for the deceased by her friends here. The burial was in the Jarvis lot at Cedar Hill.

The bearers were: Mr. George Barnard, of Scranton, Pa.; General Geo. H. Day, Dr. Charles C. Beach, Mr. C. L. F. Robinson, of New York: Mr. Edward Barnard, of Scranton, and Mr. Edward E. Loomis, of Hackensack, N. J. Mr. Barnard and wife had recently removed from Pennsylvania. to Hackensack, and had made arrangements to reside there permanently. The death of Mrs. Barnard is regarded with genuine sorrow by her friends here and elsewhere. She was a woman of admirable traits of character, kindly and thoughtful in her life towards all, and most devoted in the work of the church to which she belonged.—Hartford Daily

NECESSARY MONEY IS BEING RAPIDLY RAISED.

The Three Thousand Dollars as a Bonus That Contractor Burley Asks Will Soon Be Forthcoming. At Last Night's Meeting a Soliciting Committee Was Appointed Who Will Visit the Property Owners Along the Line of the Proposed Improvement.

If the raising of $3,000 by popular subscription, which is to be added to the $33,000 of the bid of Dunn Bros., for the construction of the Seventeenth district main sewer, is the only obstacle in the way of the commencement of operations on the now famous sewer, it will be built.

At Storr's hall last night another gen eral meeting of the citizens was held, and the amount subscribed now makes the total close to $1,000, one-third of the amount Contractor Burley, of Dunmore, asks as a bonus over the bid of Dunn Bros. As stated in an article in yesterday's Tribune, the people of South Scranton want the much-needed improvement At the meeting last night, a committee of eleven leading men were named to canvags the property holders along the line of the proposed sewer, with a view of raising the $2,000 needed. The committee is composed of Attorney C. C. Donovan, Harry Klauminzer,

Joseph Schreiber, Hon. John J. Scheuer Jacob Demuth, Adam Breier, Conrad Piel, Charles Keifer, Select Councilman John J. Schneider and Edwin Frable and ex-Alderman Peter Robling. Mr. Burley, who is desirous of build-ing the sewer, was present at the session. He stated that he will take the contract of Dunn Bros, and with the

bonus he can go shead on the job. It is expected that the committee named will secure $2,000 before the end of this The next meeting of the citizens will be held at the joint call of Chairman
