

Special Reduction Sale OF BOOKS AT CUT PRICES To Reduce Our Stock.

We have selected from our surplus stock a good variety of MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS, which we offer at half and quarter the publisher's prices.

BLANK ACCOUNT BOOKS, all desirable sizes and all styles. Fancy and Staple Stationery for all uses, large variety and popular prices.

WALL PAPERS AND DECORATIONS, all grades and choice designs in beautiful colorings and combinations.

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES, Go-Carts, Express Wagons, large variety and attractive prices.

WINDOW SHADES TO ORDER for residences, offices and stores.

M. NORTON, 322 Lackawanna Ave., Scranton. 32 South Main St., Wilkes-Barre.

These Are Kodak Days

We can sell you anything in the Camera line and teach you how to use them.

THE GRIFFIN ART STUDIO 209 Wyoming Avenue.

Ice Cream. BEST IN TOWN. 25c Per Quart.

LACKAWANNA DAIRY CO Telephone Orders Promptly Delivered 32-337 Adams Avenue.

DR. A. A. LINDABURY.

Specialties—Surgery, Diseases of Women Office Hours: 11:15 to 12:30 p. m. At Residence: 2:15 to 4 p. m. Office—210 Conwell Building, Residence: 210 South Main Avenue.

Chas. McMullen & Co.

Have opened a General Insurance Office in the Traders' National Bank Building. Best Stock Companies represented. Large lines especially solicited. Telephone 1583.

KEELEY CURE

For Liquor, Drug and Tobacco Diseases. Pamphlet free. THE KEELEY INSTITUTE, 815 Madison Ave., SCRANTON, PA.

Scranton Transfer Co., HUOH J. KEENAN, Manager.

Checks Baggage direct from residence to any part of the United States. Office 109 Lacka. Ave. Phone 525 equal to new. Collars, cuffs and shirts are given either gloss or domestic finish, and the edges of your collars and cuffs are finished so they will not scratch.

We Do All Kinds Of Starch Work

LACKAWANNA LAUNDRY

268 Penn Avenue. A. B. WARTAN, PERSONAL.

Rev. John Kowala, of North Scranton, is visiting in Millersville, Pa.

Rev. W. C. Lauer, of Court street, is visiting in Millersville, Pa.

Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Spieker, of Mulberry street, will spend the coming two weeks in Philadelphia.

Arthur Dunlavy, representing A. Leichen & Sons' Rope company, of St. Louis, Mo., called on several firms in Scranton Saturday in the interest of his employees.

Patrick Fitzsimmons, of this city, was elected grand recorder secretary at the state grand court of Foresters of America held in Bethlehem last week.

The organization of the Scranton Bell and Nut works will bring back to Scranton in the fall, it is expected, L. M. Horton and Theodore Fuller, now engaged in business at Easton.

Master Car Builder L. T. Canfield, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad will return from a western trip today. He will be accompanied by his wife, who will select a residence here.

Major Everett Warren has been invited by the general Alumni society of the University of Pennsylvania to be their guest at the exercises of Alumni day at Philadelphia Tuesday, June 12, and to deliver an address.

A Clever Woman's Invention. On Monday and Tuesday a lady will be at Mack & Hagen's to explain the merits of the Triplex Skirt, Waist and Belt Lock. This is the most convenient article for securely holding skirt and waist together exhibited.

ANOTHER JUVENILE THIEF. Stole a Brass Valve to Sell It to a Junk Dealer. Unconscionable junk-dealers—encouraged or at least not greatly discouraged by law jurors—are responsible for another case of juvenile delinquency.

This latest victim of pernicious Pagnis is a fourteen-year-old boy from Luzerne street, a lad of excellent family and home surroundings. He was caught Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Potter while making away with a brass gate valve from the Dickson works. He told Chief Robling at first that he found it, but later admitted that he stole it and intended to sell it to a junk man.

While considering what disposition should be made of the case, Mayor Moir released the boy on $300 bail, which was furnished by his father. The valve is worth $25. The boy hoped to get enough out of it to take him to the circus.

BUFFALO BILL IS HERE. Wild West Arrives in Town and Pitches Its Tents in Pine Brook—Thousands Visit the Grounds.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West, for which the small boy and a thousand or eleven hundred boys who are not small, have waited with more or less eager anxiety since the first dead wall was demolished some six weeks ago with the initial announcement, is here and all primed to amuse, edify, excite and instruct.

The show came from Towanda and reached this city over the Jersey Central road, the half mile or more of special trains arriving at intervals during the night and early morning, and being unloaded as fast as they came in at the Central yards on West Lackawanna avenue and their contents were transferred to the exhibition grounds at the corner of Wyoming and Ash streets.

At nightfall, everything was in place and the 600 hands who accompany the show had a night for recreation and rest.

Thousands wended their way to the show grounds during the afternoon and watched the work of putting up the tents and study the thousand and one interesting sights incident to a circus ground.

The Indians in their wigwags attracted no end of attention, but the particularly interesting spot was a corral wherein was penned a Buffalo calf born two weeks ago at Pittsburg and named in honor of its birthplace.

Aside from the usual features of the Wild West show, Colonel Cody this year offers a troop of genuine rough riders, a troop of Cuban cavalry, and groups of Hawaiians, Filipinos and Samoans.

Among the Rough Riders is Tom Isbell, who fired the first shot in the charge up San Juan hill. One thing that the management wishes the public to be impressed with is that these features are just what they are represented to be.

Persons who see them can rest assured that they have seen the genuine article.

The exhibition is given in an arena surrounded on three sides by solidly constructed and comfortably arranged tiered seats, which are backed and canopied with canvas.

The arena is open. The parade will leave the exhibition grounds at 10 o'clock this morning and pass over the following route: Washington to Vine, to Wyoming, to Spruce, to Penn, to Lackawanna, to Washington and back to the grounds. The afternoon performance begins at 2 o'clock and the evening performance at 8 o'clock.

RATE OF CHARGES. "Furthermore that all patients of this class, private patients, were to pay in ward beds $1 per day and in private rooms from $10 to $15 per week, these amounts having been demonstrated as sufficient to pay all expenses necessary for the maintenance, dressings and care of such patients."

The additional advantages furnished the nurses for observation was one benefit of this policy which was brought to the attention of the directors of medical and surgical cases than those that had been treated prior to that time in the hospital. The course of lectures given by the augmented staff of the hospital was another advantage to the nurses and the training school, all of which contribute to the beneficial influence on the community while it added greatly (if you please) to the revenues of the institution.

wherein has this charity been abused by either patients or physicians? Has it not been of the very greatest benefit to patients, many of them poor persons who otherwise would have been unable to pay the great advantages of environment, hospital facilities and general equipment?

In regard to myself, one of the physicians mentioned in this article, I would respectfully state that to fully one-half of my private patients, or "specials," as this article has it, I have charged not one cent for my services and in certain instances where the patients were unable to defray the expenses, I have paid out of my own pocket the hospital charges. Dr. Roos I have known to do the same thing.

"It is a well known fact that General Manager Hallstead has paid out of his pocket money to defray the expenses of persons who were not entitled to the hospital, provided by the late Moses Taylor, but who he believed stood in need of the assistance that could be given them within its walls."

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

AN ATTACK UPON A WORTHY CHARITY

UNTRUE STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE HOSPITAL.

August Michael Did Not Apply for Admission to the Moses Taylor but Even if He Did the Terms of the Endowment Would Make It Impossible to Receive Him, Except as a Private Patient—An Interview with Dr. R. H. Gibbons Concerning the Matter.

A Sunday paper yesterday contained a long attack on the Moses Taylor hospital and Drs. Connell, Roos and Gibbons, of the hospital staff. It was a most flagrant attempt to manufacture public sentiment against one of the city's worthy charities.

The Moses Taylor is not a general public hospital, but in a sense a private institution endowed for a special purpose, and in this field is doing a great work for humanity. It is one of the institutions of which Scranton may well be proud.

Dr. R. H. Gibbons, one of the physicians mentioned in the article, was seen last night by a Tribune reporter and shown the article in question. When asked for a statement of the facts concerning the case of August Michael, Dr. Gibbons said:

"Ordinarily I object to rushing into print, because I would rather attend to the duties of my profession than air my views in the newspapers, but this is such an unwarranted perversion of the truth that the facts ought to be told, lest anyone should be imposed upon by this story."

HE DID NOT APPLY. "The statement that August Michael, or any one representing him, made application for admission to the Moses Taylor hospital is untrue, and even though he had made such application, he was not entitled to the benefits of the institution without pay, as the Mt. Pleasant colliery, where he is employed, is not a charitable institution, and neither is a Lackawanna Iron and Steel company property, and he did not therefore come under the heads designated by the great founder of this charity, the late Moses Taylor."

"A brother of August Michael, who is employed by one of the companies whose men are entitled to the benefits of the hospital, was received into it and is now recovering. This information I have from Drs. Davis and Kennedy, the senior and junior house physicians. So much for the rights of this individual."

"Nearly two years ago, after much abuse had been heaped upon the Moses Taylor hospital by the people and press of the city because of its locked doors, General Manager Hallstead, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, and president of the hospital, after devoting considerable thought to the matter, advised the directors that it would be to the interests of the community to give an increased number of physicians the privilege of operating and otherwise treating their patients within the hospital, the senior and junior house physicians. So much for the rights of this individual."

"Furthermore that all patients of this class, private patients, were to pay in ward beds $1 per day and in private rooms from $10 to $15 per week, these amounts having been demonstrated as sufficient to pay all expenses necessary for the maintenance, dressings and care of such patients."

The additional advantages furnished the nurses for observation was one benefit of this policy which was brought to the attention of the directors of medical and surgical cases than those that had been treated prior to that time in the hospital. The course of lectures given by the augmented staff of the hospital was another advantage to the nurses and the training school, all of which contribute to the beneficial influence on the community while it added greatly (if you please) to the revenues of the institution.

wherein has this charity been abused by either patients or physicians? Has it not been of the very greatest benefit to patients, many of them poor persons who otherwise would have been unable to pay the great advantages of environment, hospital facilities and general equipment?

In regard to myself, one of the physicians mentioned in this article, I would respectfully state that to fully one-half of my private patients, or "specials," as this article has it, I have charged not one cent for my services and in certain instances where the patients were unable to defray the expenses, I have paid out of my own pocket the hospital charges. Dr. Roos I have known to do the same thing.

"It is a well known fact that General Manager Hallstead has paid out of his pocket money to defray the expenses of persons who were not entitled to the hospital, provided by the late Moses Taylor, but who he believed stood in need of the assistance that could be given them within its walls."

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

AN ATTACK UPON A WORTHY CHARITY

UNTRUE STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE HOSPITAL.

August Michael Did Not Apply for Admission to the Moses Taylor but Even if He Did the Terms of the Endowment Would Make It Impossible to Receive Him, Except as a Private Patient—An Interview with Dr. R. H. Gibbons Concerning the Matter.

A Sunday paper yesterday contained a long attack on the Moses Taylor hospital and Drs. Connell, Roos and Gibbons, of the hospital staff. It was a most flagrant attempt to manufacture public sentiment against one of the city's worthy charities.

The Moses Taylor is not a general public hospital, but in a sense a private institution endowed for a special purpose, and in this field is doing a great work for humanity. It is one of the institutions of which Scranton may well be proud.

Dr. R. H. Gibbons, one of the physicians mentioned in the article, was seen last night by a Tribune reporter and shown the article in question. When asked for a statement of the facts concerning the case of August Michael, Dr. Gibbons said:

"Ordinarily I object to rushing into print, because I would rather attend to the duties of my profession than air my views in the newspapers, but this is such an unwarranted perversion of the truth that the facts ought to be told, lest anyone should be imposed upon by this story."

HE DID NOT APPLY. "The statement that August Michael, or any one representing him, made application for admission to the Moses Taylor hospital is untrue, and even though he had made such application, he was not entitled to the benefits of the institution without pay, as the Mt. Pleasant colliery, where he is employed, is not a charitable institution, and neither is a Lackawanna Iron and Steel company property, and he did not therefore come under the heads designated by the great founder of this charity, the late Moses Taylor."

"A brother of August Michael, who is employed by one of the companies whose men are entitled to the benefits of the hospital, was received into it and is now recovering. This information I have from Drs. Davis and Kennedy, the senior and junior house physicians. So much for the rights of this individual."

"Nearly two years ago, after much abuse had been heaped upon the Moses Taylor hospital by the people and press of the city because of its locked doors, General Manager Hallstead, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, and president of the hospital, after devoting considerable thought to the matter, advised the directors that it would be to the interests of the community to give an increased number of physicians the privilege of operating and otherwise treating their patients within the hospital, the senior and junior house physicians. So much for the rights of this individual."

"Furthermore that all patients of this class, private patients, were to pay in ward beds $1 per day and in private rooms from $10 to $15 per week, these amounts having been demonstrated as sufficient to pay all expenses necessary for the maintenance, dressings and care of such patients."

The additional advantages furnished the nurses for observation was one benefit of this policy which was brought to the attention of the directors of medical and surgical cases than those that had been treated prior to that time in the hospital. The course of lectures given by the augmented staff of the hospital was another advantage to the nurses and the training school, all of which contribute to the beneficial influence on the community while it added greatly (if you please) to the revenues of the institution.

wherein has this charity been abused by either patients or physicians? Has it not been of the very greatest benefit to patients, many of them poor persons who otherwise would have been unable to pay the great advantages of environment, hospital facilities and general equipment?

In regard to myself, one of the physicians mentioned in this article, I would respectfully state that to fully one-half of my private patients, or "specials," as this article has it, I have charged not one cent for my services and in certain instances where the patients were unable to defray the expenses, I have paid out of my own pocket the hospital charges. Dr. Roos I have known to do the same thing.

"It is a well known fact that General Manager Hallstead has paid out of his pocket money to defray the expenses of persons who were not entitled to the hospital, provided by the late Moses Taylor, but who he believed stood in need of the assistance that could be given them within its walls."

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

More and more enjoyable and better attended become the vesper services each Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Yesterday, in addition to the short sermon by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod, D. D., a quartette comprising Mrs. Crossin-O'Brien, Mrs. H. S. Keller, David Stephens and John T. Watkins sang two anthems and Mrs. Stephens sang a solo.

Dr. McLeod's sermon was based upon thoughts taken from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians and the thirteenth chapter. The theme was "Christian Love." He said that the epistle, while written in prose style, was really poetry and that it told of Christian love.

There were two main characteristics to this Christian love which placed it far above all else. These were its comprehensiveness and its permanence. This love rises above all other graces. It must be linked with all these or they are as nothing.

This love strengthens, beautifies, makes one tolerant and is long suffering. To have this grace is to have the spirit of Jesus Christ, which grace, which will make us like Him hereafter, is the only grace which makes us like Him here and we should acquire it.

THE VESPER SERVICE. Held in the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

RAN OPPOSITION TO LICENSE COURT

ARCHBOLDIANS WILL PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY.

Instead of Applying for a Renewal of Their Liquor Licenses They Banded Together, so It Is Alleged, and Agreed Not to Take Chances with the Constables as Other Saloon Men in the Town Had Been Doing for Years—Indignant Citizens Take a Hand in the Game.

There will be a pronounced departure from the customary, farcial "return day" proceedings, this morning, when the three constables of Archbold borough come before the court to make their report.

They will return a large number of speakies, and will, in addition to this, admit to court that there are still others in their bailwick which are being watched.

This will be no surprise to the court. President Judge Archbold is expecting it. Last week Attorney Joseph U. Brown and Clarence Balentine, representing a citizens' committee, Archbold, waited outside the court and gave him a list of twenty-seven places where liquor is being sold illegally and of five licensed places that are suspected of violating the laws by selling on Sunday.

The attorneys also stated that the proprietors of these places had been notified to desist in their violations at once or take the consequences. The constables learned of this bomb that was awaiting them, and to protect themselves, had warrants sworn out on Saturday afternoon for the arrest of a number of the speak-easy proprietors, and these they will return to court this morning when they are called upon to make their quarterly report.

CITIZENS' MOVEMENT. The crusade which is responsible for all the excitement in the Traverser & Maloney affair, according to Detective Will F. Clifford, who is acting for the citizens' committee. It is a movement, he says, on the part of a few of the most prominent citizens of the town to bring about something like a decent observance of the law.

There are only five licensed places in the borough of Archbold. Previous to the last session of license court there were more than twice this number. The large falling off in licenses set an inquiry afoot which disclosed that only a few of the old houses had made application for a renewal of their licenses. A further inquiry developed the startling fact that the proprietors of the old places that had not applied for renewals, had had a secret meeting and agreed not to take out licenses this year, feeling that it was unjust to them to have to pay a fee while a dozen or more of very pretentious saloons were doing a wide open business year after year without paying a fee—at least without paying a fee to the court.

In a word they were led to believe that the constables were issuing cheaper licenses than the court and they concluded to patronize home industry. This was crowding things a little too much, the good people of the town thought, and they proceeded to call a halt to it. Detective Clifford was engaged to secure evidence against the violators and when he had procured witnesses enough to establish a clear case against each and every one of them he sent them the following notice:

THE NOTICE FOLLOWING. International Secret Service Agency, Scranton, Pa., May 17, 1899. You must stop the sale of all intoxicating drinks at once, or prosecutions will follow.

Twenty-seven persons received this notice. They are: Mrs. P. J. Cooligan, J. J. Scanlan, Thomas F. Wells, Martin Pryle, Christ. Lind, P. F. Caffrey, W. H. Ball, James Padden, Thos. Price, Mrs. Arnold Colliway, Frank Wagner, Michael Murrey, Richard Baltus, North Main street; M. J. Swift, Mrs. Patrick Cronin, John Dougher, Mrs. Peter Probst, Mrs. Mary A. Mohr, Hill street; John Mullerkey, John Severn, Solon street; John O'Hara, opposite Delaware and Hudson depot; Charles Reedy, George Marook; John Curran, M. McDonnell, John Newcomb and Bridget Loftus.

The five licensed places received notices warning them against selling on Sunday.

The notices were personally served and the proprietors were given to understand that business was meant. Detective Clifford stated yesterday that his men will be in Archbold this week and that there is evidence forthcoming that his notices are being disregarded he will proceed at once with prosecutions.

He says he has from four to twenty witnesses against each place and is satisfied that he can secure a conviction in every instance. A constable, who was found drinking in a speak-easy, according to Detective Clifford, will be summoned as one of the witnesses. He will be in court today and will see to it, he says, that court will not be misled by the constables as to the condition of affairs in Archbold.

Decoration Day Excursion to Niagara Falls via Lehigh Valley Railroad. Rate from Scranton to Niagara Falls and return will be $6.95. Tickets will be sold good going on train No. 3, May 27; all trains except the Black Diamond Express, May 28, and train No. 3, May 29. Good to return on all trains, except the Black Diamond Express, to and including May 30, 1899. Inquire of Lehigh Valley ticket agents for further particulars.

DIED. DAVIS—In West Scranton, May 20, 1899, Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, aged 30 years, at her home, 53 Evans court. Funeral at home this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment in Union cemetery, Scranton.

MOORE—In New York city, May 20, 1899, Linus W. Moore, of New Milford, Pa. Funeral announcement later.

PRICE—In Philadelphia, May 20, 1899, Frank Price, 22 years of age.

RAUSCHMEIR—In Scranton, May 19, 1899, Mrs. Jacob Rauschmeir, 77 years of age, at the residence, 54 North Washington avenue. Funeral Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Requiem mass at St. Mary's church, South Scranton, Interment in the German Catholic cemetery.

SMITH—In West Scranton, May 20, 1899, Mrs. Louise Smith, aged 54 years, at her home, 1026 West Linden street. Funeral private at home this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Cathedral cemetery.

CIRCUS EMPLOYEE INJURED.

He Is Now Being Treated at the Lackawanna Hospital.

Frank Eldridge, one of the teamsters in the Buffalo Bill aggregation, was admitted to the Lackawanna hospital yesterday morning, suffering from injuries received at Easton shortly before midnight Saturday. His left forearm is fractured in a compound manner and the hand is crushed. His back and left shoulder are severely contused.

At the time the accident occurred Eldridge was driving a heavy load of tent poles and seat boards from the grounds to the cars. In going down a short incline, he leaned forward to put on his brake, and at this moment the front wheel on the off side struck a large stone. He was pitched off