MEETING OF WORKERS' BAND. Held Last Evening in the Y. M. C.

A. Rooms. The meeting of the Workers' band last evening in the Young Men's Christian association rooms at 316 Washington avenue, was well attended, over thirty young men being present, J. F. Surdam addressed the meeting and spoke from I Timothy, iv:12, "Let no man despise thy youth." His talk was of much encouragement to all, and many expressed a desire to do more in the future toward helping other young men with a knowledge of God. He mentioned some of the ways in which a young man could better do this work, by setting a good example, by having one's conversation pure, and by giving attention to the doctrine of one's faith. "Do not drift, he said, "know what you believe and believe it with all your hearts." He also urged a close study of the Pible, and to never neglect the gift that is in one; talents that may be used in one way or another for the advancement of God's kingdom here on earth. The service closed with a rousing testimony meeting.

Announcement.

The Green Ridge Lumber company having decided to retire from the contracting and building business take this method to announce the same. In the future we will devote ourselves to the sale of building material and shop work which we think is for the best interest, not only for ourselves but for the carpenters and contractors in general. We thank all of our old customers for past favors and solicit from them and others at least a portion of their trade. Our experience in the contracting and building business for the past fourteen years and the equipment of our mill for this particular work, we think, without flattery to ourselves, puts us in a position to get out stairs, store and bar fixtures, interior trim and mill work of all kinds better and cheaper than very many in the same trade. Send us your plans and we will give you estimates on this work. We shall keep at all times a complete stock of all kinds of lumber, sash, doors, etc., etc., which we will sell at the very lowest prices. Green Ridge Lumber Co.

MENTION OF SOME MEN OF THE HOUR

HARVEY R. LONG. THE LOCAL THEATRICAL MANAGER.

Was Very Successful in His Management of the Academy of Music and the Lyceum-Will Devote the Summer to His Base Ball Interests-Success of T. D. Van Osten with the Elks' Minstrel Company. To Manage a Big Burlesque Company Next Season.

The Academy of Music and the Lyceum have closed for the season, and Harvey R. Long, who managed both houses for Burgunder & Reis, has the satisfaction of knowing that both made money for the lessee and moreover closed the season more firmly entrenched in the good graces of the theatergoers than ever before. At the Academy a fine line of popular priced shows were seen, and the way the public appreciated them was demonstrated by the big audiences that rowded the theater at almost every performance. So well were the tastes. of the patrons of the Academy guaged by Mr. Long and so well was the ability of the companies booked known that few disappointments are recorded and scarcely a company left the house that dld not make money for its owner and for the lessees of the Academy.

Mr. Long has been connected with he Academy in various capacities since he was a boy. He has made a study of the theater-going population of the city and knows what they want and what they don't want in a theatrical way. So far as lies in his nower he endeavors to give it to them. He is commendably strict in the management of the house. Attaches of the theaters must be courteous and obliging and he will tolerate nothing that savors of hoodlum conduct on the part of patrons.

One day several months ago a number of well-dressed young men went into the Academy of Music during a matince and began to guy the performers and endeavor to spoil the performance for those who had paid to show and wanted to be permitted to enjoy it. The suddenness with which Manager Long had these misguided youths ejected from the iouse fairly made their heads swim.

"Good clothes won't save any man in this house who does not behave himself," said Mr. Long in commenting on the incident, "We propose to protect the people who visit the Academy in every way in our power, and any person who tries to mar their enjoyment by disturbing a performance or making himself obnoxious in any way will have to get out." That line of policy has had its effect. Unpleasant incidents at the Academy are rare.

pany. At present the men are working The season at the Lyceum has been very gratifying. Never before in its history were a greater number of really high-class attractions seen there, and never before were there so few that merited condemnation. The best road companies that have toured the country this season were seen on the stage of the Lyceum.

During the summer Mr. Long will devote a part of his time and energies It is expected that the whole work who had sufficient faith in the base ball future of this city to put up their money early in the spring to secure an Atlantic league franchise for this city. It was a hard up-hill fight the stockholders had for weeks in their efforts to secure a franchise, grounds and an acceptable team, but they succeeded and believe that before the end of the season it will be demonstrated that they were not mistaken when they decided the Scrantonians will patronize clean, swift ball playing.

Handicapped at the outset with a team the members of which had never played together before, the results achieved up to date have been quite satisfactory and the members of the association believe that before the end of the season Manager Swift will have his club well up among the leaders in the league race.

Mr. Long has had the outlining of the business policy of the association, and his success in the theatrical and bill posting business is an indication of what may be expected in this new field. "We want to treat the players right," said Mr. Long, "and in return expect them to play good, honest ball every day. If a man is not willing to do that he can't wear a Scranton uniform. The players have done their full share to injure the game in Scranton in the past but under the present regime we hope for better things."

T. D. Van Osten, who so successfully drilled the performers who took part in the Elks' minstrel show, is a theatrical man of many years' exper-His ability was shown by the perfect manner in which the performences moved along Wednesday and Thursday nights. None of the annoying delays that usually are very prominent at amateur performances were observed. One act followed the other with the same precision as to time that would have been expected if the performers were professionals and were engaged every night in entertaining the public. Although the encores were numerous Manager Van Osten had the performance over at 11 o'clock, another innovation in amateur theatricals that was very noticeable and very much appreciated.

The Elks were certainly fortunate in securing Mr. Van Osten for their guide and manager. A large share of the success their efforts met with belongs to him and is freely accorded to him by his brother Elks. No words of praise apparently are warm enough to express their appreciation of the services he rendered to the lodge. As a result of the two performances given at the Lyceum the treasury of the Elks is about $1,000 richer.

Mr. Van Osten has experienced more ups and downs than usually fall to the lot of the average theatrical manager. He was the owner of the farce, 'Miss Philadelphia," which created a big sensation in Philadelphia and was a great money maker. It was essentially a Philadelphia production, Willlam Penn and others, whose memory are held sacred in the Quaker City, figuring conspicuously in it. After a long and prosperous run in Philadelphia Mr. Van Osten took the company out on the road. The piece was duced in the Academy of Music in this city three seasons ago when it was a high priced house and attracted a large audience. It gave general satisfaction as it did almost everywhere that it was produced. Mr. Van Osten decided to give the people of New York an opportunity of seeing it so he rented a Broadway theater for a term and put on "Miss Philadelphia." The people of the metropolis turned up their highly cultivated theatrical noses at the Quaker City Miss, and Mr. Van Osten saw the fortune he made on "Miss Philadelphia," in the city of her nativity and on the road rapidly swept Next season he will manage a big burlesque show and have At Reeves as his partner. He expects if luck favors him to be on his theatrical feet at the end of the season. His ambition is to make enough of money to enable him to run a high-class theater in this city.

COUNCILMEN ARE IN A BAD PLIGHT

COURT SAYS THEY ARE GUILTY OF CONTEMPT.

Capiases Issued for Them and Placed in the Hands of the Sheriff. They Are Returnable Saturday Morning - Arguments Will Be Made to Judges of the Superior Court Today for a Supersedeas Council Can Approve of the Bond on Thursday Night.

Two things can occur between now and Saturday that will keep nine members of the select council of Scranton out of jail. It is highly probable that one of the two things will be recorded before Saturday as having been done.

A short time since the court of this ounty issued a mandamus compelling he councils of Scranton to approve the bond of City Solicitor-elect A. A. Vosburg and last Thursday night the select council at its meeting ordered the city solicitor to take an appeal from the decision of the court and then proreeded to disobey the mandate of the ourt by refusing to confirm the bond. J. A. Lansing, W. M. Finn, F. F. Mc-Cann and Edward James were not present at the meeting and the following, constituting a majority of the members present, voted against confirming J. J. Kearney, John E. Roche, T. C. Melvin, John Shea, Adam Schroeder, Thomas Frable, Edmund Frable, T. J. Coyne and J. J. McAn-

Friday Mr. Vosburg obtained a rule returnable yesterday to compel the members of select council to show cause why they should not have writs of attachment issued against them for contempt of court. The rule was made returnable yesterday morning. Judges Archbald and Gunster were on the The councilmen were represented by ex-Judge Knapp and Hon. John P. Kelly and Mr. Vosburg by Attorneys James H. Torrey and George S. Horn.

THE HEARING.

At the opening of the hearing Mr. Horn stated that they had the return of the sheriff showing the service of the mandamus on the members of council. The petition on which the rule was granted cited the contempt of the councilmen.

Mr. Kelly asked that the rule be continued. He though the rule pre-mature. In his opinion a reasonable opportunity should be given the councilmen to appeal the case and have the question passed upon by the appellate court. The court seems to be clear, he said, that Mr. Vosburg is entitled to the office, but he believed the court was in error, and the council, acting under that advice, refused to accept the bond.

They did this, not out of any contempt for the court, but on the belief that they have the right to appeal. Mr. Kelly said an application was made for a supersedas from this court and if that petition was refused they wanted a reasonable time to make application to the superior court. If the superior court refuses a supersedeas then the council shall assemble at the carliest opportunity and comply with the order of court.

Mr. Torrey replied that a supersedeas would tie the matter up for a year and The judges retired for consultation and when they again came on the bench Controller Howell at once fished out Judge Archbald handed down the following: "The application to have the appeal > made a supersedeas is refused." CAPIAS DIRECTED. "The rule to show cause why the respondents should not be committed for contempt for failure to comply with the mandate of the court is made absolute and thereupon a capias is directed to issue to bring in the respond-

aken to the Supreme court in this case

ents on Saturday, May 27, at 9 o'clock Judge Archbald said that the view they took of the matter was that prima facie Mr. Vosburg was elected and entitled to have his bond approved, so that the title of the office could be contested in the regular way. They had decided that Mr. Vosburg was elected from the fact that he received twentyone out of forty-one votes. Mr. Vosburg was entitled to have his bond approved that he might have title to the office and be able to begin quo warranto to test the legality of his elec-Application was at once made to Judge P. P. Smith, of the Superior court, for a supersedeas to stay the lower court until the case is reviewed by the higher tribunal. Judge Smith said that President Judge C. E. Rice would be in the city today and they would be prepared to hear arguments. They will be made at 10.30 this morn-

If the Superior court refuses the supersedeas, council can at its meeting Thursday night purge itself of its conempt by approving the bond.

The capiases are now in the hands of the sheriff. They are directed against all of the councilmen, but only those who refused to approve of the bond will have to suffer in the event of the court being compelled to commit the councilmen for contempt.
