GIVE A GREAT SHOW.

What Pittsburg Dispatch Says of the Wallace Circus.

"The Great Wallace Shows opened a two days' engagement at Exposition park yesterday afternoon, and the programme presented was the best seen in this city for years, and was greeted with shouts of applause," says the Pittsburg Dispatch. "The acrobatic feats of the Nelson family, the greatest in their line in the world, were simply marvellous, the Angalos are the equals of any living artists in the business, and the grand ballet, led by the famous Miss Mavort, was a new departure in a circus performance, and one that was greatly appreciated. There were innumerable acts by first-class artists, while a small army of really funny clowns kept the audience convulsed by their absurdities. * * * The show scored a great success."

It will exhibit here on Friday, June 2, on Ash street grounds.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY
Entertained by Mrs. C. D. Simpson Yesterday Afternoon.

Mrs. C. D. Simpson entertained the Foreign Missionary society of Elm Park church yesterday afternoon at a delightful tea in her home on Olive street. It was the occasion of the annual "thanks offering day."

Mrs. Simpson gave a brief talk regarding thanks offerings and spoke of Bishop Joyce's statement that the women of Korea had no name until they were baptized into the Christian religion.

Miss Hawley read a paper on thank offerings for buildings in Korea and stated in the course of the address she stated that the national hue of mourning is white. If a member of the royal family dies, the entire nation must go into mourning. As there are frequent deaths in that high station, the constant changing would be not only expensive but troublesome, so the Koreans wear white all the while, the men being arrayed in long white coats, with a fashionable flare to the tails and very full trousers tied closely about the ankles, a costume which makes the women of the land a race of laundresses.

A discussion ensued regarding the meeting of the Philadelphia branch, which includes Pennsylvania and Delaware and which will take place in October in this city. The occasion will bring 200 or more delegates to the city and a vast number of visitors. The sessions will be held in Elm Park church. Mrs. Keene is in the city to assist in making preparations for the event.

Mrs. G. F. Reynolds is chairman of the coming day's entertainment. Mrs. C. M. Griffin, Mrs. C. E. Scott, Mrs. Arja Williams and Miss Tillie Hawley constitute the other members. At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served and the time was given up to social enjoyment.

Supersedeas Granted.
On the Strength of the Action of the Supreme Court Select Council Refused to Confirm Mr. Vosburg's Bond.

Chief Justice Sterrett and Justice McCollum of the state Supreme court at Philadelphia yesterday made the appeal to that court in the condemnatory mandamus matter a supersedeas.

The arguments to the court were made by Attorney George S. Horn on the part of Mr. Vosburg and ex-Judge H. A. Knapp for the councilmen and City Solicitor McGinley. The argument took place at the house of Chief Justice Sterrett. After listening to the arguments, the justices held a consultation and then decided they would allow the supersedeas. They said there is a question as to the vacancy and as to the election which ought to be passed upon and settled.

They fixed the amount of the bond at $1,000, and said they would be prepared to hear the case at an early day. While a date was not decided upon, it is probable the case will be heard in July.

City Solicitor McGinley was in Philadelphia, but was not present at the hearing. Messrs. Horn and Knapp returned last night. Mr. McGinley yesterday sent the following telegram to City Clerk Lavelle:

Philadelphia, Pa., May 25.
M. T. Lavelle, city clerk, Scranton, Pa.: Order of supersedeas granted by Justice Sterrett and McCollum, who both expressed the opinion that there was neither a vacancy or election.

M. A. McGinley.

The select council last night on the strength of the action of the supreme court refused to approve the bond of Mr. Vosburg.

CHAIRMAN'S REMARKS.
In accepting the office of chairman of the meeting, Mr. Willard spoke as follows:

We have assembled here to further the interest of our fellow-townman, Rowland Archibald, in his laudable ambition to be advanced from the bench of the court of common pleas of Lackawanna county, which he has occupied for many years, to the bench of the Supreme court of the commonwealth. The position sought is second to none in the commonwealth and I wish to say right here that I know of no man in the state of Pennsylvania better fitted to fill the position than Judge Archibald.

I have practiced before him all the years that he has been upon the bench and his fitness for the bench of the Supreme court is beyond question. To present to the people of the commonwealth the name of a man who has such high and noble qualifications for that position is the object of this meeting.

I say without the fear of contradiction to all who are assembled here and to the people of the commonwealth, that Judge Archibald has been elected for the Supreme court no better or warmer name could appear upon the slate, and I say to the state, and to the people of this commonwealth, that if there is any man of this character upon your slate and there will be no occasion for slating.

Trained and educated in Yale university, he came to the bar fully equipped for his work. A few years after his admission he became judge of our courts. How well he has performed his duties is shown by his record, and the lawyers here present who have practiced before him can all testify to his sterling character as an upright and able judge.

In all his career upon the bench he has shown neither favoritism, nor partiality, nor bias. Patient, honest and upright in all his rulings, opinion and decrees, he has gone to the root of the matter under investigation and with the rules of law and equity for his guide he has adjudged the matters before him clearly, squarely and correctly and his rulings have uniformly been affirmed by the appellate court and no jurist in the commonwealth is better fitted today for the place upon the bench of that court, second to none in the state, than our venerable chief justice.

We are not here to advance the cause of a place seeker but to present to the people of the commonwealth a man and a jurist fully equipped for the bench of the Supreme court. And we, his neighbors and friends, now assembled, send greeting to every citizen in the state with the assurance that Judge Archibald is elected to the Supreme bench, the bench and the profession will profit thereby and the people of the commonwealth will have a chief justice faithfully, fearlessly and intelligently administer the law.

E. M. Vernoy was chosen secretary and Chairman Willard called Judge

Archibald to make a further statement concerning the object of the meeting. The latter said that a man in politics is strong in proportion to his strength at home. It was only by the assistance of his friends, he said, that he could hope to achieve his ambition.

"I need your assistance," continued Judge Archibald, "and I ask it. As you know two vacancies occur in the supreme court this year, one by the death of the late Justice Williams, and the other by the expiration of the term of Chief Justice Sterrett, who is the only member of the court residing west of the Allegheny mountains. The nearest member of the court to that part of the state is Justice Dean, who resides near Altoona. The question of geographical location will probably be argued by the men from the western part of the state in the selection of a candidate for supreme court justice."

"So far as I know at present the other candidates who are seeking the nomination are Judge Henderson, of Crawford county; Judge Morrison, of Indiana county; Judge Harry White, of the supreme court judge Wallace, of Lawrence county; Judge Longnecker, of Bedford county and Judge W. D. Porter, of Pittsburg, at present a member of the superior court."

Judge Archibald then went on to say that he has been endorsed by the bars of twenty counties of the state and has assurances that the delegates from a number of these counties will be instructed for him. The friends and acquaintances he made while a candidate for the supreme court nomination in 1887 and 1888, he felt, will be a considerable advantage to him now.

HIS DESIRE.

His desire, he said, that this country go to Harrisburg and with unanimity ask for his nomination. To avoid a fight of any kind in the selection of delegates he had, after a consultation with his friends, decided to suggest to the meeting the endorsement of the gentlemen named in the opening paragraphs of this story for state delegates.

If these delegates were chosen the only other thing he had to suggest was the appointing of a committee to issue a circular concerning his candidacy which would be sent to the delegates to the state convention and prominent members of the party in the state generally.

M. H. Dale said he believed the great mass of the Republican voters of the county would willingly and cheerfully endorse the gentlemen named by Judge Archibald and he moved that those present pledge their best efforts to secure the election of these delegates. This motion was seconded by Major W. S. Millar and was unanimously adopted.

District Attorney John R. Jones presented the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

That the chairman appoint a committee of at least ten Republicans of Lackawanna county, to be known as the committee of R. W. Archibald for the Supreme bench and that they distribute the same throughout this state, to delegates already elected to the Republican state convention and to the Republicans throughout the commonwealth, and that this committee use all honorable means to further the candidacy of Judge Archibald.

Chairman Willard announced that he would appoint the committee after consultation with Judge Archibald.

OTHER SPEECHES.

Major Everett Warren was called upon for remarks and spoke of Judge Archibald's great fitness for the position he seeks and the necessity of having some one on the Supreme bench who has a knowledge of the anthracite coal industry. He was in Pittsburg recently and found that many of the leading Republicans there expressed the nomination of Judge Archibald. The latter is well known there and has a large number of admirers who will be pleased to see him elevated to a position he is so well qualified to adorn.

A. J. Cameron also referred to the strength Judge Archibald possesses in the western part of the state. He recently returned from a trip through the state and found a host of Archibald admirers in Somerset, Butler and other counties.

C. A. Van Wagoner, who came here from Montrose a few months ago, spoke of the hearty manner in which Judge Archibald's candidacy is received in Susquehanna county, and M. W. Lowry told of a conversation he recently had with a Centre county lawyer. The latter told him that the members of the Centre county bar have nothing to do with it, the delegates from that county will be instructed for Judge Archibald. His candidacy is endorsed to a man by the members of the Centre county bar.

J. A. Scranton said it was not necessary for him to assent to them that he was heartily in favor of the election of Judge Archibald to the Supreme bench. The committee that will have charge of his candidacy should put upon a broader footing than anthracite coal. If a candidate for the position, he remarked that when Judge Hand was a candidate and when Judge Archibald was before seeking a nomination and the necessity of the anthracite counties having a representation on the bench of the state is self-evident.

"From the way things look to an outsider, this is Judge Archibald's year," said Mr. Scranton. "I sincerely hope it is. No one would be more pleased than I if the state at last should do us justice by nominating Judge Archibald. I have an acquaintance with many of the common pleas judges of the state and I believe he is head and shoulders above most of them."

Hon. John R. Farr said he believed the Lackawanna delegation should go to Harrisburg and work with heart and soul for Judge Archibald. He had discovered at Harrisburg that Judge Archibald is very popular in all parts of the state. His recognized fitness for the place and his other qualities make him an ideal candidate.

CANDIDACY OF JUDGE ARCHIBALD
GIVEN AN ENTHUSIASTIC START BY HIS FRIENDS.

Largely Attended Meeting Was Held in the Superior Court Room, at Which It Was Decided to Work for the Election of the State Delegates Named by Judge Archibald. Committee of Ten to Be Appointed to Forward His Candidacy in Every Honorable Way.

In the superior court room of the court house yesterday afternoon a meeting was held to advance the candidacy of Judge R. W. Archibald for the Republican nomination for justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania. The meeting was attended by a large number of representative Republicans of Lackawanna county who were very much impressed with the availability of Judge Archibald at this time because of the common pleas judges of the state, his extensive acquaintance and his ability to bring to the supreme bench a thorough knowledge of questions that come up for consideration in the complicated coal cases the supreme court is yearly called upon to decide. His age and long experience on the bench, for a man in the very prime of life, are also considered great elements in his favor.

It was the sense of the meeting that it should be given the following gentlemen who have been selected as state delegates in his four legislative districts of the county: First, W. R. Lewis, West Scranton; Second, E. M. Vernoy, central city; Third, W. P. Griffiths, Taylor; Fourth, Hon. John T. Reynolds, Carbondale.

JUDGE WILLARD PRESIDED.

The meeting was presided over by Hon. E. N. Willard, ex-Judge of the superior court and chairman of the Republican county committee. He was instructed to appoint a committee of at least ten, of which he is to be ex-officio a member, who will take the necessary steps to bring Judge Archibald's fitness for the nomination to the attention of the Republicans of the state.

The meeting was called to order at 4 o'clock by Attorney James H. Torrey, who suggested Hon. E. N. Willard for chairman. Mr. Willard was unanimously chosen. Present at the meeting were:

Prothonotary John Copeland, Hon. W. K. Beck, Deputy Postmaster D. W. Powell, Mine Inspectors Henry O. Fryer and Edward Roderick, Commissioners Clerk C. F. Wagner, Clerk of the Courts T. P. Daniels, Deputy Clerk of the Courts Emil Bonn, Louis N. Gramer, and Hon. John P. Reynolds, of Carbondale; Colonel H. M. Boles, Colonel E. H. Ripple, Postmaster John H. Thomas, of Carbondale; Hon. C. P. O'Malley, Attorney W. R. Lewis, ex-Prothonotary; E. H. Dyer, T. R. Brooks, County Superintendent; W. S. Millar, J. P. Alderman W. S. Millar, R. A. Zimmerman, District Attorney John R. Jones, Assistant District Attorney W. Gaylord Thomas, Attorney M. W. Lowry, ex-Judge W. H. Jessup, John W. Resse, Taylor; E. M. Vernoy, Sheriff Clarence E. Freyer, Attorney W. S. Millar, Attorney A. A. Vosburg, Major J. V. Oakford, Attorney C. E. Oliver, Senator J. C. Vaughan, C. W. Schank, Attorney A. J. Colburn, Attorney John M. Harris, ex-School Controller E. L. Wornser, Attorney George M. Watson, Hon. J. A. Scranton, Attorney W. S. Millar, Attorney R. W. Beck, Attorney C. A. Van Wagoner, County Commissioner Giles Roberts and S. W. Roberts, Hon. W. W. Watson, James H. Torrey, Reese G. Brooks, E. B. Sturges, Attorney J. E. Burr, Luther Keller, Mayor James Miller, George W. Okell, George W. Beck, Attorney Councilman Wade M. Finn, Attorney Byron Akery, J. J. Williams.

Public Day at Training School.
PUPILS GAVE A DEMONSTRATION OF METHODS.

Exercises Opened with Singing and the Remainder of the Time Was Devoted to Teaching by the Pupils of the School—Programme That Was Observed—Miss Mary E. Sykes, the Training Teacher, Was Congratulated by the Many Visitors Present Yesterday Afternoon.

The pleasant room of the Scranton Training school was the center of attraction at the high school building yesterday. As is the custom at commencement time the walls were almost hidden by the rich, changing greens of homelike bouquets, while insubstantial wood forms made a tropical corner at the further side of the department. Flags gave a bright note of color in the decorations.

Miss Mary E. Sykes, whose work as a training teacher has been so satisfactory during her stay in Scranton, was congratulated by the many visitors yesterday afternoon on the unmistakable evidences of her practical ideas and the intelligence of the young women under her charge. There was a large class and the faces of the mothers bore the signs of unusual refinement and intellectualty.

The afternoon exercises opened with singing, after which the entire time was devoted to demonstrations of actual work. Classes of little people were brought in and were taught by various members of the class, not by any means a "show lesson," but in the regular every day work which, with the teacher who has gone this far in the training school, never degenerates into mere routine.

The eager, active interest evinced by the small pupils, whose attention it is always difficult to fix, was a significant comment upon the methods employed. The pupil-teachers at time formed the class under instruction and the enthusiasm brought out in the course of the lesson was contagious and was the regular every day work which, with the teacher who has gone this far in the training school, never degenerates into mere routine.

FLOOD IN THE SCHOOLEY MINE.
More Pumps Are to Be Put in Operation.

The flood in the Schooley shaft at Pittston has risen to a point between eleven and twelve feet from the bottom of the shaft. All of the energies of the officials are just now being bent toward removing the water from the fourteen-foot vein and preventing it from flowing down the shaft. There are seven pumps at work in the fourteen-foot vein, and the volume of water that finds its way into the vein can be judged from the fact that all of these pumps are unable to remove the water, the overflow running into the shaft.

Two more pumps are on the ground and will be put in operation as soon as possible. It is hoped that when the additional pumps get in operation, all of the water running into the fourteen-foot vein can be removed. Attention will then be directed toward providing additional means of removing the flood in the Red Ash vein and from the bottom of the shaft.

The Pennsylvania Railroad 1899 Summer Excursion Route Book.

On June 1 the passenger department of the Pennsylvania Railroad company will publish the 1899 edition of its Summer Excursion Route Book. This work is designed to provide the public with short descriptive notes of the principal summer resorts of Eastern America, with the routes for reaching them, and the rates of fare. It contains all the principal seashore and mountain resorts of the east, and over fifteen hundred different routes or combinations of routes for reaching them. The book has been compiled with the utmost care, and altogether is the most complete and comprehensive handbook of summer travel ever offered to the public.

It is bound in a handsome and striking cover, in colors, and contains several maps, presenting the exact routes over which tickets are sold. It is also profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts of scenery at the various resorts and along the lines of the Pennsylvania railroad.

On and after June 1 it may be procured at any Pennsylvania railroad ticket office at the nominal price of ten cents, or upon application to the general office, Broad street station, by mail for twenty cents.
