EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

MEMORIAL DAY EVENTS AND INCIDENTS DESCRIBED.

Singing Festival in the Welsh Congregational Church-Intent Is to Create Interest in Church Hymns. Annual Supper at Washburn Street Presbyterian Church-Class Social and Phonograph Entertainment. Funerals of Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Webber and Harold Jones.

Memorial day was generally observed throughout West Scranton yesterday and the events of the day were carried out without the slighest mishap, The majority of the business places were closed all day and evening and many residences were profusely decorated with the national colors. The exercises at the Washburn street and the Cathedral cemeteries in the morning were attended by unusually large crowds.

Hundreds of people also visited the cometeries during the afternoon and admired the beautiful decorations arranged by the members of the Grand Army and other persons.

The singing festival at the First Weish Congregational church was the principal event of the day. Two sessions were held, afternoon and evening, and at both the church was crowded with visitors from North Scranton. Taylor and West Scranton. The cisteddfod which was announced to be held at the Tabernacle Congregational church, was postponed on account of the congregational gathering.

The supper of the Washburn Street Presbyterian church was also an important event and was patronized by several hundred people. Other lesser events were attended by large as-

THE SINGING FESTIVAL.

The first session convened at 3 o'clock and the exercises were principally in the Welsh language. The idea of the affair was to promote congregational singing in the Welsh churches and to revive interest in the tunes, anthems and chants of the mother church. The singing was under the direction of Evans, of North Scranton; William John Davis, of West Scranton. and Henry Hitchings, of Taylor. The musicians were Miss Norma Williams, pianist, Miss Mary J. Price, organist; Rees R. Davies and William T. Howells, violinists; Thomas J. Evans, cornet, and Thomas R. Williams, clar-

DUNMORE.

It was rumored here last evening that the Scranton Gas and Water company would lay water mains throughthe town during the summe months. Some time ago President Scranton was interviewed by several of our citizens on the question. He informed them that all that was needed was to present a petition to that end signed by fifty citizens and he would do the rest. The signatures of fifty, and three times as many more, have been secured and soon the property owners will be well cared for so far as water is concerned. The action of the company is favorably commented upon. Mrs. John Okell, of Philadelphia, is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webber, of Apple and Harper

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES HELD IN THE EVENING.

Scranton Athletic Club House Dedicated-Attorney Nathan Vidaver Speaker of the Occasion-Mayor Moir Delivered an Address-St. Mary's Church Choir Honored. Members of Division No. 22, A. O. H., Entertain-Funeral of James Howard-Notes of Interest.

During the day but little occurred to indicate any special observance of Memorial Day on this side, but in the evening there was a plentitude of events which proved that the spirit was not wanting.

The prominent affair was the dedication of the new hall and club rooms of the Scranton Athletic club at 423-25 Alder street. The hall was beautifully decorated with bunting and the national colors

At 9 o'clock the Keystone orchestra played a march, at the conclusion of which Mayor Moir, Attorney Nathan Vidaver, Deputy Clerk of the Courts Emil Bonn and President Charles Murch, of the club, were escorted to the stage, amidst great applause, Mr. Bonn was honored with the chairmanship of the evening. In introductory speech he reviewed the career of the club, which was organized fifteen years ago with only a few members. Today the membership of the organization is one hundred and sixty, including the leading and energetic men of this side and the central Attorney Vidaver was the speaker of the evening, and Chairman Bonn, in introducing him, spoke in a complimentary manner of him. The address of Mr. Vidaver was as usual a masterly and brilliant effort. His deep sense of humor, which serves him well, was displayed to advantage in returning the chairman's compliments.

In his address he referred to the acterized by determination, integrity and energy,

Also to Mr. Vidaver was entrusted the duty of re-naming the hall. It will The Broom of the War God-Brailsnow be known as the Scranton Athletic club hall, and "Natter's hall," its old name, passes into history.

Mr. Vidaver concluded his remarks by paying a high tribute to athletics, which, he said, were the basis of making men and women physicially strong He was frequently interrupted by pro-happy vein. His honor, who was an coronation. The grounds were illumin- sthlete when young, spoke at length on the subject. Incidentally he said that made the scene as bright as day, the best policemen were athletes for The Scranton Saenegrrunde, Junger Maennerchor, Gutave Reppert and
