ENGINEER DROPPED DEAD

William A. Long Stricken with Heart Failure While Getting Upon His Train—Died Almost Instantly.

William A. Long, an engineer in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, was stricken with death about 6.35 o'clock last night as he was climbing over a car to get aboard his engine in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western yard.

The fireman, William Lunney, who was running the engine, saw Mr. Long fall back into the car and stopping, he called for aid. He could not raise the stricken man and Doctor Reedy was called. He pronounced the man dead, and stated that death was due to heart trouble.

Superintendent Bogart had the remains removed to the baggage room in the station and notified Justice Long, a brother of the deceased. He in turn notified the family. The remains were then removed to the residence on Prescott avenue by Funeral Director Price, to be prepared for burial.

Engineer Long had worked for the company over twenty years, and for twelve years had been engineer of No. 72. He was apparently in first-rate spirits when he left home and his fellow-employees noted nothing wrong when he reported and took his engine out.

A wife, a daughter and son survive him. The latter is employed in the Accountant's office of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen, Athlete's commandery, No. 21, Knights of Malta, Improved Order of Red Men and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Mutual Aid. He was also a member of the Simpson Methodist church and was always active in doing good.

About three years ago he was seriously ill for a long time, and last fall was very ill with the grip. It is thought that these ills may have superinduced the heart trouble. Deceased was 46 years of age, and was born in Pricerville, Pa. He had resided in this city for over sixteen years. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Long, of North Main avenue, and several sisters and brothers also survive him.

DANGEROUS FENCE.

Editor of The Tribune: Sir: The Boulevard company have placed the fence that separates the road from the speedway in position. The end of this fence makes a very dangerous obstruction at night, especially for bicyclists, as it is impossible to see it until you are right up to it. As there is a grade just above the speedway, the road widens out considerably here, one very naturally takes more liberty at this point and if he rides in the middle of the road he may meet with a severe accident.

There should be a light placed on the end of this fence at night, also one where the fence opens up in the middle of the speedway. U. N. Perry.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. W. H. RICHMOND ENTERTAIN ELABORATELY.

Their Palatial Suburban Home at Richmond Hill the Scene of Two Brilliant Receptions, Afternoon and Evening—Miss Who Assisted in Receiving Wore the Gown Her Grandmother Was Married in. Hundreds of Guests Attend and Hundreds of Other Friends Send Congratulations.

An event which was in many respects one of great importance and of more than local interest was the celebration yesterday of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richmond at their elegant suburban residence, Richmond Hill. For them it was literally a day of roses, a rare June day, indeed. Everything that the devotion of their children and grandchildren, and the affectionate remembrance of countless friends could do to make the occasion most joyful was not neglected. Many exquisite gifts in gold and silver and jewels were received and the rooms literally bloomed with roses set as fond tokens to the bride and groom.

The bride seemed fair and young, indeed, to have numbered the years accredited to her, and her face almost unlined and her eyes as bright as a girl's, made a pleasant memory in the hearts of the throngs of friends.

The house, which is one of the show places of this region, was lavishly decorated in every respect. Many bouquets of fifty golden roses and the sweet tribute to the occasion. Last night, brilliantly lighted and filled with guests, it made a magnificent picture from the lofty site on the commanding hill.

PICTURESQUE GROUPINGS.

The stately rooms and magnificent halls were the setting for many picturesque groupings as the host and hostess received congratulations. At their side stood their granddaughter, Miss Lois Tracey, robed in her grandmother's wedding dress, a blue silk, richly brocaded, suiting well the slight, young figure.

In this gown, fifty years ago, Lois Morse was married to William H. Richmond in Red Falls, New York. In this half century, Mr. Richmond has not only made a large fortune, but has carved for himself an enduring place as a public-spirited citizen and a man of noble principle. Their children, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Tracey, and Emeline and Clara Richmond, and several grandchildren were present to assist in the celebration of the day.

Refreshments were served both in the spacious dining room and in the large banquet hall on the third floor. Mrs. Huntington catered. Baue's orchestra, stationed in an alcove in the second hall, furnished music.

In the afternoon the ladies about the rooms were Mrs. James Athvren, Mrs. G. L. Dickson, Mrs. A. H. Lee, Mrs. Harvey, of Wilkes-Barre; Mrs. George Catlin, Miss Fuller, of Elmhurst; Mrs. A. L. Morse, Carbonade; Mrs. E. P. Kingsbury, Mrs. B. F. LaRue, Miss M. E. Morse. The young ladies who served frappa, Miss Grace Kingsbury, Miss Caro Dickson, Miss Emma Fuller, Miss Emily Mayer, Miss Louise Matthews, Miss Eloise Gilmore.

COL. COURSEN RESIGNS.

All Other Thirteenth Regiment Officers Will Follow His Example—Reorganization Is Fairly Well Assured.

Colonel Henry A. Coursen, commander of the Thirteenth regiment, yesterday resigned his commission, and before the week is over all the other officers of the Thirteenth will have followed his example. This step has been decided upon as a means of encouraging the reorganization of the command. It will save the companies with full power to choose whatever line officers they wish, and the surrender of the commissions of the field and staff will make more convenient the amalgamation with the Eleventh, which must needs come when the new National Guard is formed.

Colonel Coursen had an additional motive in tendering his resignation. He would, to say the least, stand in line for the appointment to the colonelcy of the new regiment. This would leave Colonel Watres outside the guard altogether. In six months Colonel Coursen's commission would expire and there would be the possibility of the officers centering on some one of their own number as Colonel Coursen's successor in preference to going outside the guard for a colonel.

Colonel Coursen is very anxious to have Colonel Watres in command of the local regiment. It is conceded everywhere that he is the best available man that can be picked upon for the position. Colonel Watres is an enthusiastic guardian and favorably disposed towards taking charge of the new regiment and getting it into shape, even though the task will undoubtedly be in view of all this, Colonel Coursen has decided to forego the enjoyment of the remaining six months of his term and thereby leave Colonel Watres in possession of the ranking commission in this part of the state. Colonel Coursen will not, however, renounce the guard entirely. He will do all in his power to bring about the reorganization of the Thirteenth regiment companies, so that the new regiment will be a purely local affair, as was the Thirteenth. After having accomplished his part in this, he will give up his militia work, satisfied, as he well may be, with his quarter of a century of active services.

Colonel Coursen is satisfied that at least four of the Thirteenth regiment companies will be reorganized. Company G has already gotten into line and was sworn in by Colonel Coursen and Friday night. Companies C and D are about ready to be reentered in and Company F, of the West Side, holds a meeting tomorrow night for the purpose of effecting reorganization.

Any guardsmen who enlisted in the volunteer and who will re-enlist in the National Guard will be given a gratuity of $100. Colonel Coursen has been informed, the company commanders having been given authority to date back his enlistment so that it will come within the "sixty days" limit.

AN INTERESTING EXHIBIT.

One of the most unique displays in many a day may be witnessed this week at the Leader in the shape of an immense manufacturing booth, containing a large number of the employees of the Scranton factory of D. E. Siskler & Company, of New York city, one of the largest and most reputable manufacturers of muslin underwear in the United States today. Every detail of the manufacturing will be shown on Sunday, a look-stitch sewing machine, operated by electric power, judging from the crowds that were there all day Monday, it certainly hit the public fancy.

A Truly American Railroad.

The management of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway is characterized by truly American traits. Energy, liberality and true American push have placed it at the head of America's greatest railroad. Nothing is left undone to give its patrons perfect service and its traffic is really wonderful. Such a record in its position is proof of its high standard and of its right for public patronage. If you have occasion to make a trip to Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and other western cities, it will be to your interest to travel via the Lake Shore.

MENTION OF SOME MEN OF THE HOUR

TWO HARD LEGAL BATTLES WON BY MAJOR WARREN.

One Was the Case of Denier Against the Scranton Railway Company, and the Other the Scranton Gas and Water Company Against the Northern Coal and Iron Company. Dr. B. O. Ericsson Will Leave Today for Northwood, South Dakota.

Two of the big legal victories of last week were credited to Major Everett Warren. He represented the Scranton Railway company in the case of Michael Denier and succeeded in securing a verdict for the company after a hard fought legal battle. The case contained some unusual features that will make it a much quoted one in the future. The end of it is not yet, of course. Mr. Denier's attorneys will, in all probability, apply for a new trial and it is very probable the case will eventually be passed upon by the supreme court before the legal end of the case will have arrived.

The other victory was in the case of the Scranton Gas and Water company against the Northern Coal and Iron company. Major Warren represented the plaintiff company and, though worsted in the local court, he did not lose faith in the merits of his case and promptly took an appeal to the supreme court, where he argued the case in February, 1898.

Major Warren was assisted in the argument before the supreme court by Attorney Daniel F. Watson, who was one of the attorneys for Senator Quay in the now famous prosecution against that noted personage. Mr. Watson was offered a place on the superior bench by Governor Stone after the death of Justice Williams, but refused the offer in honor. He is one of the most prominent lawyers of the western part of the state and makes his home in Pittsburg.

Major Warren ranks as one of the best lawyers in this part of the state. Few big civil cases are tried in this county that he is not engaged in and he is frequently called to try important cases in neighboring counties. One of the greatest tributes to Major Warren's ability is that which is perhaps unconsciously paid him by members of the bar. When he is engaged in the trial of a case he is engaged in an attentive audience of lawyers to watch the progress of the case. Law suits in which the major is engaged are seldom dull and are always thoroughly tried. No point is neglected. He is a hard, vigorous fighter and knows every detail of his case thoroughly when he goes into court. It is almost impossible to take him by surprise, no matter what kind of a turn the case takes. He seems always prepared for any emergency.

Among members of the bar it is generally conceded that Mr. Warren will eventually become a judge of the Lackawanna county courts if his ambition runs in that direction. It would undoubtedly be a sacrifice in a monetary way for him to go on the bench. His income as an attorney is generally believed to be several times as large as the salary of the state judge, the common pleas judges, but lawyers have been known before this to leave emoluments out of the consideration of the case when there was a demand for them to go on the bench.

The friends of Dr. B. O. Ericsson in Moscow and this city will regret to learn of his departure this evening for the west. He leaves on the 5.50 train for Northwood, North Dakota, where he intends to continue in the practice of his profession, in which he achieved such marked success in this city and for the last year or more in Moscow. Dr. Ericsson is well known in this city, having been for some years associated with Dr. Leet.

Immediately after his graduation from Superior Medical college, Philadelphia, he was offered the position of house surgeon at the Moser Taylor hospital, in which position he soon distinguished himself. About a year and a half ago he resigned this position against the protests of nearly every physician and surgeon on the staff to commence practice for himself at Moscow. He is an active student and up-to-date. He filled a much needed want at Moscow, where his services were greatly appreciated, and leaves many friends in this city and at Moscow who wish him unbounded success in his new field which his talent and ability deserve.

Dr. Ericsson is a native of Finland and achieved some distinction there before he came to this country. Northwood, which will be the scene of his future labors, has been seeking to secure him for some time. It is a Scandinavian community and speaks the language of these people perfectly.
