The New York twirlers give more bases The New York twillers give more bases on balls than any pitching corps in the league. This is especially true of Meekin, Soymour and Doheny. The Senators' new third baseman, Charley Atherton, is a striking figure on the diamond, standing six feet. Ho ranks with Lable as an infoldate in the ranks with Lajole as an infielder in the matter of heroic physical proportion. Amos Rusle has notified the management of the New York club that he is willing to sign a New York contract whenever the figures are made equal to those in his contract of last season. So far Mr. Freedman has shown no sign of releating.
