POSSIBILITY OF GENERAL TIE-UP

BUILDING TRADES' COUNCIL WILL PROBABLY ORDER ONE.

This Action Caused by Builders' Exchange's Firm Attitude—Set of Resolutions Adopted by Building Trades' Council—Sinkers at West Ridge Colliery Out on Strike—They Demand Higher Wages—Breaker Boys at Johnson's Colliery Have Also Caught the Strike Craze.

The Builders' Exchange held a meeting in their rooms last evening. There was a "standing room" only crowded in attendance, and though the report was given out that only routine business was transacted it can safely be stated that the members of the Exchange decided not to budge an inch. As a result of this position it is expected that the Building Trades' council at their special meeting tonight will decide upon a general tie-up, calling out the wood-workers and bricklayers. This will leave all the mills idle and it is supposed that it will have the effect of bringing the contractors to terms.

Following is a copy of a set of resolutions adopted by the Building Trades' council at a meeting held June 6:

Resolved, That any contractor or firm employing any unfair laborer on any job in the city of Scranton, during the struggle between the Building Trades' council and the Builders' exchange, shall be fined, and the said fine shall be received against said contractor or firm on the books of the council. The maximum fine to be $1000. The minimum fine to be $500, according to the decision of the Building Trades' council. Half of said fine to go to the Building Trades' council, the other half to the local union affected.

Resolved, That no man affiliated with any labor or trade union represented in the Building Trades' council, shall work for said contractor or firm, until he or they have squared themselves with the Building Trades' council under penalty of $50, to be recorded against him. Also, that no union man shall work with him or recognize him until he has squared himself with the council.

Resolved, That any local or branch union affiliated with the Building Trades' council, refusing to obey the mandates of said body at the time of the strike, shall be expelled until they obey said orders or otherwise square themselves.

Further than this the strike made no progress yesterday. All sides are still holding fast to their original positions and evidently intend to do so till the bitter end.

The breaker boys employed at the Johnson colliery, on North Washington avenue, sixty in number, went out on strike yesterday morning for higher wages. They have made a demand for an increase of ten cents a day and extra pay for overtime work. They claim that they have to work some days from 7.30 a. m. till 3.30 p. m. for half a day.

The officials at the mines are inclined to treat the matter as a joke, and say that the boys only wanted a holiday, and that they will probably be back to work this morning.

Outside Foreman McLaughlin stated to a Tribune reporter that the breaker has been closing down at 2.15 p. m. for some time past, and that some of the boys were paid sixty cents, some seventy-five cents and a few $1.25 a day. He said that the boys who got fifty cents were so small that they could not earn any more.

The boys say they will not go back until their demands are granted.

Still another strike was added yesterday to those already in progress, when twelve sinkers employed in sinking a shaft at the West Ridge colliery quit work, on the refusal of the company to grant them an increase of ten cents over the $2.15 a day which they have been receiving.

The men have been working on eight-hour shifts, four men to a shift, and they claim that the opening they were making was very damp and unhealthy.

The management agreed to give the increase asked on condition that the men work ten hours. This, the strikers claim is unfair, as throughout the coal regions the pay is $2.25 for eight hours work.

The strikers held a meeting yesterday morning and decided to stay out until the demand is granted.

For Better Facilities.

"One of the conveniences which many people residing on the North Branch have been longing for is better railroad facilities to enable them to get over to the West Branch—namely, to Williamsport and Eggleston lake. As it is now, the traveler has either to go down around by Sunbury or else go by a most inconvenient schedule on the Lehigh Valley railroad. Eggleston lake is springing into great favor and if the Lehigh Valley would adapt itself to the situation there would be a considerable business from Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Pittston and other communities in this part of the state.

"Up near Dushore there is a place called Satterfield, where the Lehigh Valley connects with the Williamsport and North Branch railroad, for Williamsport and Eggleston lake, but unfortunately there never has been any great cordiality between the two roads, though there never was any reason for it. But recently the Williamsport and North Branch passed into entirely new hands, and there is no reason why the Lehigh Valley should not co-operate with them. They are said to be from Hughesville and New York city, and if there was reason for the Lehigh's coolness toward the old owners, there is no reason for our drawing that state of affairs. The public seems to want to use the two roads to get to Eggleston lake and the managements ought to get together and see if the public want can be gratified. As it is now, the two roads have no connecting trains at Satterfield, which is a sorry state of affairs.

"The Lehigh-Barre train put on a train from Wilkes-Barre to Satterfield, leaving Wilkes-Barre about 11 o'clock in the morning and arriving at Satterfield about 2 p. m., so that passengers can connect with the Williamsport and North Branch train leaving there at 2.30, and thus get to Eggleston lake for supper. This train could be run on to Towanda, and would enable Williamsport and Eggleston people to make connections at Towanda with the fast Buffalo express, which leaves Towanda at 3.41 and arrives in Buffalo at 9.35. This would make a splendid connection from Wilkes-Barre and Scranton and all points on the Lehigh Valley to Eggleston, and would also enable the Williamsport and North Branch to make a good connection with the Lehigh Valley for all points as far west as Buffalo.

President B. Harvey Welsh, of the Williamsport and North Branch, ought to call up General Passenger Agent Lee, of the Lehigh Valley, for doubtless they could fix the thing up in a few minutes and thus bring valuable patronage to both roads and greatly accommodate the traveling public."—Wilkes-Barre Record.

Their Request Granted.

The employees at the Scranton Axle works have been granted the request made for a Saturday half holiday during the heated season. Superintendent Peter McCoy, of the works, was heartily in accord with the idea and used his every effort to grant his men's wishes in the matter.

BATTLE AT A CROSSING.

Representatives of the Erie and D. L. & W. at War at Peckville.

The Erie Railroad company and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company after a period of many years of friction in regard to the Sterrick Creek colliery crossing at Peckville, are again up in arms and battle flares have been unfurled to the breeze. It will be remembered that some ten years ago the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company tried to gain a crossing for their road over the Erie road near the Sterrick Creek colliery, the object being to secure the Sterrick Creek coal, of which the Simpson & Watkins' company were then owners. Later they sold out and a short time ago again purchased the colliery. Early yesterday morning a train load of Erie officials were on the scene and three large Erie coal cars were raised from the tracks by means of a derrick and the cars deposited along side the track where the cross-over was to be put in. The cars effectually blocked all efforts to place the cross-over. It is claimed by the Erie company that it is only a blind, that after the cross-over would be put in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western would then gain their point. Watchmen guarded the place last evening.

Mr. McNally was unable to walk and he was assisted to the office of Dr. Brady, who attended him. Later he was taken home.

Cyclist Run Down.

The young man was riding his bicycle and was close to the bus. The vehicle caught in a street car track, throwing it to one side and striking Robinson. The rear wheels passed over his right leg. WORKMAN FELL FROM NEW BANK BUILDING

DIED AT LACKAWANNA HOSPITAL FROM HIS INJURIES.

John Conway, a Laborer, Drops Thirty-Five Feet and Is Picked Up Unconscious—George Thorn Fell Sixty Feet and Sustains Slight Injuries—P. J. McNally Thrown from His Wagon and Injured—A Bicyclist Run Down by Hotel Jermyn Bus.

John Conway, 47 years old, of Prospect avenue, a laborer employed by Conrad Schroeder on the new bank building, 402 Lackawanna avenue, had an almost miraculous escape from instant death while at work yesterday afternoon.

At about 4.50 in the afternoon he was ordered by the foreman to cover some stone work on the outside of the building preparatory to quitting work for the night. The stone work to be covered was at the very highest part of the building and Conway in order to reach it was obliged to stand upon some boards supported by two barrels. The boards tipped in some manner and Conway was thrown to the ground, a distance of over thirty-five feet. He struck upon his head and when picked up by his fellow-workmen was found to be unconscious.

He had a rash about seven inches long on his forehead and extending across the right eyelid. His left elbow was severely fractured and he sustained various bruises on all parts of his body. The Lackawanna hospital was notified and the unfortunate man was removed in the ambulance to that institution, where he died at 8.30 o'clock last evening.

Fell Sixty Feet.

It is very seldom that a human being falls a distance of sixty feet and lives to tell the tale, yet that happened to George Thorn, of Little England, yesterday, and he was entirely uninjured save for a slight cut in his chin.

He was working at the washery of the Pennsylvania Coal company and was engaged about the chutes. He missed his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of sixty feet, landing on his feet. His chin came in contact with a projecting beam as he fell, causing a slight wound, which was dressed by Dr. Chamberlain. Otherwise Thorn was uninjured and he walked to his home unassisted.
