THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

Wall Street Review.

By Carrington & Cusack.

New York, June 16.—The stock market opened dull and was featureless, Sugar advancing 2 per cent, subsequently losing part. There was some selling of Grangers in early morning on bad crop outlook and the Chicago and Mr. Keene's brokers were credited with being moderate sellers of the list. The market continued dull and almost featureless throughout the day. Coal stocks being particularly strong features, being bought on inside reports of a better understanding in the trade, and also on the fact that Mr. Morgan is again at his effice, but what this has to do with the values of Delaware and Hudson or Ontario and Western we fall to nee.

There was no news at any moment to affect prices and trading was almost entirely excess at the control of the con

There was no news at any moment to affect prices and trading was almost entirely confined to the room who are considerably mixed. Flower brokers were credited with being moderate purchasers of the specialties and Mr. Housman of the coalers. We see no reason to change our opinion that the market is a trading one to be purchased when weak and sold when strong, taking moderate profits for time being. The street is filled with bull points on Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the Flower stocks generally, but the market movemnt up to the present does not incleate that they are being backed very heavily. The close was irregular and dull.
