Music. Beethoven Symphony orchestra SURVEYING FOR A TUNNEL.

Subterranean Railway from Way-

mart to Edgerton Colliery. The corps of a dozen surveyors spoken of in this column the other day as being engaged on the Moosies for the Delaware and Hudson company is doing preliminary work in connection with the proposed tunnel which has been so much talked about.

It has been the general supposition that if the mountain between here and Waymart were ever tunneled one opening would be made at some point between Carbondale and Forest City. The probabilities are, however, that the subterranean railway will run from Waymart in a southwesterly direction for about one mile and one-half to a point to be reached via the ravine which leads to the Edgerton colliery east of Mayfield. The surveyors were working in that vicinity Saturday and while this route has been little thought of outside of railroad circles, it is considered one of the most feasible.

The engineers are accumulating data which will be used by the company officials in deciding upon the location. Figures pertaining to half a dozen routes may be submitted. Heretofore all has been guess work, but present indications point strongly to a tunnel.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Presbyterian and Methodist Sunday Schools Have Exercises.

Yesterday was Children's day at the Presbyterian and Methodist Sunday schools. The auditoriums of both churches were beautifully decorated, the pretty laurel which is now in full bloom on the hillsides, being much in evidence. The exercises were made up of songs, recitations, declamations, responsive readings and object lessons. At the Presbyterian church last night the Sunday school anniversary was held and encouraging reports were re-eloquent and instructive address. There was also some very fine special music.

But it is for the governments to decide in the interest of their respective countries what action to take in this direction. We are sure that we are going to examine these questions in an earnest spirit of sincere conciliation and so go in the ways which lead to the consummation of peace. Thus we will do a useful work, for which future generations will be grateful to the sovereigns and the chiefs of the states represented in this hall."
