Friends of the library have recently donated cash to be used for the purchase of new books to the sum of nearly $200 and this with the income from money invested by the association will go to make up the $600 to be expended in the near future. The library is one of the most popular public institutions of this city.

READ WITH GREAT INTEREST.

The exclusive news regarding the tunneling of the Moosle mountain published in Monday's Tribune was read with great interest. The positive assertion that surveying is being done along tunnel lines dispels the idea prevalent that the project was mythical. There is no certainty that the underground railway will run from Waymart toward the Edgerton col-Hery, but the feasability of this route appeals to all minds familiar with the territory of that section.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The general and soliciting commitdees on Independence day celebration meet in the council rooms tonight at half past eight o'clock. Full reports will be made and the events of the demonstration will be definitely decided upon. The driver boys of Franklin colliery have applied to General Manager Sahm for admission to the fantastic parade. They will enter with thirty-five mules.

SCHOOL TAX.

The school board has fixed the levy at 13 mills, the same as last year. The millage is apportioned 7 for school purposes, 4 for building, and two for sinking fund. The board will meet at half past nine Wednesday morning, June 28, to inspect the schools.

OLYPHANT.

A lengthy session of the council was held on Monday night. It was a special meeting. The greater portion of the evening was consumed in passing numerous bills, which were the subject of much debate, in which Messrs. Gallagher and Howard figured prominently. A petition was read, from a number of taxpayers living near the Delaware and Hudson depot and Bell street, asking that council build a sewer in that section of the town to connect with the sewer of the First district. A similar petition was received from the residents along the West side of Lackawanna street from Lloyd's court to the river bridge. The matter was referred to the street committee with instructions to draw up an ordinance and to have it ready at the next meeting. A spirited debate ensued between Messrs. Howard and Gillespie on the question of hiring men for street work. Howard stated that Gillespie had showed too much favoritism in putting men to work on the roads and that as chairman of the light committee he had gone beyond his power. Howard then introduced a resolution, which was carried, that the street commissioner
