TWO NATIONAL OFFICERS.

Grand Chief Clark, of the O. R. C., and Grand Chief Morrisey, of the B. R. R. T., Are in City Attending the Conference.

Two more national officers of the railroad organizations are in the city in attendance upon the conferences of the general committees of the Lackawanna's employes. E. E. Clark, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, grand chief of the Order of Railway Conductors, came yesterday at noon from the west and is at the Jermyn. P. H. Morrisey, of Peoria, Ill., head of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, came last night from New York, and joined Mr. Clark at the Jermyn.

Both are bound for Hagerstown, Md., where there are some grievances to adjust and both aver that their presence here is accidental. Mr. Clark said to a Tribune reporter last night: "I happened to be in this region and knowing that the boys were in session here ran in on them." The local rairoadmen corroborate them in this, stating positively that neither of the chiefs were summoned here. They will attend a joint conference of the trainmen and conductors this morning and leave over the "Bloom" at 1:55 this afternoon for Hagerstown.

It is now proposed to ask that wages be regulated according to mileage, and if that is not acceptable to the company another proposition containing a new schedule for wages by the day will be offered.

The firemen have concluded their sessions and will today meet with Superintendent Fitzgibbon to discuss the proposed new rules. At the preliminary meeting with Mr. Fitzgibbon last Saturday, the committee was very favorably impressed with the new superintendent and from the informal talk which was indulged in they became satisfied that an agreement will Messrs, Griffiths and Holgate both made brief speeches expressing their thanks. Mr. Holgate was referred to by Mr. Watkins as the "rugged was forse of the Third district." He did not care to be referred to that way, he said, as it might give out the impression that he was a man of a combata tive nature and he wouldn't for the world have his reputation as a lover of peace, harmony and everything contrary to conflict and discord thus destroyed. The convention actually did not take Mr. Holgate seriously.

The new primary rules were presented by a special committee, of which Mr. Holgate was chairman. SITUATION UNCHANGED. Resignation of Carlucci from Build-

The resignation of Frank Carlucci rom the Builders' exchange, which was thought by many to be the first move towards a final adjustment of the ex-Isting difficulty, had no effect whatever upon either side yesterday. Both sides are still pursuing the even tenor of their ways and the end is seemingly far in the distance. It was rumored yesterday that Mr. Carlucci would close up his yards for a year and get his stone cut elsewhere. At strikers' headquarters it was stated that he would be unable to do this, pointing that splendid representative of as he cannot procure stone cutters to American citizenship to the office of Unias he cannot procure stone cutters to in this city. They further state that even if he did get the stone cut the masons in New York and elsewhere would refuse to lay the stone

Secretary Laudig, of the exchange, said yesterday that there were four bricklayers at work on the bolt and nut works and that he thought there would be more working there today. He also reported that E. S. Williams has six bricklayers at work on his Delaware. Lackawanna and Western tob. and that several other contractors have secured sufficient men to go on with their work.

The strikers say these men are not recent bolters from their ranks, but rather men who deserted them before the tie-up was declared or those who have never been affiliated with any organized labor. They further state that they positively refuse to treat with individuals and will confer only with penters' hall. It is thought that business of much importance will be transacted.

LIVE NEWS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD

RAILROAD ALONG THE BED OF THE D. & H. CANAL.

In Railroad Circles That Is Looked Upon as the Certain Outcome of the Sale of the Canal-bale of the New York and Albany Road to the New York Central Is of No Little Interest Here-Resignation of Benjamin Hughes as Inside Mine Superintendent Accepted.

The reported sale of the Delaware and Hudson canal, from Rondout to Honesdale, to S. B. Coykendall, of Kingston, N. Y., was a much discussed topic among the railroad officials of the city yesterday.

Mr. Coykendall, the purchaser, is a heavy stockholder of the Delaware and Hudson company, and is a brother-inlaw to H. G. Young, of Albany, second vice-president of the road. Mr. Coykendall also controls the Ulster and Delaware railroad, which terminates at Kingston, N. Y. Well informed people are strong in the belief that the purchase of the canal means the building of a railroad on the bed of the canal. building of a railroad connecting with the Ulster and Delaware road would mean for the Delaware and Hudson road a short route to tidewater with easy grades.

C. S. Weston, real estate agent for the Delaware and Hudson company, could not be seen by a Tribune man yesterday, he being out of the city. Other prominent officials of the company in this city, when spoken to regarding the sale of the canal, said they thought a new railroad into this valley will be one of the results of the deal.

The sale of the New York and Albany rallroad to the New York Central, a few days ago, is of interest to the Delaware and Hudson. The Morgan-Vanderbilt syndicate, which is behind the sale, now practically control the coal of all roads sending their output to tidewater, with the exception of the Delaware and Hudson and one other.

A leading Delaware and Hudson man in conversation with a Tribune reporter yesterday made the significant statement that his company will now have to make certain concessions to "get in out of the wet."

Mr. Hughes Has Resigned.

E. E. Loomis, who is in charge of the department of mining of the Delaware. Lackawanna and Western company, yesterday announced that the resignation of Benjamin Hughes as inside superintendent of the mines of that company had been tendered and accepted. The resignation goes into effect July 1. Mr. Loomis said yesterday that the office will be abolished when Mr. Hughes retires. Under Mr. Loomis' direction there has been a rearrangement of the work in the department of mining which makes the position of superintendent of mines no long-

Mr. Hughes' resignation was tendered to Mr. Loomis on June 21, with the request that knowledge of his action be kept from the public until he (Mr. Hughes) made the announcement which, he said, would be before the time for his resignation to go into effeet.

The fact that Mr. Hughes contemplated retiring was first announced in The Tribune some weeks ago and the probability of his early resignation was several times referred to subsequently. Three days after Mr. Loomis received the letter of resignation he mailed Mr. Hughes a note informing him that the resignation was accepted. Mr. Hughes is now 75 years of age and has been with the company since 1853. He has been general inside superintendent since 1865. After the retirement of Mr. Hughes the assistant superintendents, who are in direct charge of certain designated mines of the company, will report direct to Mr. Loomis.

Extension Completed. The extension of the Green Ridge Suburban line of the Scranton Railway company to the Country club has been completed and the first car will be run

R. C. Hall, of Albany, general mas er mechanic of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, was in the city yesterday inspecting passenger engines being built for his road by the Dickson Locomotive works.
